A Guide to Instructional Resources for Consumers' Education William L. Johnston, United States. Office of Consumers' Education, Nancy B. Greenspan, 1978

Who Really Rules? G. William Domhoff, 1978 Robert A Dahl's Who Governs is a classic pluralist study which has had an important influence on American social science since the early sixties Who Really Rules provides a categorical challenge empirical methodological and theoretical to Dahl's work Empirically Domhoff's restudy of New Haven shows through newly discovered documents that Dahl was wrong about the pluralism of New Haven's power structure He also presents the most systematic statement of power structure methodology yet made a statement that contradicts Dahl's methodological claims which have been the prevailing wisdom in American social science for over fifteen years Finally Domhoff outlines the national policy planning network through which the big business ruling class dominates urban government Who Really Rules is unique in that it makes possible for the first time a dialogue between pluralist and ruling class views on the basis of studies of the same city by leading exponents of the rival theoretical positions It is original in that it includes much data not revealed by Dahl It presents the methodology of power structure research in the most comprehensive fashion yet attempted and reveals a ruling class network for urban policy planning that has never before been fully articulated

The Meaning Of Social Policy Bernice Q. Madison, 2019-07-16 The purpose of this book is to survey the literature on social welfare policies and planning of different nations in order to explain some of the major problems that are encountered in comparative research and to highlight what has been learned so far

McDonaldization Barry Smart, 1999-04-28 George Ritzer's McDonaldization thesis argued that contemporary life is succumbing to the standardization flexibility and practicability of fast food service This book brings together specially commissioned papers by leading social and cultural analysts to engage in a critical appraisal of the thesis The contributors discuss the roots of the thesis the rationalization of late modern life the effects of increasing cultural commodification the continuing prominence of American cultural and economic imperialism and the impact of globalization on social and cultural life The strengths and weaknesses of the McDonaldization thesis are clearly evaluated and the irrational consequences of rationalization are pinpointed and critically      Operations Management Michael Lewis, Nigel Slack, 2003      Equal

Opportunity and Full Employment: Hearing held in Washington, D.C., February 25, 1975 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Education and Labor. Subcommittee on Equal Opportunities, 1975      Welfare State Futures Giuliano Bonoli, 2001-05-03 The welfare state is in hard times according to today's consensus The deterioration of exceptional economic performance the basis for the Golden Age of welfare capitalism seems irreversible This has slowed down welfare state expansion and radically shifted the ground for discussion on the future of the welfare state This volume takes stock of the state of the welfare state How can we build a theory of the welfare state How did the post World War II welfare state relate to economic development How do welfare states change How did the reforms of pension systems a key welfare state sector develop in OECD countries How did the most developed Nordic welfare state fare How viable are today's advanced welfare states in the international economy How may we recast the European welfare states for the twenty first century

Performing Action Joseph R. Gusfield, 2015-03-31 In recent years the social sciences and the humanities have drawn closer to each other in thought and method This rapprochement has led to new perceptions of human behavior by sociologists as well as new methodological orientations Sociologist Joseph R Gusfield draws upon drama and fiction to show how human action is shaped by the formal dimensions of performance Gusfield first defines the concept of behavior as artistic performance He then analyzes routine and classic social research reports as literary performances in qualitative and quantitative terms Next he moves to social movements and public actions demonstrating how objects and events are products of the interpretation and reflection of individuals He draws upon literary and artistic conventions to deal with issues of representation and meaning In the first and last chapters Gusfield provides a conceptual summary examining the relation between sociology as science and art arguing that sociological methods are neither science nor art but partake of both Following the philosopher Paul Ricoeur Gusfield shows how human behavior can be read as a text always telling the participant or observer something about something Performing Action will be of interest to sociologists psychologists and students of aesthetics and critical theory      Meeting Public Demands, 1988      Public Service Employment
