

SELF- STARVATION

Self Starvation From Individual To Famil:

Self-starvation Mara Selvini Palazzoli,1981 Self-Starvation Mara Selvini Palazzoli,1996 Female Psychology
Eleanor Schuker,Nadine A. Levinson,2020-09-23 This book provides a psychoanalytic perspective on female psychology and includes articles with divergent theoretical viewpoints It is useful for both research and clinical study and may also provide a bridge to scholars teachers and clinicians outside of psychoanalysis itself Eating Disorders in Adolescence
Hans-Christoph Steinhausen,2020-10-12 No detailed description available for Eating Disorders in Adolescence Anorexia Nervosa and Family Therapy in a Chinese Context Joyce L C Ma,2011-07-07 Over a ten year period Professor Ma carried out crossdisciplinary research in Hong Kong focused on the effectiveness of structural family therapy for Chinese patients suffering from anorexia nervosa She found that although the Chinese patients received the same diagnosis as their Western counterparts their experiences throughout the stages of the disease differed significantly due to interpersonal contexts and subjective cultural factors The present collection synthesizes this clinical experience into a culturally specific socially relevant and clinically useful family treatment model for patients Assessment of Eating Disorders James E. Mitchell,Carol B. Peterson,2007-11-01 Concise and practical yet comprehensive this unique book provides a clear framework and a range of up to date tools for assessing patients with eating disorders Leading clinicians and researchers describe the nuts and bolts of using diagnostic interviews standardized databases structured instruments self report and family based measures medical and nutritional assessment ecological momentary assessment and strategies for evaluating body image disturbance Concrete examples and sample forms are included throughout and the concluding chapter discusses how to use assessment data in individualized treatment planning Semantic Polarities and Psychopathologies in the Family Valeria Ugazio,2013-08-21 The gap between psychotherapeutic practice and clinical theory is ever widening Therapists still don t know what role interpersonal relations play in the development of the most common psychopathologies Valeria Ugazio bridges this gap by examining phobias obsessive compulsions eating disorders and depression in the context of the family using an intersubjective approach to personality Her concept of semantic polarities gives a groundbreaking perspective to the construction of meaning in the family and other interpersonal contexts At no point is theory left in the wasteland of abstraction The concreteness of the many case studies recounted and examples taken from well known novels will allow readers to immediately connect the topics discussed with their own experience Eating Disorders And Marriage D. Blake Woodside,Lorie F. Shekter-Wolfson,Jack S. Brandes,Jan B. Lackstrom,2018-10-24 This volume should enhance health care professionals understanding of the myriad complications that develop when a person with an eating disorder gets married or becomes involved in a long term intimate relationship Drawing on their vast experience in family therapy social work and treatment of eating disorders the authors carefully review the current literature on eating disorders in long term relationships and then present a practical approach to assessment and treatment Treatment of Eating Disorders

Margo Maine, Beth Hartman McGilley, Douglas Bunnell, 2010-09-08 Eating disorders EDs affect at least 11 million people in the United States each year and spread across age race ethnicity and socio economic class While professional literature on the subject has grown a great deal in the past 30 years it tends to be exclusively research based and lacking expert clinical commentary on treatment This volume focuses on just such commentary with chapters authored by both expert clinicians and researchers Core issues such as assessment and diagnosis the correlation between EDs and weight and nutrition and medical psychiatric management are discussed as are the underrepresented issues of treatment differences based on gender and culture the applications of neuroscience EDNOS comorbid psychiatric disorders and the impact of psychiatric medications This volume uniquely bridges the gap between theoretical findings and actual practice borrowing a bench to bedside approach from medical research Includes real world clinical findings that will improve the level of care readers can provide consolidated in one place Underrepresented issues such as gender culture EDNOS and comorbidity are covered in full Represents outstanding scholarship with each chapter written by an expert in the topic area Psychodynamic

Treatment of Anorexia Nervosa and Bulimia Craig Johnson, 1991-01-01 Recent research has indicated that approximately one third of the patients who present with disordered eating also have significant personality disorders or Axis II comorbidity These patients are difficult to treat and usually require longer term informed individual psychotherapy This important volume addresses the challenges of treating these patients with chapters written by established psychodynamically oriented clinicians who have been doing longer term treatment Editor Craig Johnson has fashioned a valuable contribution to the continuing search for effective treatment interventions for this group of patients This volume is aimed at clinicians and researchers working in the field of eating disorders , Complexity of the Self V. F. Guidano, 1987-05-09 In this profound work Vittorio Guidano expands upon his earlier seminal contributions on the application of cognitive and developmental principles to individuals struggling with various forms of psychopathology Here he fully develops the idea that individuals experience both positive and negative are powerfully influenced by their personal psychological organizations Focusing primarily on the eating disorders the phobias with agoraphobia as the prototype obsessive compulsive patterns and depression Guidano illustrates how early developmental experiences and ongoing psychological processes may collude to perpetuate dysfunctional patterns and personal distress The central and perhaps most exciting thesis in this new expression of Guidano's thinking is that the deep structure or core organizing processes that constrain human psychological experience may be at the heart of successful intervention as well as the classical problems of resistance relapse and refractory behaviors Guidano's contention is at once simple and powerful those psychological processes involved in the development and maintenance of personal identity or self that should be the primary foci of research and intervention in psychological disorders The meaning of Guidano's perspective for clinical practice is perhaps best expressed in the author's own words Knowing the basic elements of the personal cognitive organization that underlie the pattern of disturbed behavior and emotions the therapist can behave from the beginning in such a way as to build a relationship as effective as possible for that particular client In other words the therapist should be able to establish a relationship that respects the client's personal identity and systemic coherence and that at the same time does not confirm the basic pathogenic assumptions For example in working with agoraphobics the therapist has to respect their self images centered on the need to be in control He/she can do this by avoiding any direct attack on their controlling attitudes and by leaving them a wide margin of control in the relationship At the same time the therapist should avoid confirming their assumptions about the somatic origin of their emotional disturbances or about their inborn fragility In short the therapist who can anticipate the models of self and reality tacitly entertained by the client is surely better able to help the development of a cooperative and secure therapeutic relationship than the therapist who cannot make such anticipations This timely and provocative volume offers exciting new ideas about how to conceptualize and facilitate change in the self system With the rare combination of his Renaissance intellect and integrative practical expertise Guidano has been able to draw together many disparate themes from object relations theory ego psychology attachment theory constructivist models of human cognition and lifespan developmental psychology It is must reading for the practicing professional the helping apprentice and anyone interested in glimpsing the cutting edge at the growing interface between cognitive and clinical science

The Family in Medical Practice Michael A. Crouch, Leonard Roberts, 2012-12-06 My practice life has spanned 36 years and during that time I have been involved in untangling countless mysterious maladies or at least trying to do so All of these efforts were without the benefit of any formal training about family systems I am greatly encouraged by this book because it first draws attention to the intricate web that mankind has woven for itself The family physician has often been caught up in this web and therefore rendered impotent Efforts to understand all of this are to be applauded It has been my good fortune to know the editors Leonard Roberts and Michael Crouch and as a family physician I feel that their hearts are in the right place They have grown up medically speaking in an era when society has become more complex where life is not easy Birth and its medical participants are suspect childhood is complicated by divorce and loneliness adolescence is a time of aimless searching young adults are hard pressed to earn a living the quality of life is being threatened somewhat by the overgrowth of high technology dying with dignity is at a premium The editors are to be commended for helping us clarify the role of the family physician in all of this

Self in Relationships Astri Johnsen, Rolf Sundet, Vigdis Wie Torsteinsson, 2018-04-24 Inspired by Daniel Stern's work on self development the authors suggest that by combining systemic therapy with a psychoanalytical aspect family therapy can reach new depths They argue that this will enrich our understanding of the relationships between parents and children and between siblings There have been changes within psychoanalysis and family therapy which we believe can enrich both these theoretical fields The idea is not to integrate but rather to bring about a mutual curiosity in these two areas which may result in dialogues with each other and create reservoirs for ideas and practices which have been found to be useful
