Bell,Dorian Borbonus,Rose MacLean,2024-05-31 How were freed people represented in the Roman world This volume presents new research about the integration of freed persons into Roman society It addresses the challenge of studying Roman freed persons on the basis of highly fragmentary sources whose contents have been fundamentally shaped by the forces of domination Even though freed persons were defined through a common legal status and shared the experience of enslavement and manumission many different interactions could derive from these commonalities in different periods and localities across the empire Drawing on literary epigraphic and archaeological evidence this book provides case studies that test the various ways in which juridical categories and normative discourses shaped the social and cultural landscape in which freed people lived By approaching the literary and epigraphic representations of freed persons in new ways it nuances the impact of power asymmetries and social strategies on the cultural practices and lived experiences of freed persons

Richard Evans, 2017-02-10 This volume has its origin in the 14th University of South Africa Classics Colloquium in which the topic and title of the event were inspired by Josiah Ober's seminal work Mass and Elite in Democratic Athens 1989 Indeed the influence this work has had on later research in all aspects of the Greek and Roman world is reflected by the diversity of the papers collected here which take their cue and starting point from the argument that in Ober's words 1989 338

Rhetorical communication between masses and elites was a primary means by which the strategic ends of social stability and political order were achieved However the contributors to the volume have also sought to build further on such conclusions and to offer new perceptions about a spread of issues affecting mass and elite interaction in a far wider number of locations around the ancient Mediterranean over a much longer chronological span Thus the conclusions here suggest that once the concept of mass and elite was established in the minds of Greeks and later Romans it became a universal component of political life and from there was easily transferred to economic activity or religion In casting the net beyond the confines of Athens although the city is also represented here to amongst others Syracuse the cities of Asia Minor Pompeii and Rome and to literary and philosophical discourse in each instance that interplay between the wider body of the community and the hierarchically privileged can be shown to have governed and directed the thoughts and actions of the participants
