REFERENCE BOOKS BULLETIN

Native American Performance and Representation S. E. Wilmer, 2011-11-01 Native performance is a multifaceted and changing art form as well as a swiftly growing field of research Native American Performance and Representation provides a wider and more comprehensive study of Native performance not only its past but also its present and future Contributors use multiple perspectives to look at the varying nature of Native performance strategies They consider the combination and balance of the traditional and modern techniques of performers in a multicultural world This collection presents diverse viewpoints from both scholars and performers in this field both Natives and non Natives Important and well respected researchers and performers such as Bruce McConachie Jorge Huerta and Daystar Rosalie Jones offer much needed insight into this quickly expanding field of study This volume examines Native performance using a variety of lenses such as feminism literary and film theory and postcolonial discourse Through the many unique voices of the contributors major themes are explored such as indigenous self representations in performance representations by nonindigenous people cultural authenticity in performance and representation and cross fertilization between cultures Authors introduce important though sometimes controversial issues as they consider the effects of miscegenation on traditional customs racial discrimination Native women's position in a multicultural society and the relationship between authenticity and hybridity in Native performance An important addition to the new and growing field of Native performance Wilmer's book cuts across disciplines and areas of study in a way no other book in the field does It will appeal not only to those interested in Native American studies but also to those concerned with women's and gender studies literary and film studies and cultural studies Making Asian American Film and Video Jun Okada, 2015-03-06 The words Asian American film might evoke a painfully earnest low budget documentary or family drama destined to be seen only in small film festivals or on PBS Public Broadcasting Service In her groundbreaking study of the past fifty years of Asian American film and video Jun Okada demonstrates that although this stereotype is not entirely unfounded a remarkably diverse range of Asian American filmmaking has emerged Yet Okada also reveals how the legacy of institutional funding and the PBS style unites these filmmakers whether they are working within that system or setting themselves in opposition to its conventions Making Asian American Film and Video explores how the genre has served as a flashpoint for debates about what constitutes Asian American identity Tracing a history of how Asian American film was initially conceived as a form of public interest media part of a broader effort to give voice to underrepresented American minorities Okada shows why this seemingly well intentioned project inspired deeply ambivalent responses In addition she considers a number of Asian American filmmakers who have opted out of producing state funded films from Wayne Wang to Gregg Araki to Justin Lin Okada gives us a unique behind the scenes look at the various institutions that have bankrolled and distributed Asian American films revealing the dynamic interplay between commercial and state run media More than just a history of Asian Americans in film Making Asian American Film and Video is an insightful meditation on both the achievements and the limitations of institutionalized multiculturalism Riding the Video Range Gary A. Yoggy, 2024-10-16 In June 1949 Hopalong Cassidy Then Roy Rogers the Lone Ranger Zorro Davy Crockett the Cisco Kid Matt Dillon Bat Masterson the Cartwrights Hec Ramsey Paladin Have Gun Will Travel no television genre has generated as many enduring characters as the Western Gunsmoke Death Valley Days Bonanza Maverick and Wagon Train are just a few of the small screen oaters that became instant classics Then shows such as Lonesome Dove and The Young Riders updated and redefined the genre The shows tended to fall into categories such as juvenile Westerns marshals and sheriffs wagon trains and cattle drives ranchers antiheroes bounty hunters gamblers and hired guns memorable pairs Indians single parent families e.g. The Big Valley The Rifleman and Bonanza women blacks Asians and even spoofs There are 85 television Westerns analyzed here the characters the stories and why the shows succeeded or failed Many photographs a bibliography and index complete the book
