and Other Late Unpublished Writings Eric Voegelin, 1990 This volume contains the most significant pieces of unpublished writing completed by Eric Voegelin during an important time of his career Spanning the period from the early 1960s to the late 1970s these selections supplement the body of work Voegelin published after the appearance of the first three volumes of Order and History in 1956 and 1957 The five texts included here are What Is History Anxiety and Reason The Eclipse of Reality The Moving Soul and The Beginning and the Beyond In their introduction to the volume Thomas A Hollweck and Paul Caringella place these writings in their proper context and discuss the ways in which they reveal clues to the evolution of Voegelin's thought In What Is History Voegelin considers the development of a transcendent structure of history while simultaneously rejecting the notion that history can have a universal meaning Anxiety and Reason focuses on Voegelin's critically important theory of historiogenesis which links events in pragmatic history with legendary and mythical events leading back to the beginning of the cosmic order In The Eclipse of Reality Voegelin presents a critique of modernity by analyzing the work of Sartre Schiller Comte and others The Moving Soul a thought experiment inspired by a remark Henry Margenau makes in The Nature of Physical Reality attempts to reformulate the connections between physics and myth The most important of these essays is Me Beginning and the Beyond Here Voegelin meditates on the universality of experience formed by the tension of existence under God Publication of these previously unpublished writings will enable scholars to trace the genesis of many of the concerns that occupied Voegelin during a period in which the conception of his main work was undergoing frequent and perhaps fundamental changes Toxic Shame in the Church Brenda Hopkins, 2025-06-30

Grounded in an autoethnographic approach this book draws from the author's personal experiences as a gay woman and former priest who faced institutional shaming Drawing on practical theologies of shame and the work of Christian anthropology it challenges traditional theological perspectives on sin and human nature proposing a person centred model that emphasizes unconditional love and positive self regard By exposing and addressing the Church's role in constructing shame the book proposes a pathway towards healing and self acceptance for those marginalized by faith based shaming

Images, Idolatry, and Iconoclasm in Late Medieval England Jeremy Dimmick,James Simpson,Nicolette Zeeman,2002-02-14 This book capitalizes on brilliant recent work on sixteenth century iconoclasm to extend the study of images both their making and their breaking into an earlier period and wider discursive territories Pressures towards iconoclasm are powerfully registered in fourteenth and fifteenth century writings both heterodox and orthodox just as the use of images is central to the practice of both politics and religion The governance of images turns out indeed to be central to governance itself It is also of critical concern in any moment of historical change when new cultural forms must incorporate or destroy the images of the old order The iconoclast redescibes images as pure matter objects of idolatry worthy only of the hammer Issues of historical memory no less than of social ethics are then inherent to the making love and destruction of images These issues are the consistent concern of the essays of this volume essays commissioned from a range of outstanding late medievalists in a variety of disciplines literature art history Biblical studies and intellectual history
