My Tender Matador:

My Tender Matador Pedro Lemebel, 2018-11-20 As Chile descends into chaos two disparate souls begin an odd couple romance in the tradition of Kiss of the Spider Woman or The Crying Game Kirkus Reviews It is the spring of 1986 and Chilean dictator Augusto Pinochet is losing his grip on power In one of Santiago's many poor neighborhoods a man known as the Queen of the Corner embroiders linens for the wealthy A hopeless and lonely romantic he listens to boleros to drown out the gunshots Then he meets Carlos a young handsome man who befriends the aging homosexual and uses his house to store mysterious boxes and hold clandestine meetings And as the relationship between these two very different men blossoms they find themselves caught in a revolution that could doom them both By turns funny and profoundly moving Pedro Lemebel's lyrical prose offers an intimate window into the mind of Pinochet himself as the world of Carlos and the Queen prepares to collide with the dictator's own in a wonderful snapshot of this period of Chile's history A touching tale of love and danger

If queerness is a notion that implies a destabilization of the normativity of the body then all cultural systems contain zones of discomfort relevant to queer studies What then might we make of such zones when the use of the term queer itself has transcended the fields of sex and gender becoming a metaphor for addressing such cultural phenomena as hybridization resignification and subversion Further still what should we make of it when so many people are reluctant to use the term queer because they view it as theoretical colonialism or a concept that loses its specificity when applied to a culture that signifies and uses the body differently Translating the Queer focuses on the dissemination of queer knowledge concepts and representations throughout Latin America a migration that has been accompanied by concomitant processes of translation adaptation and epistemological resistance Culturally Responsive Teaching and Learning in Higher Education
