Roman Shore Forts Coastal Defences Of Southern Britain:

The Roman Shore Forts Andrew Pearson, 2002 In the late Roman Empire forts were constructed along the eastern and southern coasts of Britain as part of the defenses against Saxon raiders Andrew Pearson looks at the eleven surviving forts and explains how they were constructed and what their precise role was

Roman Military Architecture on the Frontiers Rob Collins, Matt Symonds, Meike Weber, 2015-11-30 The Roman army was one of the most astounding organizations in the ancient world and much of the success of the Roman empire can be attributed to its soldiers Archaeological remains and ancient texts provide detailed testimonies that have allowed scholars to understand and reconstruct the army's organization and activities This interest has traditionally worked in tandem with the study of Roman frontiers Historically the early imperial period and in particular the emergence of the frontiers has been the focus of research During those investigations however the remains of the later Roman army were also frequently encountered if not always understood Recent decades have brought a burgeoning interest in not only the later Roman army but also late antiquity more widely It is the aim of this volume to demonstrate that while scholars grappling with the late Roman army may want for a rich corpus of inscriptions and easily identifiable military installations research is revealing a dynamic less predictable force that was adapting to a changing world in terms of both external threats and its own internal structures The dynamism and ingenuity of the late Roman army provides a breath of fresh air after the suffocating uniformity of its forbears The late Roman army was a vital and influential element in the late antique empire Having evolved through the 3rd century and been formally reorganized under Diocletian and Constantine the limitanei guarded the frontiers while the comitatenses provided mobile armies that were fielded against external enemies and internal threats The transformation of the early imperial army to the late antique army is documented in the rich array of texts from the period supplemented by a perhaps surprisingly rich archaeological record

Villas, Sanctuaries and Settlement in the Romano-British Countryside Martin Henig, Grahame Soffe, Kate Adcock, Anthony King, 2023-03-02 This volume brings together a range of papers on buildings that have been categorised as villas mainly in Roman Britain from the Isle of Wight to Shropshire It comprises the first such survey for almost half a century

The Archaeology of Britain Vicki Cummings, Stephen Driscoll, 2025-07-21 The Archaeology of Britain provides an up to date introduction to the archaeology of Britain from the reoccupation of the landmass by Homo sapiens during the later stages of the most recent Ice Age until last century This fully revised third edition offers expanded coverage and includes updates relating to the latest research and advances in scientific dating and other techniques This includes the results of the latest analyses of ancient DNA alongside new isotopic studies which enable insights into ancient diets Each chapter written by a leading authority provides a detailed yet accessible introduction to various time periods and are supported by numerous illustrations of key sites and finds and a selective reference list to aid study in greater depth As a comprehensive textbook for the entire archaeology of Britain it reflects the most recent developments in archaeology both as a field subject and as an academic discipline No other book provides such comprehensive coverage with such a wide chronological range of the archaeology of Britain This book is essential reading for undergraduates in archaeology and all those interested in British archaeology history and geography The Oxford Handbook of Anglo-Saxon Archaeology Helena Hamerow, David A. Hinton, Sally Crawford, 2011-03-31 Written by a team of experts and presenting the results of the most up to date research The Handbook of Anglo Saxon Archaeology will both stimulate and support further investigation into a society poised at the interface between prehistory and history Maritime Kent Through the Ages Stuart Bligh, Sheila Sweetinburgh, Elizabeth Clare Edwards, 2021 A wide ranging history of the geography and communities of Kent from the earliest times to the present day Kent with its long coastline and its important geopolitical position close to London and continental Europe and on major trading routes between Britain and the wider world has had a very significant maritime history This book covers a wide range of topics relating to that history from the earliest times to the present day It sets Kent's varied coastline and waters in their geological and geographical context showing how erosion and sediment deposition have contributed to the changing nature of maritime activities and populations It examines Kent's strategic role in the defence of the country with the development and redevelopment of coastal defences including four naval dockyards It goes on to consider the supporting industries which grew up around the coastline those which supplied raw materials and agricultural products from the county's hinterland and its wider national and international trading links It also discusses the diverse coastal communities of Kent and how they have changed in response to the demands of defence trade and changing population and migration patterns In addition the book includes detailed case studies which explore particular subject areas as exemplars of the major themes covered by the book Saxon Identities, AD 150-900 Robert Flierman, 2017-07-13 This study is the first up to date comprehensive analysis of Continental Saxon identity in antiquity and the early middle ages Building on recent scholarship on barbarian ethnicity this study emphasises not just the constructed and open ended nature of Saxon identity but also the crucial role played by texts as instruments and resources of identity formation This book traces this process of identity formation over the course of eight centuries from its earliest beginnings in Roman ethnography to its reinvention in the monasteries and bishoprics of ninth century Saxony Though the Saxons were mentioned as early as AD 150 they left no written evidence of their own before c 840 Thus for the first seven centuries we can only look at the Saxons through the eyes of their Roman enemies Merovingian neighbours and Carolingian conquerors Such external perspectives do not yield objective descriptions of a people but rather reflect an ongoing discourse on Saxon identity in which outside authors described who they imagined wanted or feared the Saxons to be dangerous pirates noble savages bestial pagans or faithful subjects Significantly these outside views deeply influenced how ninth century Saxons eventually came to think about themselves using Roman and Frankish texts to reinvent the Saxons as a noble and Christian people Military Aspects of Geology E. P. F. Rose, J. Ehlen, U. L. Lawrence, 2019-01-31 This book complements the Geological Society's Special Publication 362 Military Aspects of Hydrogeology Generated under the auspices of the Society's History of Geology and Engineering Groups it contains papers from authors in the UK USA Germany and Austria Substantial papers describe some innovative engineering activities influenced by geology undertaken by the armed forces of the opposing nations in World War I These activities were reactivated and developed in World War II Examples include trenching from World War I tunnelling and quarrying from both wars and the use of geologists to aid German coastal fortification and Allied aerial photographic interpretation in World War II The extensive introduction and other chapters reveal that military geology has a longer history These chapters relate to pre twentieth century coastal fortification in the UK and the USA conflict in the American Civil War long term going assessments for German forces tunnel repair after wartime route denial in Hong Kong and tunnel detection after recent insurgent improvisation in Iraq

Landslide Science and Practice Claudio Margottini, Paolo Canuti, Kyoji Sassa, 2013-08-18 This book contains peer reviewed papers from the Second World Landslide Forum organised by the International Consortium on Landslides ICL that took place in September 2011 The entire material from the conference has been split into seven volumes this one is the sixth 1 Landslide Inventory and Susceptibility and Hazard Zoning 2 Early Warning Instrumentation and Monitoring 3 Spatial Analysis and Modelling 4 Global Environmental Change 5 Complex Environment 6 Risk Assessment Management and Mitigation 7 Social and Economic Impact and Policies A Brief History of Roman Britain Joan P. Alcock, 2011-05-26 In BC 55 Julius Caesar came saw conquered and then left It was not until AD 43 that the Emperor Claudius crossed the channel and made Britain the western outpost of the Roman Empire that would span from the Scottish border to Persia For the next 400 years the island would be transformed Within that period would see the rise of Londinium almost immediately burnt to the ground in 60 AD by Boudicca Hadrian's Wall which was constructed in 112 AD to keep the northern tribes at bay as well as the birth of the Emperor Constantine in third century York Interwoven with the historical narrative is a social history of the period showing how roman society grew in Britain Archaeology in Confrontation Hugo Thoen, 2004 This collection of papers focuses on the Provincial Roman archaeology of Northern Gaul Germany and Britain The House of Godwin

Michael John Key, 2022-03-15 The most powerful dynasty behind the throne of Anglo Saxon England shedding new light on events such as the Battle of Hastings St Peter-On-The-Wall Johanna Dale, 2023-05-15 The Chapel of St Peter on the Wall built on the ruins of a Roman fort dates from the mid seventh century and is one of the oldest largely intact churches in England It stands in splendid isolation on the shoreline at the mouth of the Blackwater Estuary in Essex where the land meets and interpenetrates with the sea and the sky This book brings together contributors from across the arts humanities and social sciences to uncover the pre modern contexts and modern resonances of this medieval building and its landscape setting The impetus for this collection was the recently published designs for a new nuclear power station at Bradwell on Sea which if built would have a significant impact on the chapel and its landscape setting St Peter on the Wall highlights the multiple ways in which the chapel and landscape are historically and archaeologically significant while also drawing attention to the modern importance of Bradwell as a place of Christian worship of sanctuary and of cultural production In analysing the significance of the chapel and surrounding landscape over more than a thousand years this collection additionally contributes to wider debates about the relationship between space and place and particularly the interfaces between both medieval and modern cultures and also heritage and the natural environment

Rodanum Guus Besuijen, 2008 Beneath the surface of Aardenburg a small town in the south western part of the Netherlands lie the remains of a Roman settlement that is presumed to have been named Rodanum Extensive archaeological excavations from the late 1950s to the late 1980s revealed that the settlement was similar in size or even larger than the modern town Its centre was formed by a large castellum type fortification wall that enclosed several large stone buildings The settlement was connected to the sea by a natural watercourse that defined its economic and logistical importance in the region Rodanum s military function was to secure the regional coast against attacks by Germanic tribes via the North Sea which occurred around AD 175 It continued to be inhabited until the late third century or the beginning of the fourth century after which the settlement was deserted until the early Middle Ages The first part of this study provides an overview of Aardenburg during the Roman period in which its economic and military functions within the region are explored In particular the military and civilian character of the town is discussed The second part contains a study of the metal objects and aims to present significant additional information This part concludes with a critical review of the current state of research at this site

Myth, Rulership, Church and Charters Andrew Wareham, 2017-03-02 For more than forty years Nicholas Brooks has been at the forefront of research into early medieval Britain In order to honour the achievements of one of the leading figures in Anglo Saxon studies this volume brings together essays by an internationally renowned group of scholars on four themes that the honoree has made his own myths rulership church and charters Myth and rulership are addressed in articles on the early history of Wessex the fall of Mercia and the battle of Brunanburh contributions concerned with charters explore the means for locating those hitherto lost the use of charters in the study of place names their role as instruments of agricultural improvement and the reasons for the decline in their output immediately after the Norman Conquest Nicholas Brooks s long standing interest in the church of Canterbury is reflected in articles on the Kentish minster of Reculver which became a dependency of the church of Canterbury on the role of early tenth century archbishops in developing coronation ritual and on the presentation of Archbishop Dunstan as a prophet Other contributions provide case studies of saints cults with regional and international dimensions examining a mass for St Birinus and dedications to St Clement while several contributions take a wider perspective looking at later interpretations of the Anglo Saxon past both in the Anglo Norman and more modern periods This stimulating and wide ranging collection will be welcomed by the many readers who have benefited from Nicholas Brooks s own work or who have an interest in the Anglo Saxon past more generally It is an outstanding contribution to early medieval studies Agriculture and Industry in South-Eastern Roman Britain David Bird, 2016-12-31 The ancient counties surrounding the Weald in the SE corner of England have a strongly marked character of their own that has survived remarkably well in the face of ever increasing population pressure The area is however comparatively neglected in discussion of Roman Britain where it is often subsumed into a generalised treatment of the civilian part of Britannia that is based largely on other parts of the country This book aims to redress the balance The focus is particularly on Kent Surrey and Sussex account is taken of information from neighboring counties particularly when the difficult subsoils affect the availability of evidence An overview of the environment and a consideration of themes relevant to the South East as a whole accompany 14 papers covering the topics of rural settlement in each county crops querns and millstones animal exploitation salt production leatherworking the working of bone and similar materials the production of iron and iron objects non ferrous metalworking pottery production and the supply of tile to Roman London Agriculture and industry provides an up to date assessment of our knowledge of the southern hinterland of Roman London and an area that was particularly open to influences from the Continent International Congress of Roman Frontier Studies 20 Ángel Morillo Cerdán, Norbert Hanel, Esperanza Martín, 2009 This massive three volume set publishes the proceedings of the 2006 Limes conference which was held in Leon a total of 138 contributions Naturally these cover a vast range of topics related to Roman military archaeology and the Roman frontiers The archaeology of the Roman military in Spain and contributions by Spanish scholars are prominent whilst other themes include the internal frontiers the end of the frontiers and the barbarians in the empire the fortified town in the late Roman period soldiers on the move and the early development of frontiers Further sessions had a regional focus Majority of essays in English some in Spanish German and Italian War and Warfare in Late Antiquity (2 vols.) , 2013-08-19 This two volume publication explores the key factors determining the course and outcome of war in Late Antiquity Volume 8 1 includes a detailed review of strategic and tactical issues and eight comprehensive bibliographic essays which provide an overview of the literature In Volume 8 2 thematic papers examine strategy and intelligence fortifications and siege warfare weaponry and equipment literary sources and topography and civil war while papers focused on particular geographic regions home in on war and warfare in the West Roman Empire in the 4th and 5th centuries and the Balkans and the Eastern frontier in the 4th to 7th centuries AD Contributors are Susannah Belcher Neil Christie Ian Colvin John Conyard Jon Coulston Jim Crow Florin Curta Hugh Elton James Howard Johnston Jordi Galbany Jordi Gu rdia John Haldon Michel Kazanski Maria Kouroumali Michael Kulikowski Christopher Lillington Martin Marta Maragall Oriol Mercadal Jordi Nadal Oriol Olesi Alexander Sarantis Conor Whately Michael Whitby and John Wilkes Geotechnical Engineering for the Preservation of Monuments and Historic Sites Emilio Bilotta, Alessandro Flora, Stefania Lirer, Carlo Viggiani, 2013-05-10 All the traces of historic heritage are a fundamental part of our environment and reward us in the form of cultural enrichment with the ability to have a positive effect both on our lifestyle and economy Therefore the preservation of ancient monuments historic towns and sites has increasingly drawn the attention of public opinion governmental agencies as well as consultants and contractors This interest must be however carefully controlled and directed since the conservation of monuments and historic sites is one of the most challenging problems of our age Careless attempts at preservation can be detrimental not only to their iconic value formal integrity but even to their structural characteristics and the materials they are built with material integrity Geotechnical Engineering for the Preservation of Monuments and Historic Sites collects one opening address four special lectures and 82 contributions from all over the world giving a unique sample of the geotechnical problems to be tackled the solutions currently being proposed and the strategies being carried out to preserve the overall integrity of monuments and historic sites It is clearly apparent that differences exist around the world not only in terms of the characteristics of the monuments or sites to be preserved but also in the approaches adopted to achieve this aim Hence no unique solution is available to the geotechnical engineer dealing with the delicate structures and sites that represent our cultural heritage and knowledge of previous experiences may be a unique guide in any technical decision making process

An Imperial Possession David Mattingly, 2007-07-26 Part of the Penguin History of Britain series An Imperial Possession is the first major narrative history of Roman Britain for a generation David Mattingly draws on a wealth of new findings and knowledge to cut through the myths and misunderstandings that so commonly surround our beliefs about this period From the rebellious chiefs and druids who led native British resistance to the experiences of the Roman military leaders in this remote dangerous outpost of Europe this book explores the reality of life in occupied Britain within the context of the shifting fortunes of the Roman Empire
