Love Hate In China:

Love and Hate in China Hans Koning, 1966 Identity and Ethnic Relations in Southeast Asia Chee Kiong Tong, 2010-08-03 Modern nation states do not constitute closed entities This is true especially in Southeast Asia where Chinese migrants have continued to make their new homes over a long period of time resulting in many different ethnic groups co existing in new nation states Focusing on the consequences of migration and cultural contact between the various ethnic groups this book describes and analyses the nature of ethnic identity and state of ethnic relations both historically and in the present day in multi ethnic pluralistic nation states in Southeast Asia Drawing on extensive primary fieldwork in Malaysia Singapore Indonesia Burma Vietnam Thailand and the Philippines the book examines the mediations and transformation of ethnic identity and the social incorporation tensions and conflicts and the construction of new social worlds resulting from cultural contact among different ethnic groups Streetlife China Michael Robert Dutton, 1998 Collection of articles by various Chinese writers about life in contemporary China Educating Chinese-Heritage Students in the Global-Local Nexus Guofang Li, Wen Ma, 2017-08-14 Weaving together a richly diverse range of student voices perspectives and insights this collection of studies from around the world offers the educational community a better understanding of K 12 and adult Chinese heritage students languages cultures identities motivations achievements and challenges in various cross cultural settings outside North America Specifically it addresses these overarching questions What are Chinese heritage students experiences in language and education in and outside schools How do they make sense of their multiple ethnic and sociocultural identities What unique educational challenges and difficulties do they encounter as they acculturate socialize and integrate in their host country What are their common struggles and coping strategies What are the instructional practices that work for these learners in their specific contexts What educational implications can be drawn to inform their teachers fellow students parents and their educational communities in a global context Individual chapters employ different theoretical frameworks and methodological instruments to wrestle with these questions and critical issues faced by Chinese heritage learners The World in Guangzhou Gordon Mathews,, Linessa Dan Lin, Yang Yang, 2017-11-16 Only decades ago the population of Guangzhou was almost wholly Chinese Today it is a truly global city a place where people from around the world go to make new lives find themselves or further their careers A large number of these migrants are small scale traders from Africa who deal in Chinese goods often knockoffs or copies of high end branded items to send back to their home countries In The World in Guangzhou Gordon Mathews explores the question of how the city became a center of low end globalization and shows what we can learn from that experience about similar transformations elsewhere in the world Through detailed ethnographic portraits Mathews reveals a world of globalization based on informality reputation and trust rather than on formal contracts How he asks can such informal relationships emerge between two groups Chinese and sub Saharan Africans that don t share a common language culture or religion And what happens when Africans move beyond their status as temporary residents and begin to put down roots and establish families Full of unforgettable characters The World in Guangzhou presents a compelling account of globalization at ground level and offers a look into the future of urban life as transnational connections continue to remake cities around the world Image, Perception, and the Making of U.S.-China Relations Hongshan Li,Zhaohui Hong,1998 Image Perception and the Making of U S China Relations examines major events in the history of the relationship between the U S and China to show the development and effects of national images and perceptions These essays expose the effects of ideology as represented through foreign policy and the actions of leaders as well as the role of the media and governments in shaping public opinion and attitudes They show the evolution of the influential forces from the nineteenth century through the twentieth century In each country a small group of people has always controlled these forces by manipulating the power of the media and governments The nature of this situation changed national perceptions as power often moved from one small group to another As a result of manipulating the images and perceptions of each country these biased and untrue views have inevitably led to conflict between the two countries The

Expanding Roles of Chinese Americans in U.S.-China Relations Peter Koehn,Xiao-Huang Yin,Xiao-huang Yin,2015-02-12 This book addresses the historical and contemporary involvement of Chinese Americans from diverse walks of life in U S China relations The contributors present new evidence and fresh perspectives on familiar and unfamiliar national and transnational networks including families businesspersons community newspapers students lobbyists philanthropists and scientists and consider the likely future impact of such contacts on the most important bilateral relationship at the start of the new millennium The volume makes a multidisciplinary contribution to understanding the extensive and vital roles and promise of Chinese Americans at this critical juncture in U S China relations and to revealing the importance of migrants as actors in contemporary global politics The assessments shared by the contributors suggest that the nature and scope of the Chinese American involvement particularly in global civil society networks increasingly will determine the outcome of state to state relations between the United States and the PRC Japan's Security Relations with China Since 1989 Reinhard
