Selected Papers on Language and the Brain N. Geschwind, 1974-10-31 Non Aboriginal material Selected Papers on Language and the Brain Norman Geschwind, 1976 Selected papers on language and the brain Norman Geschwind, 1974 Selected Papers from SinFonIJA 3 Maja Marković, 2013-02-21 The present volume is a selection of papers presented at the SinFonIja 3 conference held at the University of Novi Sad in October 2010 A wide range of linguistics related topics were covered at this event and the selection before you represents the variety and quality of research the editors wish to promote It aims to uphold sound linguistic theorizing as the basis of natural language analysis and cutting edge applied linguistics concerns Among the novel linguistic topics in the fields of syntax phonology semantics and natural language processing the book includes re analyses of negative imperatives constructions with multiple occurrences of the semantically interdependent indefinite expressions future constructions verbal categories demonstrative reinforcers word order and clitic doubling control constituents non final information focus clitic placement named entity recognition prosody prediction in speech synthesis and covers data from various languages including English Polish Turkic Bulgarian Slovenian Serbian and others In addition the research presented here shows why the assumptions regarding the interfaces of these domains which we often take for granted require solid empirical grounding Language, Brain, and Verbal Behavior Joan A. Argenter, 1999 Aphasia and Related Neurogenic Communication Disorders Papathanasiou, Patrick Coppens, 2016-02-11 Aphasia and Related Neurogenic Communication Disorders Second Edition reviews the definition terminology classification symptoms and neurology of aphasia including the theories of plasticity and recovery Best practices of aphasia assessment and intervention are presented including neuropsychological models and formal and informal testing procedures to maximize correct clinical rehabilitative decisions Theoretical bases for rehabilitation guidelines for organization and delivery of evidence based therapy as well as augmentative and alternative communication therapy and computer based treatments are also presented Neuropsychology of Language, Reading and Spelling Ursula Kirk, 2012-12-02 Neuropsychology of Language Reading and Spelling explores the many neural systems and subsystems that contribute to the production and comprehension of oral and written language This book is organized into five parts encompassing 12 chapters that emerged from the 1980 International Conference on the Neuropsychology of Language Reading and Spelling sponsored by the Program in Neurosciences and Education at Teachers College Columbia University This conference highlights the neurological and behavioral interrelatedness of language reading and spelling After briefly dealing with the cognitive and language development as well as learning to read and to spell as instances of acquiring skill this book goes on discussing the activity of the learner in the development skill the influence of interacting forces in the developing nervous systems and the role of peripheral mechanisms in the development of speech and language A chapter examines the central integrative mechanisms specifically the electrophysiological research with infants on the dependence of language perception on multidimensional complex processes and not solely as a left or right hemisphere task. This chapter also provides evidence of discrete localization of language processes within the dominant hemisphere at both cortical and subcortical levels. The final four chapters are devoted to an analysis of developmental disorders from the varied perspectives of neurology, linguistics, neuropsychology, and education. This book will be of value to neuropsychologists and developmental biologists.

Physical Eloquence and the Biology of Writing Robert Ochsner, 1990-01-01. As a statement about literacy, this book recommends an approach to teaching writing that stresses the neurological foundations of written English, mastered almost like a foreign language. Physical eloquence refers to neurological processes of hand, eye, and ear that every writer must control in order to generate and simultaneously to interpret a written text. Biology of writing refers to innate or otherwise untaught abilities that all people have for acquiring prose and which are not enhanced by formal learning. Ochsner promotes a realistic writing curriculum that stresses subconscious processes in the biology of the writing process rather than planned, rehearsed, and formally practiced activities for learning to write. He concludes that successful literacy instruction depends on a teacher's willingness to take into account the supremacy of popular culture and the ascendancy of its spoken idiom.

The Oxford Handbook of Cognitive Archaeology Thomas Wynn, Karenleigh Overmann, Frederick Coolidge, 2024-03-27. The Oxford Handbook of Cognitive Archaeology is a landmark publication showcasing the theories, methods, and accomplishments of archaeologists who investigate the human mind, including its evolutionary development, its ideation, thoughts, and beliefs, and its very nature through material forms. The volume encompasses the wide spectrum of the discipline, showcasing contributions from more than 50 established and emerging scholars from Europe, Africa, Asia, Australia, and the Americas. Prominent among these are contributions that discuss the epistemological frameworks of both the evolutionary and ideational approaches and the leading theories that ground interpretations. Significantly, the majority of chapters deliver substantive contributions that analyze specific examples of material culture from the oldest known stone tools to ceramic and rock art traditions of the recent millennium. These examples include the gamut of methods and techniques, including typology, replication studies, chance operations, neuroarchaeology, ethnographic comparison, and the direct historical approach.

Autopoiesis and Cognition H.R. Maturana, F.J. Varela, 2012-12-06 This is a bold brilliant provocative and puzzling work It demands a radical shift in standpoint an almost paradoxical posture in which living systems are described in terms of what lies outside the domain of descriptions Professor Humberto Maturana with his colleague Francisco Varela have undertaken the construction of a systematic theoretical biology which attempts to define living systems not as they are objects of observation and description nor even as interacting systems but as self contained unities whose only reference is to themselves Thus the standpoint of description of such unities from the outside i e by an observer already seems to violate the fundamental requirement which Maturana and Varela posit for the characterization of such system namely that they are autonomous self referring and self constructing closed systems in short autopoietic systems in their terms Yet on the basis of such a conceptual method and such a theory of living systems Maturana goes on to define cognition as a biological phenomenon as in effect the very nature of all living systems And on this basis to generate the very domains of interaction among such systems which constitute language description and thinking Neurolinguistics and Linguistic Aphasiology

The Mind's New Science Howard E Gardner,2008-08-05 The first full scale history of cognitive science this work addresses a central issue What is the nature of knowledge The Pursuit of Inquiry Jay Schulkin,1992-11-03 In an age of over specialization The Pursuit of Inquiry is a book that bridges the disciplines of speculative philosophy and ongoing empirical research in psychology biology and neuroscience Cognition and Motor Processes W. Prinz,A. F. Sanders,2012-12-06 The issue of the relationship between cognition and motor processes can be and has been raised at different levels of analysis At the neurophysiological level it refers to the interactions between afferent and efferent information At the neurological and neuropsychological level it relates to the mutual dependencies between the sensory and the motor part of the brain or more precisely between sensory and motor functions of various parts of the brain In psychology the issue under debate concerns at a molecular level the relationship between perception and movement or at a more molar level the relations between cognition and action For the title of this book we deliberately decided to combine two terms that are taken from two of these levels in order to emphasize both the multilevel structure of the issues involved and the multidisciplinary nature of the following contributions Although the term cognition has been tremendously misused in recent years at least in psychology it is still the only term available to serve as a convenient collective name for all sorts of cognitive processes and functions Aphasia Argye Elizabeth Hillis,Julius Fridriksson,2022-01-23 Aphasia Volume 185 covers important advances in our understanding of how language is processed in the brain and how lesions or degeneration in the left hemisphere affect language processing This new release reviews research regarding how language recovers from brain injury along with new interventions developed to enhance recovery including language rehabilitation noninvasive brain stimulation and medications Sections cover neuroanatomy and neurophysiology of language networks focus on mechanisms of recovery and decline of language and include chapters on intervention including recently developed behavioral therapies brain stimulation medications and a review of studies of treatment for both post stroke aphasia and primary progressive aphasia Summarizes advances made in understanding language processing Discusses how lesions and brain degeneration affect language production and comprehension Identifies language networks based on functional imaging and lesion mapping Provides interventions for recovery including brain stimulation behavioral interventions and medication Explores post stroke aphasia and primary progressive aphasia
