Clausen, 1994 Meredith Clausen reveals the enormous power that Belluschi wielded as an arbiter of taste and decision maker in the 1950s and 1960s, his role in shaping the policy of the State Department in its overseas building program, and his role in securing major commissions for favored architects such as I. M. Pei. Equally important is Clausen's discussion of Belluschi's role in the development of regionalism in the Pacific Northwest and its impact on the definition of modernism as it was emerging in the United States.

The Northwest Architecture Pietro Belluschi, 1953 Pietro Belluschi Lamia Doumato, 1980 The Grove Encyclopedia of American Art Joan M. Marter, 2011 Arranged in alphabetical order, these 5 volumes encompass the history of the cultural development of America with over 2300 entries. The Publishers Weekly, 1953 ARTnews, 1954 Modern Architecture and Climate Daniel A. Barber, 2020-07-07 How climate influenced the design strategies of modernist architects. Modern Architecture and Climate explores how leading architects of the twentieth century incorporated climate mediating strategies into their designs and shows how regional approaches to climate adaptability were essential to the development of modern architecture. Focusing on the period surrounding World War II, before fossil fuel powered air conditioning became widely available, Daniel Barber brings to light a vibrant and dynamic architectural discussion involving design materials and shading systems as means of interior climate control. He looks at projects by well-known architects such as Richard Neutra, Le Corbusier, Licio Costa, Mies van der Rohe, and Skidmore, Owings, and Merrill, and the work of climate-focused architects such as M.M. Roberto, Olgyay and Olgyay, and Cliff May. Drawing on the editorial projects of James Marston Fitch, Elizabeth Gordon, and others, he demonstrates how images and diagrams produced by architects helped conceptualize climate knowledge alongside the work of meteorologists, physicists, engineers, and social scientists. Barber describes how this novel type of environmental media catalyzed new ways of thinking about climate and architectural design. Extensively illustrated with archival material, Modern Architecture and Climate provides global perspectives on modern architecture and its evolving relationship with a changing climate showcasing designs from Latin America Europe the United States the Middle East and Africa This timely and important book reconciles the cultural dynamism of architecture with the material realities of ever increasing carbon emissions from the mechanical cooling systems of buildings and offers a historical foundation for today's zero carbon design

Saint John's Abbey Church Victoria M. Young, 2014-10-01 In the 1950s the brethren at the Benedictine Abbey of Saint John the Baptist in Collegeville Minnesota the largest Benedictine abbey in the world decided to expand their campus including building a new church From a who's who of architectural stars such as Walter Gropius Richard Neutra Pietro Belluschi Barry Byrne and Eero Saarinen the Benedictines chose a former member of the Bauhaus Marcel Breuer In collaboration with the monks this untested religious designer produced a work of modern sculptural concrete architecture that reenvisioned what a church could be and set a worldwide standard for midcentury religious design Saint John's Abbey Church documents the dialogue of the design process as Breuer instructed the monks about architecture and they in turn guided him and his associates in the construction of a sacred space in the crucial years of liturgical reform A reading of letters drawings and other archival materials shows how these conversations gave shape to design elements from the church's floor plan to the liturgical furnishings art and incomparable stained glass installed within it The book offers a rare detailed view of how a patron and architect work together in a successful building campaign one that in this case lasted for two decades and resulted in designs for twelve buildings ten of which were completed The post World War II years were critical in the development of religious and architectural experiences in the United States experiences that came together in the construction of Saint John's Abbey and University Church and that find their full expression in Victoria M Young's account of the process Using the liturgy of the mid twentieth century as a cornerstone for understanding the architecture produced to support it her book showcases the importance of modernism in the design of sacred space and of Marcel Breuer's role in setting the standard
