Nature Writing Don Scheese, 2013-10-28 In this comprehensive study of the genre Don Scheese traces its evolution from the pastoralism evident in the natural history observations of Aristotle and the poetry of Virgil to current American writers He documents the emergence of the modern form of nature writing as a reaction to industrialization Scheese's personal observations of natural settings sharpen the reader's understanding of the dynamics between author and locale His study is further informed by ample use of illustrations and close readings core writers such as Thoreau John Muir and Mary Austin showing how each writer's work exemplifies the pastoral tradition and celebrate a spirit of place in the United States The Norton Book of Nature Writing Robert Finch, John Elder, 1990 W W Norton is pleased to announce that The Norton Book of Nature Writing is now available in a paperback college edition

Wilderness Tales Diana Fuss, 2023-02-28 A dazzling collection of short stories about North American outdoor life both classic and contemporary from James Fenimore Cooper and Jack London to Margaret Atwood and Anthony Doerr and many more The North American landscape in its rich and rugged variety has inspired an equally wide and deep range of fiction over the past centuries. Diana Fuss has gathered a rich collection of timeless classics and contemporary discoveries summoning up our close and imagined encounters with all things wild. From the nineteenth century's Washington Irving Rip Van Winkle to the twenty-first century's Ted Chiang The Great Silence, a panoramic view of wilderness fiction from Gothic tales of mystery and suspense The Heroic Slave by Frederick Douglass to tales of danger and survival Walking Out by David Quammen, from modern tales of retreat and solitude Happiness by Ron Carlson to never-before-told tales of our new reality of environment and extinction The River by Adrienne Maree Brown, these are stories that reveal the many ways in which the American literary landscape has shaped and is shaped by our conceptions of the wild. Diana Fuss nimbly shows in her introductory text and commentary throughout the development of the wilderness story from its emergence in the work of Nathaniel Hawthorne, Young Goodman Brown, and James Fenimore Cooper's A Panther Tale to the height of its popularity in the stories of Jack London, To Build a Fire, to the environmentally conscious writing of T. C. Boyle's After the Plague and Karen Russell's St. Lucy's Home for Girls Raised by Wolves. Among those whose work appears in the collection: Wallace Stegner, Annie Proulx, Ambrose Bierce, Ernest Hemingway, William Faulkner, L. Frank Baum, Margaret Atwood, Tommy Orange, Walter Van Tilburg Clark, and Ray Bradbury.

Updating the Literary West, 1997. Western writers, says Thomas J. Lyon in his epilogue to Updating the Literary West, have grown up with the frontier myth but now find themselves in the early stages of creating a new western myth. The editors of the Literary History of the American West (TCU Press, 1987) hoped that the first volume would begin not to conclude their exploration of the West's literary heritage. Out of this hope comes Updating the Literary West, a comprehensive reference anthology including essays by over one hundred scholars. A selected bibliography is included with each piece. In the ten years since publication of LHAW, western writing has developed a significantly larger presence in the national literary stream. A variety of cultural viewpoints have developed along with new tactics for literary study. New authors have risen to prominence and the range of subjects has changed and widened. Updating the Literary West looks at topics ranging from western classics to cowboys and Cadillacs and considers children's literature, ethnicity, environmental writing, gender issues, and other topics in which change has been rapid since publication of LHAW. This volume again affirms the West's literary legitimacy, status hard-earned by the Western Literary Association and the lasting place of popular western writing as part of the growing and changing literary and American experience. An excellent reference for a wide range of readers and an invaluable resource for scholars and libraries.

French subject islands Elodie Winckel,2024-06-20 This book examines extractions out of the subject which is traditionally considered to be an island for extraction There is a debate among linguists regarding whether the subject island constraint is a syntactic phenomenon or an illusion caused by cognitive or pragmatic factors The book focusses on French that provides an interesting case study because it allows certain extractions out of the subject despite not being a typical null subject language The book takes a discourse based approach and introduces the Focus Background Conflict constraint which posits that a focused element cannot be part of a backgrounded constituent due to a pragmatic contradiction The major novelty of this proposal is that it predicts a distinction between extractions out of the subject in focalizing and non focalizing constructions The central contribution of this book is to offer the detailed results of a series of empirical studies corpus studies and experiments on extractions out of the subject in French These studies offer evidence for the possibility of extraction out of the subject in French But they also reveal a clear distinction between constructions While extractions out of the subject are common and highly acceptable in relative clauses this is not the case for interrogatives and clefts Finally the book proposes a Head Driven Phrase Structure Grammar HPSG analysis of subject islands It demonstrates the interaction between information structure and syntax using a representation of information structure based on Minimal Recursion Semantics MRS
