Natural Born Caadesigners:

Natural Born Caadesigners Christian Pongratz, Maria Rita Perbellini, 2000 In the USA the generation of 30 40 year old architects has a number of remarkable achievements to show for itself Although this generation encompasses a broad spectrum of architectural genres it is clear that there is one common factor which differentiates them from the previous generation they were literally born with the computer This book reports on how this new tool has influenced and affected the quality of designing looking at the most interesting protagonists of the electronic generation together with their most important projects The authors live in New York and are themselves active in this field

The Interior Architecture Theory Reader Gregory Marinic, 2018-01-17 The Interior Architecture Theory Reader presents a global compilation that collectively and specifically defines interior architecture Diverse views and comparative resources for interior architecture students educators scholars and practitioners are needed to develop a proper canon for this young discipline As a theoretical survey of interior architecture the book examines theory history and production to embrace a full range of interior identities in architecture interior design digital fabrication and spatial installation Authored by leading educators theorists and practitioners fifty chapters refine and expand the discourse surrounding interior architecture

The Architecture of Intelligence Derrick De Kerckhove, 2001 A refreshingly unconventional look at architecture and the World Wide Web Using Vitruvius classical text De Architectura as a starting point De Kerckhove begins a journey into the exciting world of the Internet On the one hand he explores the architecture of this revolutionary medium on the other he considers the wide ranging opportunities which the IT world offers for architectonic design revealing how this new medium for communication is as much based on tradition as on innovation Derrick de Kerckhove is the Director of the McLuhan Institute and Professor at the University of Toronto His research into the effects of innovative technology on human communication of new media on traditional culture have gained worldwide recognition

Digital Stories Maia Engeli, 2000 Design in the area of architecture is essentially an act of innovation continually striving to integrate practical metaphorical and symbolic features into the designs using the technical means of today and this is precisely where the computer can provide fascinating new potential to create a narrative space

New Scapes Paola Gregory, 2003-04-01 Since the famous competition for the Park La Villette in Paris where the participants included Bernard Tschumi Peter Eisenman and Gilles Deleuze the relationship between building and landscape has been dramatically transformed Concepts such as metamorphosis and interaction layers and fields are becoming as much a part of architectonic discourse as the practical designs and the realization Author Paola Gregory examines this interplay between buildings and landscapes present in today's architecture scene illustrating her analysis with exciting examples including the ecological landscapes of James Wines and Greg Lynn the virtual environments of Marcos Novak and Nox buildings by Jean Nouvel and Toyo Ito which actively incorporate passers by and surroundings by means of new media

New Flatness Alicia Imperiale, 2000-08-01 In recent architecture theory and practise there has been a tendency to refer to exteriors as a skin concealing an interior as opposed to the traditional and more physical concepts of surface flatness and depth The computer now enables the architect to call his design into life free from the rigid material form and view it as a flexible and interactive creation In this book the concepts of flatness and surface tension are examined in the light of virtual design and built reality A selection of projects are presented to show how the architects regard space and surfaces in modern architectural practice in a digital age Behind the Scenes Francesco De Luca, Marco Nardini, 2002-09-26 Information technology has brought about a radical change in architectural design The sketches and plans of yesterday have been transformed by CAD In this book the authors cast a glance behind the scenes to provide a systematic overview of the tools and technical processes which are now an integral part of today's design methods The most important digital tools are presented the principal steps are analysed and the essential concepts are explained The theoretical information is vividly illustrated by a selection of examples from the world of architecture A concise and accessible introduction to electronic designing this book makes the subject easily comprehensible to all who are new to the field and for those who already involved in digital designing it is a useful recapitulation and orientation Virtual Terragni Mirko Galli, Claudia Mühlhoff, 2000 Traditionally architectural models were static creations but now through CAAD models can be created which are dynamic and easily manipulated This book shows how the electronic medium can be used to critically reconstruct unbuilt projects looking in particular at projects by the famous Italian rationalist Giuseppe Terragni Four villas and several monument buildings are visually represented their structures and functions examined and assessed using CAAD History of Form *Z Pierluigi Serraino, 2002 Developed in 1989 the software Form Z has become an important digital tool for architects when exploring three dimensional objects in particular when designing spaces which have complex shapes and multiple curved surfaces which do not adhere to Cartesian geometry and cannot be depicted by traditional CAD programs This book outlines the development qualities and the future potential of this ingenious program and the genuine contribution it has made to architectural design is illustrated by projects from Roto Architects Skidmore Owings Merrill Siegel Diamond Architecture Stanley Saitowitz Office Form 4 amongst others Pierluigi Serraino born in 1965 studied architecture in Rome and Los Angeles Since 1997 he has lived in San Francisco Aesthetics of Total Serialism Markus Bandur, 2001 Total serialism as a concept has progressed beyond the twelve tone technique of composers Schoenberg and Webern and since the 1950s it has been constantly developed Today it refers to far more than just a technical process for composing rather it offers one possibility of creatively integrating knowledge on man and nature into works of art On all levels of artificial man made creations from musical compositions to architectonic designs it allows properties and dimensions to be systematically organised with criteria such as mass and proportions playing decisive roles Markus Bandur born in 1960 studied science of music philosophy and history and now teaches at the universities of Freiburg i Br Berne and Kassel Digital Odyssey Carmelo Baglivo, Luca Galofaro, IaN+ (Firm), 2003 Following on from the successful book Natural

Born CAADesigners Young American Architects this book takes a look at the most recent architectonic developments in the Mediterranean countries where architects have up to now been strongly influenced by the archaeologically significant environment and their classical architectural inheritance How do young architects in Italy France Spain and Greece react to the new digital age The electronic tools give them the chance to free themselves from the burden of tradition to explore fascinating opportunities in their architecture This book provides a colourful and concise overview of their work using previously unpublished material The team IAN was formed in 1997 in Rome by Carmelo Baglivo Luca Galofaro and Stefania Manna Maria Luisa Palumbo works at the McLuhan Programm in Culture and Technology Resilient Communities and the Peccioli Charter Maurizio Carta, Maria R. Perbellini, Jose Antonio Lara-Hernandez, 2022-04-25 This book explores urban resilience through significant original and rigorous academic research utilising the experiences of town planners architects and decision makers to create a charter on resilient communities The second part of the book presents mini essays discussing the strategic points of the paper and enabling more casual readers with the ability to access information on urban resilience The book then explores urban resilience through the work and understanding of the institutions responsible for regulating the professions of urban planner educators professionals and those involved in communication Providing numerous illustrations and examples Resilient Communities and the Peccioli Charter will be of interest to researchers postgraduates architects urban designers and planners alike Digital Design Paolo Martegani, Riccardo Montenegro, 2000-09-01 The era of digitalisation is bringing about radical changes We are surrounded by objects which are causing our relationship with the world around us to become increasingly intangible and virtual Even the work of the designer is changing coupled with the traditional principles of aesthetics and practicality concepts such as communication multimedia virtuality are now important tools of the trade Today's designers are confronted with a variety of complex demands and the computer offers an extremely flexible and creative way of meeting them This book examines the many developments and changes which the digital age has effected in the field of design New Wombs Maria Luisa Palumbo, 2000-08-01 A sense of harmony and proportion has traditionally been achieved in architectural compositions by using the dimensions of the human body as the starting point Modern technology now enables us to go beyond these physical dimensions into a virtual world and this poses a challenge to architecture as we usually perceive it Interactive flexible and intelligent models are being called for Whilst technology is taking us into the realms of virtual reality architecture on the other hand is becoming more corporeal Postorganic is the term being used to express this merging of the body and architecture brought about by electronic media A radical change in perspective is blurring the distinction between the organic and mechanic and the artificial logic of the computer and the natural logic of man are fusing together

Hyperbodies Kas Oosterhuis, 2003 Hyperbodies are buildings and environments which can continuously change shape and content The mutations of such buildings depend on the input coming from their user as well as from the surroundings

This interaction between user and building is determined by a data flow which the hyperbody uses and converts into a hypersurface structure which then alters our perception of space in and around the hyperbody The architect programs this interaction and can thereby define the specific character of the building In this book the author provides a concise overview of this latest digital tool Kaas Oosterhuis is Professor at the Technical University Delft and is a well known Dutch architect

The Charter of Zurich Furio Barzon, 2002-04-01 The changes which Information Technology has brought to all areas of our lives have been dramatic Even in architecture its influence has been far reaching creating new processes opening up exciting new prospects In this book Peter Eisenman Derrick de Kerckhove and Antonino Saggio write boldly on the challenges which now face young architects The IT Revolution offers opportunities which were previously undreamt of but at the same time danger lurks in the realm of virtuality with its implication of unlimited possibilities Furio Barzon uses examples from contemporary architecture to underscore the three text contributions and also places them in the context of state of the art technology and future developments Eisenman along with Gehry is one of the USA's most important living architects de Kerckhove heads the McLuhan Program in Culture and Technology in Toronto Saggio is Professor in Rome and editor of the series IT Revolution in Architecture Digital Gehry. Englische Ausgabe. Bruce Lindsey, 2001 Frank O Gehry born in 1929 founded his own architectural firm in Los Angeles in 1962 and since the building of the Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao he is undoubtedly among the ranks of international architecture superstars His buildings are complex constructions with curves and distortions skilful plastic shapes which never cease to surprise with their breath taking spatial effects To create these daring designs Gehry makes extensive use of the latest electronic tools physical models are transformed into digital models using software and hardware which has been adapted from the space industry and medical research This book provides a colourful insight into Gehry's design methods and the creative process behind his fantastic buildings Bruce Lindsay studied at the Yale School of Architecture he is now Associate Head at the School of Architecture at Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh USA Computer-Aided Architectural Design Futures (CAADFutures) 2007 Andy Dong, Andrew Vande Moere, John S.
