Reconstructing American Literary Historical Studies:

Reconstructing American Literary and Historical Studies Günter H. Lenz, Hartmut Keil, Sabine Bröck-Sallah, 1990 The collection offers critical readings of the recent efforts in both American historiography and literary studies to revise the traditional canons to transcend pure pluralism and to write a new synthesis of American history in general and of American literature in particular

A Critical History of the New American Studies, 1970-1990 Günter H. Lenz, 2016-12-06 Starting in 2005 Gunter H Lenz began preparing a book length exploration of the transformation of the field of American Studies in the crucial years between 1970 and 1990 As a commentator on contributor to and participant in the intellectual and institutional changes in his field Lenz was well situated to offer a comprehensive and balanced interpretation of that seminal era Building on essays he wrote while these changes were ongoing he shows how the revolution in theory the emergence of postmodern socioeconomic conditions the increasing globalization of everyday life and postcolonial responses to continuing and new forms of colonial domination had transformed American Studies as a discipline focused on the distinctive qualities of the United States to a field encompassing the many different Americas in the Western Hemisphere as well as how this complex region influenced and was interpreted by the rest of the world In tracking the shift of American Studies from its exceptionalist bias to its unmanageable global responsibilities Lenz shows the crucial roles played by the 1930s Left in the U S the Frankfurt School in Germany and elsewhere between 1930 and 1960 Continental post structuralism neo Marxism and post colonialism Lenz s friends and colleagues now his editors present here his final backward glance at a critical period in American Studies and the birth of the Transnational

Predicting the Past Michael Boyden, 2009 Drawing from the social theories of Niklas Luhmann and Mary Douglas Predicting the Past advocates a reflexive understanding of the paradoxical institutional dynamic of American literary history as a professional discipline and field of study Contrary to most disciplinary accounts Michael Boyden resists the utopian impulse to offer supposedly definitive solutions for the legitimation crises besetting American literature studies by going beyond its inherited racist classist and sexist underpinnings Approaching the existence of the American literary tradition as a typically modern problem generating diverse but functionally equivalent solutions Boyden argues how its peculiarity does not as is often supposed reside in its restrictive exclusivity but rather in its massive inclusivity which drives it to constantly revert to a self negating beyond perspective Predicting the Past covers a broad range of literary histories and reference works from Rufus Griswold's 1847 Prose Writers of America to Sacvan Bercovitch's monumental Cambridge History of American Literature Throughout Boyden focuses on particular themes and topics illustrating the self induced complexity of American literary history such as the early Anglocentric roots theories of American literature the debate on contemporary authors in the age of naturalism the plurilingual ethnocentrism of the pioneer Americanists of the mid twentieth century and the genealogical misrepresentation of founding figures such as Jonathan Edwards Emily Dickinson and Robert Lowell

Reconstructing History Elizabeth Fox-Genovese, Elisabeth Lasch-Quinn, 2019-10-25 In May 1997 a group of distinguished historians announced the formation of the Historical Society an organization that sought to be free of the jargon laden debates and political agendas that have come to characterize the profession Eugene Genovese President of the Society explained the commitment to form a new and genuinely diverse organization The Society extends from left to right and embraces people of every ideological and political tendency The Society promotes frank debate in an atmosphere of civility mutual respect and common courtesy All we require is that participants lay down plausible premises reason logically appeal to evidence and prepare to exchange criticism with those who hold different points of view Our goal to promote an integrated history accessible to the public From those beginnings the Society has grown to include hundreds of members from every level of the profession from Pulitzer prize winning scholars to graduate students across the ideological and political spectrum In this first book from the Historical Society several founding members explore central topics within the field the enduring value of the practice of history the sensitive use of historical records sources and archives the value of common standards and much more An engaging and challenging work that will appeal to scholars students educators and the many public readers who have become lost in the culture wars Reconstructing History is sure to generate the kind of civil

Ethnicity and Cultural Authority Daniel G. Williams, 2005-12-08 Longlisted for the Wales Book of the Year 2007 Writing in 1903 W E B Du Bois suggested that the goal for the African American was to be a co worker in the kingdom of culture He was evoking culture as a solution to the divisions within society thereby adopting in a very different context an idea that had been influentially expressed by Matthew Arnold in the 1860s Du Bois questioned the assumed universality of this concept by asking who ultimately is allowed into the kingdom of culture How does one come to speak from a position of cultural authority This book adopts a transatlantic approach to explore these questions It centres on four Victorian men of letters Matthew Arnold William Dean Howells W B Yeats and W E B Du Bois who drew on notions of ethnicity as a basis from which to assert their cultural authority In comparative close readings of these figures Daniel Williams addresses several key areas of contemporary literary and cultural debate The book questions the notion of the West as it appears and re appears in the formulations of postcolonial theory challenges the widespread tendency to divide nationalism into civic and ethnic forms and forces its
