Rommel Battles And Campaigns:

Rommel Kenneth Macksey, 1997-08-22 Although like Hannibal Napoleon and Robert E Lee German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel 1891 1944 met ultimately with defeat his daring tactical skill charismatic leadership and brilliant string of victories succeeded in placing him in the pantheon of great commanders By 1942 Rommel and his Afrika Korps had converted a side show of World War II into a major offensive for the Axis powers The British had been thrown back across the frontiers of Egypt until at El Alamein Rommel's army threatened Cairo Alexandria and the rich oil fields of the Middle East Rommel Battles and Campaigns provides a perceptive and incisive analysis of his entire military career from his fighting in Rumania Italy and France during World War I through his North African campaigns to his command in Normandy and his fatal though false implication in the July 20 bomb plot against Hitler Written by an expert in tank warfare and illustrated with nearly two hundred photos and maps this book presents a revealing critical portrait of one of the most celebrated soldiers of World War II

Great Military Leaders William T. Worthington, 2002 Great Military Leaders A Bibliography with Vignettes

Rommel's Desert Campaigns, February 1941-September 1942: A Study In Operational Level Weakness [Illustrated Edition] Major Donald E. Kirkland, 2014-08-15 Includes the War in North Africa Illustration Pack 112 photos illustrations and 21 maps This study is a historical analysis to determine why Rommel's tactical success on the battlefield could not accomplish strategic objectives in North Africa Rommel's operations are reviewed from his arrival in North Africa in February 1941 through his last offensive to destroy the British Eighth Army at Alamein in August September 1942 The study compares his ability to conduct tactical operations with his apparent inability to plan and execute actions at the operational level of war Rommel's problems with operational planning are addressed within the scope of campaign planning principles set forth in FM 100-5 Operations Final Draft His planning is expressly judged on how he shaped his operational plans by using the concepts of aims resources constraints and restrictions to conform to strategic guidance Rommel's tactical execution is contrasted with his operational performance This comparison is based on the AirLand Battle tenets of agility initiative depth and synchronization The study concludes that Rommel's failure lies in planning operations that exceeded his resources and conducting needless operations that resulted in the loss of the initiative at the decisive point Rommel's plans exceeded the strategic objectives desired by the theater strategists His execution was ultimately defeated by his quest for tactical victories without regard to how they contributed to achieving campaign objectives Rommel's weakness at the operational level led to failure to sequence tactical victories to achieve campaign goals This failure illustrates the importance of understanding how operational art orchestrates tactical activities to achieve strategic objectives within a theater of operations earliest experience with aircraft in the Great War 1914 1918 the inter war period of doctrinal development and inter Service rivalry and the major campaigns in France and the Middle East during the first half of the Second World War when the weaknesses in Army RAF co operation were first exposed and eventually resolved As such it is the first scholarly survey of the origin and development of British air support doctrine and practice during the early years of the Second World War

Combined Arms Warfare in the Twentieth Century Jonathan Mallory House,2001 For centuries the world has witnessed the development and use of increasingly complex and powerful military systems and technologies In the process the art of war has truly become the art of combined arms warfare in which infantry artillery air support intelligence and other key elements are all coordinated for maximum effect Nowhere has this trend been more visible than in the history of twentieth century warfare Originally published as an essential in house study for U S Army officers during the 1980s this much revised and expanded edition remains the most complete study available on the subject Rewritten with a much wider readership in mind it both retains its enormous practical utility for military professionals and provides a valuable and appealing introduction for scholars and general readers Jonathan House author of the original work brings the story of combined arms up to the present covering among other things Desert Storm the war in Chechnya and the rise of smart weapons and related technologies He traces the evolution of tactics weapons and organization in five major militaries American British German Russian and French over 100 years of warfare Revealing both continuities and contrasts within and between these fighting forces he also provides illuminating glimpses of Israeli and Japanese contributions to combined arms doctrine Expanding his insightful analysis of the world wars and the wars in Korea and Vietnam House also offers much new material focused on the post Vietnam period Throughout he analyzes such issues as command and control problems of highly centralized organizations the development of special operations forces advances in weapons technology including ballistic and anti ballistic missile systems the trade offs involved in using heavy versus light armed forces and the enduring obstacles to effective cooperation between air and land forces His strong critique of the air superiority propaganda that came out of the Gulf War is sure to spark some heated debates Rigorously comparative House s study addresses significant questions about how nations prepare for war learn or don t learn its harsh lessons and adapt to changing times and technologies Unique in the annals of the literature on warfare it will be the standard work on this subject for a long time to come
