National Choices And International Processes:

National Choices and International Processes Zeev Maoz, 1990-06-29 National Choices and International Processes will be of interest to students and specialists in foreign policy and international relations theory Golda Meir's Foreign Decision-Making Process Michal Kremer Asaf, 2019-01-15 This book focuses on the analysis of Golda Meir's foreign decision making processes during her tenure as Prime Minister 1970-1973 offering three unique case studies It exposes the political diplomatic aspects of foreign policy using interviews and analysis of hundreds of formerly secret documents from various national archives Furthermore it proposes a new innovative form of analysis termed the Holistic Combined Spiral Model HCSM based on exploring foreign decision making processes through the four leading existing theoretical approaches namely rational emotional bureaucratic and irrational factors The study explores the fields of leadership government and foreign decision making through a holistic perspective in two integrated dimensions first the decision making process during periods of crisis such as the Yom Kippur War and second external influences such as the relationships with the American government and between the superpowers Furthermore after revealing and analysing the factors and components of the foreign decision making process this book appreciates the complexity of these processes which during the dynamic and changing times in which we live world leaders have to master

Human Choice in International Law Anna Spain Bradley, 2021-07-22 Human Choice in International Law is an exploration of human choice in international legal and political decision making This book investigates the neurobiology of how people choose and the history of how personal choice has affected decisions about international peace and security It charts important decision moments in international law about genocide intervention into armed conflict and nuclear weapons at the central institutions of the international legal order Professor Spain Bradley analyzes the role that particular individuals serving as international judges or Security Council representatives play in shaping decision outcomes and then applies insights from neuroscience to assert the importance of analyzing how cognitive processes such as empathy emotion and bias can influence such decisionmakers Drawing upon historical accounts and personal interviews this book reveals the beauty and struggle of human influences that shape the creation and practice of international law

Personal Identity, National Identity and International Relations William Bloom, 1990 Drawing on Freud Mead Erikson Parsons and Habermas William Bloom relates mass psychological processes to international relations

Networks of Nations Zeev Maoz, 2010-12-06 Maoz views the evolution of international relations over the last two centuries as a set of interacting cooperative and conflicting networks of states The networks that emerged are the result of national choice processes about forming or breaking ties with other states States are constantly concerned with their security and survival in an anarchic world Their security concerns stem from their external environment and their past conflicts Because many of them cannot ensure their security by their own power they need allies to balance against a hostile international environment The alliance choices made by states define the structure of security cooperation networks and spill over into other cooperative networks including trade and institutions Maoz tests his theory by applying social networks analysis SNA methods to international relations He offers a novel perspective as a system of interrelated networks that co evolve and interact with one another Bound by Struggle Zeev Maoz, Ben D. Mor, 2002 Explains the origins and dynamics of enduring rivalries between countries

Rules, Norms, and Decisions Friedrich V. Kratochwil, 1991-04-26 This book assesses the impact of norms on decision making It argues that norms influence choices not by being causes for actions but by providing reasons Consequently it approaches the problem via an investigation of the reasoning process in which norms play a decisive role Kratochwil argues that depending upon the strictness the guidance norms provide in arriving at a decision different styles of reasoning with norms can be distinguished While the focus in this book is largely analytical the argument is developed through the interpretation of the classic thinkers in international law Grotius Vattel Pufendorf Rousseau Hume Habermas

Conflict, Security, Foreign Policy, and International Political Economy Michael Brecher, Frank P. Harvey, 2009-12-11 No study of international relations is complete without consideration of foreign policy processes and an understanding of state security conflict in global politics and the relationship between the world economy and international behavior Conflict Security Foreign Policy and International Political Economy Past Paths and Future Directions in International Studies consists of twelve original essays that point out the strengths and weaknesses of current approaches in these research areas as well as suggest agendas for future research See table of contents and excerpts Frank P Harvey is Professor of Political Science and Director of the Centre for Foreign Policy Studies at Dalhousie University Michael Brecher is the R B Angus Professor of Political Science at McGill University and past president of the International Studies Association

Millennial Reflections on International Studies This volume is part of the Millennial Reflections on International Studies project in which forty five prominent scholars engage in self critical state of the art reflection on international studies to stimulate debates about successes and failures and to address the larger questions of progress in the discipline Other paperbacks from this project Realism and Institutionalism in International Studies Evaluating Methodology Critical Perspectives in International Studies The full collection of essays is available in the handbook Millennial Reflections on International Studies

Multiple Paths to Knowledge in International Relations Zeev Maoz, 2004-01-01 Multiple Paths to Knowledge in International Relations provides a uniquely valuable view of current approaches and findings in conflict studies While expanding our knowledge of particular conflicts from the Crimean War to the Vietnam War to ongoing Palestinian Israeli instability the notable contributors also further our understanding of how to conduct research in international relations

Understanding International Students from Asia in American Universities Yingyi Ma, Martha A. Garcia-Murillo, 2017-10-20 This book is about international students from Asia studying at American universities in the age of globalization It explores significant questions such as Why do they want to study in America How do they make their college choices To what extent do they integrate with domestic students and what are the barriers for intergroup friendship How do faculty and administrators at American institutions respond to changing campus and classroom dynamics with a growing student body from Asia Have we provided them with the skills they need to succeed professionally As they are preparing to become the educational managerial and entrepreneurial elites of the world do Asian international students plan to stay in the U S or return to their home country Asian students constitute over 70 percent of all international students Almost every major American university now faces unprecedented enrollment growth from Asian students However American universities rarely consider if they truly understand the experiences and needs of these students This book argues that American universities need to learn about their Asian international students to be able to learn from them It challenges the traditional framework that emphasizes adjustment and adaptation on the part of international students It argues for the urgency to shift from this framework to the one calling for proactive institutional efforts to bring about successful experiences of international students

New Directions for International Relations Bruce Russett, Alex Mintz, 2005-02-11 Why does the academic study of international relations have limited impact on the policy community When research results are inconsistent inconclusive and contradictory a lack of scholarly consensus discourages policy makers the business community and other citizens from trusting findings and conclusions from IR research In New Directions for International Relations Alex Mintz and Bruce Russett identify differences in methods of analysis as one cause of these problematic results They discuss the problem and set the stage for nine chapters by diverse scholars to demonstrate innovative new developments in IR theory and creative new methods that can lay the basis for greater consensus Looking at areas of concern such as the relationship between lawmaking and the use of military force the challenge of suppressing extremists without losing moderates and the public health effects of civil conflict contributors show how international relations research can generate reliable results that can be and in fact are used in the real world

Democracy, War, and Peace in the Middle East David Garnham, Mark A. Tessler, 1995 this volume is a highly valuable contribution to our understanding of the relation between democracy and peace in the Middle East as well as in international politics in general this book will continue to be of value and interest for some time to come The Historian This book is a useful collection of essays on Middle East politics and international relations presented in a reader friendly interdisciplinary fashion Israel Studies Bulletin this is an important collection of challenging papers Studies in Contemporary Jewry one of the first books that specifically focuses on the possible links between democracy and peace in the region It is entertaining and highly useful MESA Bulletin What are the prospects for continued movement toward democracy in the Arab world and what form is democracy likely to take What impact will democratization have on war and peace in the Middle East Scholars explore these issues in this timely book

System and Process in International Politics Morton A Kaplan, 2005 System and Process 1957 broke the mould in political science by combining systems game and cybernetic concepts in its theoretical formulations Since its publication serious research in international relations has needed to respond to the bold hypotheses that matched equilibrial rules with type of system Kaplan's life long interest in finding an objective basis for moral judgments had its scholarly origins in an appendix of this classical book which incorporated his understanding of philosophy and in particular the philosophy of science A second appendix on The Mechanisms of Regulation explored the cybernetic and recursive nature of knowing

Deference in International Courts and Tribunals Lukasz Gruszczynski, Wouter Werner, 2014-10-09 International courts and tribunals are often asked to review decisions originally made by domestic decision makers This can often be a source of tension as the international courts and tribunals need to judge how far to defer to the original decisions of the national bodies As international courts and tribunals have proliferated different courts have applied differing levels of deference to those original decisions which can lead to a fragmentation in international law International courts in such positions rely on two key doctrines the standard of review and the margin of appreciation The standard of review establishes the extent to which national decisions relating to factual legal or political issues arising in the case are re examined in the international court The margin of appreciation is the extent to which national legislative executive and judicial decision makers are allowed to reflect diversity in their interpretation of human rights obligations The book begins by providing an overview of the margin of appreciation and standard of review recognising that while the margin of appreciation explicitly acknowledges the existence of such deference the standard of review does not it is rather a procedural mechanism It looks in depth at how the public policy exception has been assessed by the European Court of Justice and the WTO dispute settlement bodies It examines how the European Court of Human Rights has taken an evidence based approach towards the margin of appreciation as well as how it has addressed issues of hate speech The Inter American system is also investigated and it is established how far deference is possible within that legal organisation Finally the book studies how a range of other international courts such as the International Criminal Court and the Law of the Sea Tribunal have approached these two core doctrines

International Economic Organizations in the International Legal Process Sergei A. Voitovich, 2023-08-28 Voitovich presents a clear and lucid discussion of the manner and form in which international economic organizations IEOs participate in two main stages of the international legal process law making and law implementation The book is based on normative instruments and fragments of practice of about fifty IEOs In order to ensure a proper and timely realization of their normative acts IEOs exercise a number of law implementing functions which are subject to a thorough comparative examination The author concludes that existing IEOs not being ideal institutional models possess a sufficient arsenal of law implementing instruments to make a considerable impact on the international legal regulations in the economic field The book will be of interest to academics and economic political scientists

Proceedings of the 8th International Conference on Foundations of Computer-Aided Process Design, 2014-07-14 This volume collects together the presentations at the Eighth International Conference on Foundations of Computer Aided Process Design FOCAPD 2014 an event that brings together researchers educators and practitioners to identify new challenges and opportunities for process and product design The chemical industry is currently entering a new phase of rapid evolution The availability of low cost feedstocks from natural gas is causing renewed investment in basic chemicals in the OECD while societal pressures for sustainability and energy security continue to be key drivers in technology development and product selection This dynamic environment creates opportunities to launch new products and processes and to demonstrate new methodologies for innovation synthesis and design FOCAPD 2014 fosters constructive interaction among thought leaders from academia industry and government and provides a showcase for the latest research in product and process design Focuses exclusively on the fundamentals and applications of computer aided design for the process industries Provides a fully archival and indexed record of the FOCAPD14 conference Aligns the FOCAPD series with the ESCAPE and PSE series

The Structure and Process of International Law Ronald St. John Macdonald, Douglas M. Johnston, 2024-03-11 This wide ranging series provides expert insights into the most fundamental aspects of public international law and has for many years made a major contribution to the international debate on legal issues affecting the world community

International Contracts and National Economic Regulation: Dispute Resolution Through International Commercial Arbitration Mahmood Bagheri, 2000-12-06 The growth of national economic regulation and the process of globalisation increasingly expose international transactions to an array of regulations from different jurisdictions These developments often contribute to widespread international contractual failures when parties claim the incompatibility of their contractual obligations with regulatory laws The author challenges conventional means of dispute resolution and argues for an interdisciplinary approach whereby disciplines such as international economic law conflict of laws contract law and economic regulations are functionally united to resolve international and multifaceted regulatory disputes He identifies the normative foundation of contract law as an important determinant in this process contending that contract law is essentially neutral and underpinned by the concept of corrective justice while economic regulations are mainly prompted by distributive justice Applying this corrective distributive justice dichotomy to international contracts the author critically assesses major conflict of laws approaches such as proper law the Rome Convention and governmental interest analysis which could disregard either public interest or private rights The author taking these theories into account proposes an alternative two dimensional interest analysis approach He tests the viability of this approach with reference to arbitral awards and court decisions in various jurisdictions and concludes that it uniquely fits into the structure of international commercial arbitration In adopting this approach arbitrators would take into account both corrective and distributive justice and to the extent that corrective justice prevails would be able to avert a total failure of the contract

Historical Institutionalism and International Relations Thomas Rixen, Lora Anne Viola, Michael Zürn, 2016-06-02 This book applies the analytical approach called Historical Institutionalism HI so far mostly used within comparative politics to the field of International Relations IR It provides an introduction to HI concepts and makes an argument for why it is particularly well suited for understanding current developments within international institutions In particular it helps us to understand the combination of change and stability that together form the dynamics of institutional development over time It is the first book to collect original empirical research applying historical institutionalism to international institutions The chapters cover a range of institutions important to IR including the development of European Union competition policy the global politics of financial reform after the 2008 crisis the institutional development of the World Health Organization membership reforms in the League of Nations and the United Nations Security Council and civil society access to intergovernmental organizations The concluding chapter discusses the relationship of HI to other institutionalist approaches and the role of HI in future IR research
