

Reduce • Reuse • Recycle

- The "3R" (Reduce, Reuse, Recycle) are essential principles for managing plastic waste and conserving resources.
- Reduce: minimize plastic consumption by using alternatives, buying in bulk, and avoiding single-use plastics.
- Reuse: extend the life of plastic products through reuse (e.g., using reusable containers).
- Recycle: separate plastics by type, and ensure they are properly recycled in accordance with local recycling programs.

Identifying the resin code is essential for proper recycling.

Understanding the different types of plastics, their uses, and their properties is crucial in making informed choices about plastic consumption and waste management.

By promoting responsible plastic identification and recycling, we can contribute to a more sustainable future and reduce the environmental impact of plastic materials.
