Product Liability Actions By Foreign Plaintiffs In The United States:

Product Liability Actions by Foreign Plaintiffs in the United States Warren Freedman, 1988-02-09 Product Liability Actions by Foreign Plaintiffs in the United States Foreign Plaintiffs in Products Liability Actions Warren Freedman, 1988-03-30 This book is directed at practical applications and case law support for invoking forum non conveniens It begins with a basic discussion of the evolution of the doctrine The balance of the book is devoted to applying appropriate case law to a variety of situations Likely opposing arguments public policy notions and the relationship of forum non conveniens to jurisdiction and venue are also considered Virginia Journal of International Law American multinational corporations face a unique problem with regard to products liability litigation instituted by foreign plaintiffs In many cases plaintiffs outside the U S file suits in U S courts despite the fact that the incident on which the suit is based took place in other countries Such action is often taken because of features peculiar to the U S legal system including the doctrine of strict liability the availability of contingency fees for attorneys and the prevalence of large awards to individuals in products liability cases This informative study by a legal professional and products liability specialist focuses on a doctrine that can lessen liability exposure for multinational corporations By successfully petitioning the courts under the doctrine of forum non conveniens corporations may have court proceedings transferred to another jurisdiction often outside the U S which has a direct connection with the incident and where potential liability exposure is greatly reduced Following an introductory discussion of the evolution of this doctrine Freedman documents its use with appropriate case law in a wide variety of situations Product Liability Act United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation. Subcommittee for Consumers, 1985 Liability for Products in a Global Economy Dennis Campbell, Susan Woodley, 2005-01-01 This year's volume of the Comparative Law Yearbook of International Business deals with the subject of product liability law This is a growing area in which manufacturers and suppliers are finding themselves more and more responsible for the quality of their products and for the consequences flowing from any defect therein This book discusses a wide variety of topics which come under the umbrella of product liability ranging from liability for injuries caused by the use of asbestos and other toxic substances to the responsibility of air carriers in hijack situations There is a growing amount of litigation throughout the world tackling the problems arising from the safety of products These laws take into account the manufacturing process the transportation storage and delivery of goods the intended use of products their fitness for such purpose and any warnings or instructions as to use given to consumers and end users This publication also covers the question of jurisdiction in product related litigation particularly in crossborder transactions In many instances a plaintiff will attempt to bring his action in the United States due to the large amount of damages especially punitive damages awarded there by juries in civil actions Defendants on the other hand seek to counter this by raising issues such as forum non conveniens There also is the question of state versus federal jurisdiction within the United States as well as a discussion focusing on the possible growth of federalism within the European Union and its impact upon product liability nationally and at a European level A comparison of the divergent cultural attitudes towards property in China and the United States including the different emphases placed upon the ownership and role of property in society demonstrates the different views of product liability Another aspect of defective goods dealt with here is liability for the recall of a dangerous product There is a chain of responsibility stretching from the manufacturer through various levels of suppliers to the final retailer of goods which is obviously important when attempting to remove dangerous products from the market as quickly as possible before they can cause widespread injury to consumers This has been shown to be particularly relevant in cases involving automobiles and food products Overall therefore product liability law is a vital part of the general law protecting consumers both on a national and international basis which makes this book a very interesting and useful read for anyone involved in this area

Abuse of Procedural Rights: Comparative Standards of Procedural International Association of Procedural Law, 1999-11-25 In a very meaningful way the health of a judicial system may be judged by the care with which its procedural rights are observed Now in a book that takes stock of this important element as it is currently used or abused in a number of the world's legal systems eighteen outstanding scholars approach the subject through an analysis of the following factors the theoretical and moral implications of procedural abuses the subjects who commit them the typologies of abusive practices the consequences of abusive practices Several authors report on practices in their own countries revealing distinct evidence of a significant degree of lowered procedural standards in the United States several European countries Australia Japan and Latin America General and final reports provide a comparative framework for an analytical study that will repay the study of anyone concerned with the fairness of our legal institutions

Comprehensive Trade Legislation United States. Congress. House. Committee on Ways and Means, 1987 Comparative Law Yearbook of International Business Dennis Campbell, 2006-01-01 The 2006 edition of the Comparative Law Yearbook of International Business examines issues in three major topic categories Litigation and Dispute Resolution Investment Vehicles and Secured Interests in Immovables Lawyers from Nigeria the United States and Ireland review the settlement of investment disputes the impact of claims on non United States companies and claim and dispute resolution under FIDIC Practitioners from Israel Panama Hong Kong and Belgium treat investment vehicles such as trusts foundations and joint ventures and investment visas Contributors from Brazil Venezuela Argentina and Mexico review the use of security in real property in their respective jurisdictions Finally lawyers from Brazil Canada the United States Germany South Africa Ukraine and Romania treat issues ranging from trade mark counterfeiting registered designs and telecommunications to criminality in international business transactions outsourcing and business immigration
