Cavitt,2006-06-23 A child sighted or blind is born into this world with all the building blocks for what they can become This physical material is impacted by the childs environment over a life time while the self evolves The self is the same in blind children as it is in the sighted only the developmental process is different Both children have the same starting materials mind body and spirit With these parts the child develops a process of thinking feeling and behaving toward other people objects and situations and they recognize that others also think feel and behave in their environment It is with their thoughts emotions and actions that children relate to their world using physical emotional cognitive social and moralistic attributes and through this interrelationship the self evolves The self is everything that exists in a person's unique world and it exists because of their self concept and self esteem. Aspects of self concept are the elements of well being that assist our survival in our environment. They consist of all the physical things, our personality, feelings toward life, our knowledge and problem solving techniques, how we successfully interface with others, and our social and spiritual values in life. If our self concept contains the important things and issues in life and there is a high regard for them, then our self will evolve in a manner conducive to peace and harmony. If not, the opposite will occur. The blind child must build a self with a missing part. Granted, self will evolve for a blind child, but it must be augmented by all other senses of the body in order to enhance the mind and spirit. A blind child's thoughts, feelings, and behaviors serve the same purpose as they do for a sighted child, but will evolve differently. The physical, emotional, cognitive, social, and moral concepts are necessary but are obtained without the benefit of the automatic process of seeing. The self evolves, but the conduit for inputting their environment is different for a blind child. This is the story of a four year blind boy named Cavitt and how his self is evolving. His adventures can be used to assist other blind children develop their self. The book vividly illustrates the psychology of a blind child as he lives this psychology. It is the development of a self that is Cavitt.

SOCIAL AND CULTURAL PERSPECTIVES ON BLINDNESS C. Edwin Vaughan, Fredric K. Schroeder, 2018-03-01. The central idea of this book is that blindness itself results in no particular social arrangement as a cultural pattern. People are socialized to expect ideas about appropriate behavior for blind people and these vary from culture to culture. The descriptions of blindness in several different cultures are the author's firsthand observations as outsiders visiting different cultures, interviewing individuals as well as extensive reviewing of written sources. The text describes different perspectives regarding blindness and the social arrangements created for and by blind people. The viewpoints of blind people themselves receive prominent attention in the book. The text is critical in its perspective. Its purpose is to analyze patterns of domination and subordination as they take various forms in different cultures, including physical condition. Major discussions include: Why study rehabilitation and blindness from a cross cultural perspective? Cultural perspectives on blindness. Producing new images about blindness. Blindness in the United States. From isolation to full inclusion. Blindness in Africa. Blind people in the Middle Kingdom and the People's Republic of China. Spain's unique Organizacion Nacional de Ciegos Espanoles and the changing culture of blindness around the world. The book strives to contribute to the social sciences and the study of behavior that is considered deviant or different. It also seeks to stimulate interest in cross national and cross cultural studies of blindness and contributes to the development of a broader and richer understanding about blindness for those who provide education, rehabilitation, and employment services. Finally, the book strives to aid blind people who are reflective about their own situation and who are working to make it better.

Therapeutic Storytelling for Adolescents and Young Adults Johanna Slivinske, Lee Slivinske, 2014. The healing power of narrative and its intertwining with expressive arts enable this book to provide professionals with knowledge needed to assist adolescents and young adults overcome personal and social issues.

using strengths based storytelling A companion website contains printable storytelling worksheets color photographs for phototherapy and additional resources and websites Teaching Social Skills to Students with Visual Impairments Sharon Sacks, Karen E. Wolffe, 2006 This book expands upon the knowledge base and provides a compendium of intervention strategies to support and enhance the acquisition of social skills and children and youths with visual impairments Part 1 addresses social skills from a first person perspective The second part examines how theory seeks to explain social development and influences assessment and practice Part 3 ties personal perspectives and theory to actual practice Finally Part 4 offers numerous examples and models for teaching social skills to students who are blind or visually impaired including those with additional disabling conditions Introduction Education and Rehabilitation for Empowerment Ed Vaughan, James H. Omvig, 2005-11-01 In this book we are interested in patterns of education rehabilitation service socialization and ideas about blindness that in large part produce the above mentioned distinct patterns We will examine the economic interests of professional groups and the patterns of domination and subordination which are present in most rehabilitation relationships Our central tenet is that the behavior of blind people is not a product of the physical condition of blindness or the amount of residual vision a blind person has Rather the behavior of blind people in our society is governed by socialization Blindness is a social problem arising from erroneous socially constructed negative beliefs about the capacities of blind people involuntarily assimilated from the broader society by the blind People learn to live independently or they learn to be dependent The reactions of parents teachers peers the health professionals rehabilitation counselors and the general public have defined the choices available to blind people This is the case in every culture and society around the world Differences result from different cultural values levels of economic development and historical traditions

Exceptional Children Ronald L. Taylor, Les Sternberg, 2012-12-06 Exceptional Children Integrating Research and Teaching provides a comprehensive introduction to the constantly changing area of special education The book is research based and its title reflects our opinion regarding the important link between research and classroom practice There is one feature of Exceptional Children Integrating Research and Teaching that warrants attention and perhaps justification it was written specifically to address the graduate student or sophisticated undergraduate student market As such the book is written at a higher level and with a greater concept density than typical introductory special education texts We feel that this type of book is very much needed and will be received favorably by the special education community There are also several unique features of Exceptional Children Integrating Research and Teaching that we feel will be quite valuable First we have emphasized the area of teaching practices and not simply included basic facts about definitions characteristics and causes Although some introductory texts include information about teaching considerations that area is not discussed as in depth as it is in our text We feel that it is important that readers not only understand the educational needs of exceptional children but also can identify the best educational practices to meet those needs Hankering in Literature Dr. G. Vinothkumar,
