National Identities and Post-Americanist Narratives Donald E. Pease, 1994 National narratives create imaginary relations within imagined communities called national peoples But in the American narrative alongside the nexus of belonging established for the national community the national narrative has represented other peoples women blacks foreigners the homeless from whom the property of nationness has been removed altogether and upon whose differences from them the national people depended for the construction of their norms Dismantling this opposition has become the task of post national Post Americanist narratives bent on changing the assumptions that found the national identity This volume originally published as a special issue of boundary 2 focuses on the process of assembling and dismantling the American national narrative sketching its inception and demolition The contributors examine various cultural political and historical sources colonial literature mass movements epidemics of disease mass spectacle transnational corporations super weapons popular magazines literary texts out of which this narrative was constructed and propose different understandings of nationality and identity following in its wake Contributors Jonathan Arac Lauren Berlant Robert J Corber Elizabeth Freeman Kathryn V Lingberg Jack Matthews Alan Nadel Patrick O Donnell Daniel O Hara Donald E Pease Ross Posnock John Carlos Rowe Rob Wilson

The Critical Situation Robert T. Tally Jr, 2023-03-14 The Critical Situation Vexed Perspectives in Postmodern Literary Studies comprises a selection of essays that register the situatedness of critical theory and practice amid various intellectual institutional and cultural contexts This book offers examples of situated criticism which in turn are concerned with the ways in which literary and cultural criticism are and have been situated in relation to a variety of ideological and institutional structures including those of world literature American studies spatial literary studies cultural critique globalization and postmodernity These structures influence the ways that criticism is practiced and due recognition of their continuing effects is crucial to the success of any meaningful critical practice in the twenty first century

Weak Nationalisms Douglas Dowland, 2019-07-01 The question What is America has taken on new urgency Weak Nationalisms explores the emotional dynamics behind that question by examining how a range of authors have attempted to answer it through nonfiction since the Second World War revealing the complex and dynamic ways in which affects shape the literary construction of everyday experience in the United States Douglas Dowland studies these attempts to define the nation in an eclectic selection of texts from writers such as Simone de Beauvoir John Steinbeck Charles Kuralt Jane Smiley and Sarah Vowell Each of these texts makes use of synecdoche and Weak Nationalisms shows how this rhetorical technique is variously driven by affects including curiosity discontent hopefulness and incredulity In exploring the function of synecdoche in the creative construction of the United States Dowland draws attention to the evocative politics and literary richness of nationalism and connects critical literary practices to broader discussions involving affect theory and cultural representation

origins of American identity by juxtaposing authors such as Hawthorne Melville and Thoreau with Native American African American and women authors Taking his title from Melville Powell identifies an unresolvable conflict between America's multicultural history and its violent will to monoculturalism Powell challenges existing perceptions of the American Renaissance the period at the heart of the American canon and its evolutions by expanding the parameters of American identity Drawing on the critical traditions of cultural studies and new historicism Powell invents a new critical paradigm called historical multiculturalism Moving beyond the polarizing rhetoric of the culture wars Powell grounds his multicultural conception of American identity in careful historical analysis Ruthless Democracy extends the cultural and geographical boundaries of the American Renaissance beyond the northeast to Indian Territory Alta California and the transnational sphere that Powell calls the American Diaspora Arguing for the inclusion of new works Powell envisions the canon of the American Renaissance as a fluid dialogue of disparate cultural voices

Latinx Literature Unbound Ralph E. Rodriguez, 2018-05-08 Since the 1990s there has been unparalleled growth in the literary output from an ever more diverse group of Latinx writers Extant criticism however has yet to catch up with the diversity of writers we label Latinx and the range of themes about which they write Little sustained scholarly attention has been paid moreover to the very category under which we group this literature Latinx Literature Unbound thus begins with a fundamental question What does it mean to label a work of literature or an entire corpus of literature Latinx From this question others emerge What does Latinx allow or predispose us to see and what does it preclude us from seeing If the grouping which brings together a heterogeneous collection of people under a seemingly homogeneous label tells us something meaningful is there a poetics we can develop that would facilitate our analysis of this literature In answering these questions Latinx Literature Unbound frees Latinx literature from taken for granted critical assumptions about identity and theme It argues that there may be more salubrious taxonomies than Latinx for organizing and analyzing this literature Privileging the act of reading as a temporal meaning making event Ralph E Rodriguez argues that genre may be a more durable category for analyzing this literature and suggests new ways we might proceed with future studies of the writing we have come to identify as Latinx

H. Reese, 2017-06-06 The Short Story in Midcentury America provides in depth case studies of four major writers of the post World War II era Paul Bowles Mary McCarthy Eudora Welty and Tennessee Williams examining how they used the contained aesthetics of short fiction to map out an oppositional stance to the dominant narratives both political and literary of mid twentieth century U S culture Sam V H Reese presents a new understanding of the connections between politics ideology and literary form arguing that writers employed the short story to critique the cultural mores of the early Cold War The four authors under discussion found themselves socially marginalized by mainstream U S culture due to such factors as their gender sexual orientation religion and foreign residence Reese shows that each author embraced the short story's compressed form as a means of resisting political coercion and conformity speaking out in support of freedom and open expression Reese argues that these four writers used the formal restrictions of the short story to develop a type of fiction that became recognizably countercultural challenging the expansive sprawling novels then receiving acclaim from critics His analysis underscores the means by which each author's short stories utilized the aesthetic practices of mediums outside conventional narrative fiction Bowles's career as a composer McCarthy's criticism and memoirs Williams's playwriting and Welty's photography By studying both their prose and its conceptualization Reese reveals how writers resisted the political and stylistic pressures that defined U S literary culture in the early years of the Cold War In The Short Story in Midcentury America Reese establishes a new framework for considering countercultural literature in the United States reassessing the critical standing of the short story and re-evaluating the relationship between marginal social positions and literary form during the mid twentieth century

Goldman, 2000-10-19 The book calls for a new iconography of region that unseats New England's status as cultural center of the United States and originary metaphor for national identity No single territorial or political axis can adequately describe the complex regional relationships that comprise the nation Goldman argues The essays in this volume juxtapose African American Mexican American and Anglo American fictions produced in the wake of both the Civil War and the U S Mexican War contiguous national conflicts that remain segregated in critical practice At once comparative and intertextual the readings in this study redefine western literature in its relation to other U S regional literary formations Goldman's arguments question critical sectionalism as extensively as they do regional divisions by blurring generic distinctions by reading across literary periods and by juxtaposing writers who explore the same set of social issues during the same historical moment but who are conventionally located in separate literary traditions sentimental literature the African American novel literary modernism early Mexican fiction American Postmodernist Fiction and the Past T. and articulations of U S and Canadian citizenship that are enacted renegotiated and revised in modern literary texts particularly during periods of emergence and crisis Tan brings together for the first time a selection of canonical and lesser known U S and Canadian writings for critical consideration She begins by exploring literary depiction of willful or wayward citizens and those with precarious bodies that are viewed as threatening undesirable unacceptable including refugees and asylum seekers undocumented migrants deportees and stateless people She also considers the rights to citizenship and political membership claimed by queer bodies and an examination of new and alternative forms of citizenship such as denizenship urban citizenship diasporic citizenship and Indigenous citizenship With case studies based on works by a diverse collection of authors including Nathaniel Hawthorne Djuna Barnes Etel Adnan Sarah Schulman Walt Whitman Gail Scott and Philip Roth Tan uncovers alternative forms of collectivity community and nation across a broad range of perspectives In line with recent cross disciplinary explorations in the field Reconfiguring Citizenship and National Identity in the North American Literary Imagination shows citizenship as less of a fixed or static legal entity and more as a set of symbolic and cultural practices Scholars of literary studies cultural studies and citizenship studies will be grateful for Tan s illuminating study

Black Holes / J. Hillis Miller; or, Boustrophedonic Reading Joseph Hillis Miller, Manuel Asensi, 1999 J Hillis Miller s text deals mainly with Anthony Trollope s Ayala s angel and Marcel Proust s A la recherche du temps perdu Wild Abandon Alexander Menrisky, 2020-12-17 The American wilderness narrative which divides nature from culture has remained remarkably persistent despite the rise of ecological science which emphasizes interconnection between these spheres Wild Abandon considers how ecology s interaction with radical politics of authenticity in the twentieth century has kept that narrative alive in altered form As ecology gained political momentum in the 1960s and 1970s many environmentalists combined it with ideas borrowed from psychoanalysis and a variety of identity based social movements The result was an identity politics of ecology that framed ecology itself as an authentic identity position repressed by cultural forms including social differences and even selfhood Through readings of texts by Edward Abbey Simon Ortiz Toni Morrison Margaret Atwood and Jon Krakauer among others Alexander Menrisky argues that writers have both dramatized and critiqued this tendency in the process undermining the concept of authenticity altogether and granting insight into alternative histories of identity and environment
