Exploring human trafficking in the US Mexico borderlands as a regional expression of a pressing global problem Borderline Slavery sheds light on the contexts and causes of trafficking offering policy recommendations for addressing it that do justice to border communities complex circumstances This book focuses on both sexual and labor trafficking proceeding thematically from global to regional levels to provide an empirically grounded theoretically informed and policy relevant approach which examines the problem through the eyes of scholars and researchers from various fields as well as journalists public officials law enforcement personnel victims advocates and NGO representatives Discussing the multinational networks global economics and personal motives that fuel a multibillion dollar trade in human beings as cheap labor Borderline Slavery suggests future directions for effective policies and law enforcement strategies to prevent the advance of human trafficking As such it will be of interest to both policy makers and scholars across the social sciences working in the fields of migration exploitation and trafficking Mimbres Archaeology of the Upper Gila, New Mexico Stephen H.
Lekson,1990-04-01 This reappraisal of archaeology conducted at the Saige McFarland site presents for the first time a substantial body of comparative data from a Mimbres period site in the Gila drainage Lekson offers a new and controversial interpretation of the Mimbres sequence reintroducing the concept of the Mangas phase first proposed by the Gila Pueblo
