Production And Reproduction:

Production and Reproduction Jack Goody, 1979 Laszlo Moholy-Nagy Louis Kaplan, 1995-05-24 Marking the centenary of the birth of Laszlo Moholy Nagy 1895 1946 this book offers a new approach to the Bauhaus artist and theorist's multifaceted life and work an approach that redefines the very idea of biographical writing In Laszlo Moholy Nagy Louis Kaplan applies the Derridean deconstructivist model of the signature effect to an intellectual biography of a Constructivist artist Inhabiting the borderline between life and work the book demonstrates how the signature inscribed by Moholy operates in a double space interweaving signified object and signifying matter autobiography and auto graphy Through interpretative readings of over twenty key artistic and photographic works Kaplan graphically illustrates Moholy's signature effect in action He shows how this effect plays itself out in the complex of relations between artistic originality and plagiarism between authorial identity and anonymity as well as in the problematic status of the work of art in the age of technical reproduction In this way the book reveals how Moholy's artistic practice anticipates many of the issues of postmodernist debate and thus has particular relevance today Consequently Kaplan clarifies the relationship between avant garde Constructivism and contemporary deconstruction This new and innovative configuration of biography catalyzed by the life writing of Moholy Nagy will be of critical interest to artists and writers literary theorists and art historians Partners in Production? Patricia O'Hara, 1998-06-01 In Ireland family farming retains enormous ideological and cultural significance As a social form it is one of the last preserves of male dominance in which women's contributions and concerns are largely overlooked This book breaks new ground as the first major study of Irish farm families in which women are the focus of attention Little is known of how gender relations actually work themselves out within farm families or of farm women's understanding of their situation but even a casual observer would conclude that Irish farm women are not without influence This volume reveals how contemporary farm women experience life on the family farm often through their own voices and how they have managed to create their own spheres of influence despite their apparent unequal status and invisibility in the male world of agriculture This study not only makes farm women's subordination explicit but in discerning the sources and force of their influence within and outside the farm family it offers a challenge to existing explanations of the evolution of Irish rural social structures It also suggests that feminist theories of the family need to pay closer attention to the mother's influence on social reproduction The Political Economy of Work in the Global South Anita Hammer, Adam Fishwick, 2020-03-28 Part of the Critical Perspectives on Work and Employment series this edited collection brings together contributions from leading international scholars to initiate an important dialogue between labour process analysis and scholarship on work in the Global South This book characterises the forms of work and labour process that characterise globalising capitalism today and addresses core analytical concerns within Labour Process Theory and research on work in the South It explores how a wide range of production relations in the Global South ranging from formal to informal employment and self employment are embedded in wider social relations of gender caste religion and ethnicity and are related to wider patterns of commodification and resistance Drawing on cutting edge research the book s chapters consider a diverse range of working situations covering migrant workers in the Middle East commercial surrogacy work in India and cooperative garment workers in Argentina In offering a novel reading of the political economy of work in the Global South and shedding light on lesser considered fields of work and worker organization this volume will provide new insights for making sense of the changing world of work for students scholars labour activists and practitioners alike The Social (Re)Production of Architecture Doina Petrescu, Kim Trogal, 2017-07-14 The Social Re Production of Architecture brings the debates of the right to the city into today s context of ecological economic and social crises Building on the 1970s discussions about the production of space which French sociologist Henri Lefebvre considered a civic right the authors question who has the right to make space and explore the kinds of relations that are produced in the process In the emerging post capitalist era this book addresses urgent social and ecological imperatives for change and opens up questions around architecture s engagement with new forms of organization and practice The book asks what new kinds of social can architecture re produce and what kinds of politics values and actions are needed The book features 24 interdisciplinary essays written by leading theorists and practitioners including social thinkers economic theorists architects educators urban curators feminists artists and activists from different generations and global contexts The essays discuss the diverse global locations with work taking different and specific forms in these different contexts A cutting edge critical text which rethinks both practice and theory in the light of recent crises making it key reading for students academics and practitioners Capital: The process of capitalist production. New Critical Writings in Political Sociology Alan Scott,2024-11-01 The articles collected together in this volume are concerned with why and how people get involved in politics whether through formal mechanisms such as voting through some of the more informal means and settings of social movement networks and political protest or through engagement in public debate But just as important is the question of why people do not get involved in politics What social conditions ideas and values facilitate or discourage political activity How is it that some people are systematically disempowered in democratic societies in comparison with others What social forms offer the most promise for extending and deepening democracy This volume brings together the most seminal papers which together form a record of how political sociologists since the 1970s have framed questions about the range and limits of democratic political engagement and developed concepts and methodologies in order to research the answers to those questions Lenin and Philosophy and Other Essays Louis Althusser,2001 Louis Althusser has tackled a wide variety of subjects including philosophy economics psychology aesthetics and political science This book contains a selection of his writings Around the Tuscan Table Carole M. Counihan,2004-05-09 In this delicious book noted food scholar Carole M Counihan presents a compelling and artfully told narrative about family and food in late 20th century Florence Based on solid research Counihan examines how family and especially gender have changed in Florence since the end of World War II to the present giving us a portrait of the changing nature of modern life as exemplified through food and foodways The New Evolutionary Sociology Jonathan Turner, Richard Machalek, 2018-03-09 For decades evolutionary analysis was overlooked or altogether ignored by sociologists Fears and biases persisted nearly a century after Auguste Comte gave the discipline its name as did concerns that its effect would only reduce sociology to another discipline whether biology psychology or economics Worse apprehension that the application of evolutionary theory would encourage heightened perceptions of racism sexism ethnocentrism and reductionism pervaded Turner and Machalek argue instead for a new embrace of biology and evolutionary analysis Sociology from its very beginnings in the early 19th century has always been concerned with the study of evolution particularly the transformation of societies from simple to ever more complex forms By comprehensively reviewing the original ways that sociologists applied evolutionary theory and examining the recent renewal and expansion of these early approaches the authors confront the challenges posed by biology neuroscience and psychology to distinct evolutionary approaches within sociology They emerge with key theoretical and methodological discoveries that demonstrate the critical and compelling case for a dramatically enriched sociology that incorporates all forms of comparative evolutionary analysis to its canon and study of sociocultural phenomena Keywords for Radicals Kelly Fritsch, Clare O'Connor, A. Routledge Library Editions: Political Geography Various,2021-06-23 From votes to strikes to street violence politics is intrinsically geographical Many of the books in this set originally published between 1964 and 1990 illustrate that the social contexts provided by localities are crucial in defining distinctive political identities and subsequent political activities Politics, Geography and Social Stratification Keith Hoggart, Eleonore Kofman,2014-10-03 The major themes explored in this book originally published in 1986 are the political resonances of social stratification and change the growing distance between the working class and the providers of social services and the role of locality in social reproduction The relationship between society and space is the subject of a major debate in developed countries The key questions are about just how far spatial patterns and local conditions affect social relations and stratification and how far they shape collective action electoral responses and class Gender Inequalities, Households and the Production of Well-Being in Modern Europe Assoc Prof Tindara Addabbo, Dr Alastair Owens, Dr Cristina Borderías, Ms Marie-Pierre Arrizabalaga,2012-12-28 Feminist scholars have long pointed out the relevance of the unpaid work that goes on within European households in sustaining the well being of the continent s populations However care work and domestic labour continue to be largely unremunerated and unequally distributed by gender This unique volume of interdisciplinary essays casts new light on the roles that households play in securing the well being of individuals and families uncovering the processes of bargaining and accommodation and conflict and compromise that underpin them Contributors put gender at the centre of their analyses demonstrating the uneven experiences of men and women as both providers and receivers of welfare in European households in both the past and the present As European states grapple with changing family forms a growing population of dependent people increased participation of women in labour markets and a profound shift in the nature and organisation of work this book makes a timely contribution to our understanding of the critical role played by households in mediating processes of economic and social change It offers new challenges to scholars researchers and policy makers eager to address gender inequalities and enhance well being This book is the second of four volumes being published as part of Ashgate s Gender and Well Being series that arise from a programme of international symposia funded by the European Science Foundation under the auspices of COST European Cooperation in the field of Scientific and Technical Research
