Serving Children and Families Through Community-University Partnerships Thomas R. Chibucos, Richard M.

Lerner, 2012-12-06 A consistently identified criticism about contemporary higher education is that academia is not playing a visible role in contributing to the improvement of the lives of people in the community as the lives are lived on a day to day basis. However, there has been a long tradition of such Outreach Scholarship in America and this focus is gaining renewed attention at least in part because policy makers and philanthropic organizations are pressing universities and colleges to use their learning resources in ways that more directly benefit society. Universities have listened to and continue to heed such appeals. Serving Children and Families Through Community University Partnerships Success Stories illustrates such work by presenting several dozen exemplary success stories of community university partnerships that serve to enhance the lives of children, youth, and families. These illustrations are drawn from collaborations across the breadth of the nation and reflect the work of many diverse colleges and universities. Moreover, these partnerships involve an array of target audiences ranging across the individual life span from infancy through old age and involving a diverse set of groups and organizations. In addition, this work takes many forms, for example, technical assistance, evaluation, training, program design and delivery, demonstration, or participatory action research and dissemination. The book is useful to two broad audiences: 1. Individuals in and out of academia in decision-making roles that directly impact what gets done or does not get done in colleges and universities; and 2. Persons outside academia who are concerned with creating positive change across a wide range of issues pertinent to the lives of youth, families, and communities. This volume will guide universities and communities to work together to promote positive development in the diverse children, families, and communities of our nation. Serving Children and Families Through Community-University Partnerships Thomas R. University-Community Partnerships Tracy Soska, Alice K. Johnson Butterfield, 2013-05-13 Examine how your university can help solve the complex problems of your community. Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPC) sponsored by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) have identified civic engagement and community partnership as critical themes for higher education. This unique book addresses past, present, and future models of university-community partnerships. COPC programs, wide-ranging social work partnerships that involve teaching, research, and social change, and innovative methods in the processes of civic engagement. The text recognizes the many professions, schools, and higher education institutions that contribute to advancing civic engagement through university-community partnerships. One important contribution this book makes to the literature of civic engagement is that it is the first publication that significantly highlights partnership contributions from schools of social work which are rediscovering their community roots through these initiatives. University Community Partnerships: Universities in Civic Engagement documents how universities are involved in creative individual faculty and program partnerships that help link campus and community partnerships that are
