Mental Health Policy and Practice Today Ted R. Watkins, James W. Callicutt, 1997-02-26 Mental Health Policy and Practice Today is the only textbook available in recent years that reflects the dynamic nature of mental health practice in today's rapidly changing society. This book begins with an overview of societal and cost issues related to mental health problems including the formats now used for mental health delivery and the public planning and agencies involved. It then focuses on the expanding base of knowledge in mental health. Important areas of neuroscientific and social research are covered along with the significant contributions of psychoeducation and self-help and advocacy groups. Ten groups are specifically discussed including the homeless whose numbers have risen to crisis proportions in recent years in part due to their mass expulsion from institutional care. It then guides the reader through implications for the 21st century including the influences of technology and funding shifts to managed care. Finally it concludes with an exploration of issues that will need to be resolved based on the analysis of current policy practice and future projections. Readers will appreciate the multiple perspectives of this book and the blending of contributors' expertise in both research and service in the trenches. The broad spectrum of topics covered makes this book not only an effective text for traditional and specialized courses in the mental health professions but also an informative and stimulating resource for the current practitioner. It is an essential, timely book that illustrates that policy and practice in the mental health fields must be reconciled.

Reviewing Research Evidence for Nursing Practice Christine Webb, Brenda Roe, 2008-04-15. Reviewing research evidence for nursing practice systematic reviews highlights the key issues involved in conducting different types of systematic reviews encompassing qualitative studies, quantitative studies, and combining quantitative and qualitative studies. It enables nurses and researchers to understand the key principles involved in preparing systematic reviews and to critically appraise the reviews they read and evaluate their usefulness in developing their own practice. Each section starts with an overview of the methodology followed by a selection of systematic reviews carried out in specialist areas of nursing practice. Part 1 explores systematic reviews and meta-analysis of quantitative research; part 2 explores meta-synthesis and meta-study of qualitative research; and part 3 addresses integrative reviews that combine both qualitative and quantitative evidence. The final part explores the use of systematic reviews in service and practice development.
