Serving Physically Disabled People An Information Handbook For All Libraries:

Serving Physically Disabled People Ruth A. Velleman, 1979 Services to the Disabled in ARL Libraries, 1982

Serving the Handicapped in School, Public, and College Libraries, 1981 Serving Physically Disabled People Ruth A. Velleman, 1979 Programs for the Handicapped, 1975 Serving Special Needs Students in the School Library Media Center Margaret Keefe, Robert King, 1995-05-30 School library media specialists are now considered part of the teaching staff and are charged with integrating their library and information skills curriculum with the more general classroom curriculum. At the same time more and more special needs students are part of every school and every classroom. Thus the media specialist must work effectively with special needs students on a regular basis to develop their information skills and must also serve as a resource to classroom teachers. This professional reference offers practical information to school library media specialists on how to serve special needs students and their classroom teachers effectively. The first part of the book highlights the teaching role of the media specialist and discusses how and what to teach special needs students. The second part views the media specialist as an information expert who must structure the library and its resources for students with special needs. The third section treats the media specialist's role as a professional who must collaborate with other teachers.

Jobs for Disabled People, 1982 The Reference Library User William A. Katz, 1990 Provide the best possible service to your library patrons. With a healthy respect for those who seek assistance at the reference desk a group of library and information service specialists examine the public whom they serve. The Reference Library User focuses on the possible interactions between the reference librarian and the library user. The authoritative contributors discuss many problems in the relationship between the public and the library and all offer suggestions that will at least help librarians to better serve the public on a daily basis. A major emphasis of The Reference Library User is on the various populations using the library and their particular needs. For example one chapter examines the information needs of deinstitutionalized patrons and presents methods of providing service and a rationale for community outreach. The state program in Rhode Island is outlined describing efforts to reach community residents through public libraries and the state operated Bookmobile. Other chapters provide strategies for providing reference services to older adults, the learning disabled, the blind and the physically handicapped. This informative new volume also deals with general concerns facing librarians today including determining the audience for both public and academic libraries, educating the user, encouraging nonusers to become library users and calming irate patrons. Reference librarians will be particularly interested in the problems and solutions discussed in this new volume as will library managers and administrators who will always benefit from a fresh perspective on public service for the library user. Rothstein on Reference- with Some Help from Friends Samuel Rothstein, 1989 Now library professionals can enjoy the convenience of having 16 of Sam Rothstein's most memorable papers spanning over three decades all in one lively book. Samuel Rothstein, practitioner, teacher and scholar, has influenced the thinking and practice of more reference librarians.

who are currently practicing than has any other single individual In his honor the editors of Rothstein on Reference not only feature Rothstein s seminal writing but they have also included essays written by Rothstein s colleagues including Charles Curran Robert Hauptman Marilyn Domas White and Mary Biggs that explore important issues confronting reference librarians today Reference librarians and library historians will gain insights into the development of reference service in American libraries the evaluation of reference services the training and education of reference librarians and much more Both beginners and experts in the reference field will find much here for inspiration and enlightenment Personnel Literature ,1980 Housing and Planning References ,1981 Library Services for the Handicapped Adult James L.
