sixth birthday was coming up and he was very excited to start school. He was excited about going to school because he knew it would give him access to a whole new world of information and adventures. He couldn't wait to meet other young animals and tell them what he had found. On the morning of his sixth birthday, Milo woke up with a spring in his step. He knew that today was the first day of his learning adventure. He ran over to his parents, swinging his trunk from side to side with joy. Milo yelled to his parents, "Mama and Daddy, today is my first day of school! I can't wait to learn new things and make new friends." Milo's parents, Mabel and Oliver, were proud of and loved their son. They had watched him grow into a smart and curious young mammoth, so they knew he was ready for this next step in his life. Mabel got down on her knees and gave Milo a soft kiss. "Oh my brave little one, we are so proud of you," she cried. Oliver said in a friendly, deep voice, "You've always been hungry for knowledge, and school will give you even more chances to learn and grow. Milo, you have a special talent. It's great that you can make friends and find beauty in everything. Keep that talent close to your heart and let it shine at your new school." Milo nodded and listened to what they said. He felt surer of himself when he knew his parents loved and supported him. Milo ran to school with a quick breakfast and a bag full of school supplies. He was excited and eager. As Milo walked through the woods, he couldn't help but notice the sights and sounds around him. The bright colors of the flowers, the soft rustling of the leaves in the wind, and the sweet songs of the birds all seemed to celebrate his great day. Squirrels climbing trees and bunnies hopping through fields seemed to know he was happy and waved to him. Their smiles and words of encouragement sparked his drive, and he ran faster. He finally got to the school, which was a beautiful building among the trees. Its wooden building looked warm and inviting, and the sounds of laughter and activity coming from inside made his heart skip a beat. Milo took a big breath, opened the door, and walked in, excited to start his first day of school. Milo, a small mammoth who was friendly and interested, was about to go on a new journey. He wanted to make a difference in the world of education with his love of travel, natural generosity, and never-ending desire to learn. He didn't know that his first day of school would be the start of a great journey full of learning, friendship, and lots of new things. As Milo's first day of school got closer, his mother, Mabel, was both excited and nervous. As she watched her child grow and get better, she saw how curious he was and how much he loved. Mabel knew that school would give Milo a lot of new opportunities, but she couldn't help being worried. As she held Milo tightly, her big tusks lightly touched his fur. "My dear Milo, she smiled, today is a very special day for you. It's your first day of school, and I'm so proud of you." Milo looked up at his mother with big, innocent eyes that were full of joy. "I can't wait, Mama," he told her. "I want to learn, explore, and make new friends." The little girl's words filled Mabel's heart with love. Milo would benefit from being excited, but she couldn't get her mind off of her worries. Milo is a young mammoth, but even for him, the world can be a big and strange place. She said it softly as she moved a few strands of hair out of his face. "Milo, my dear, remember to be brave and kind. School is a place where you'll meet new friends and learn new things. But if you ever feel unsure or scared, I know that Mama and Papa are always here for you." Milo nodded, his trunk wiggling with determination. "I'll remember, Mama. I

Story Begins

Once upon a time In a far off land where the sun always shone and the breeze was always warm there lived a tribe of creatures called the Mammoths These were gentle giants who roamed the verdant forests that surrounded their home in search of food and play They were proud and majestic creatures with long tusks that curved up towards the sky and thick shaggy fur that protected them from the elements The Mammoths were a peaceful tribe and they lived in harmony with all the other creatures in the forest They were known for their kindness and their generosity and many of the smaller creatures in the forest looked up to them as protectors and friends The Mammoths had a deep connection to nature and the world around them They knew every inch of the forest and could navigate through it with ease using their keen sense of smell and their powerful memories They understood the seasons and the cycles of nature and they lived in balance with the land taking only what they needed and giving back what they could Despite their size and strength the Mammoths were not invincible They faced challenges and dangers in their world just like any other creature There were predators in the forest who saw the Mammoths as a source of food There were harsh winters where food and water were scarce and the Mammoths had to rely on their instincts and their resilience to survive But the Mammoths were not afraid of these challenges They faced them head on with bravery and courage They had a deep sense of community and they looked out for each other sharing food and resources when times were tough They knew that they were stronger together than they were alone and they worked as a team to overcome any obstacle One of the greatest challenges that the Mammoths faced was the encroachment of humans on their land As humans began to settle in the nearby valleys they started to clear the forests destroying the Mammoths natural habitat The Mammoths watched with sadness as their home was destroyed and they knew that they had to do something to protect themselves and their land The Mammoths organized themselves into a council with the wisest and most experienced among them leading the way They decided that they needed to take action to stop the humans from destroying their home They began to reach out to other creatures in the forest forming alliances and building coalitions Together the Mammoths and their allies worked to raise awareness about the destruction of the forest They talked to the humans trying to reason with them and persuade them to stop cutting down the trees They organized protests and demonstrations trying to get the attention of the wider world and bring pressure to bear on humans The Mammoths knew that they faced an uphill battle but they were determined to protect their home They knew that the forest was not just their home but the home of countless other creatures as well and they felt a deep responsibility to protect it As time went on the Mammoths and their allies began to make progress They convinced some of the humans to stop cutting down the trees and they worked with others to create protected areas within the forest They continued to raise awareness and to fight for their cause even in the face of resistance and opposition Eventually the humans began to see the error of their ways They realized that they had been destroying something precious and irreplaceable and they started to work with the Mammoths and their allies to protect the forest They set up conservation programs and reforestation projects and they started to work towards a future where humans and nature could coexist in harmony The Mammoths watched with pride as their home was restored and protected They knew that their efforts had made a difference and they felt a deep sense of satisfaction and gratitude They had worked tirelessly to protect their home and their hard work had paid off Over time the Mammoths became known as champions of the forest They were respected and admired by all the creatures in the forest who saw them as symbols of strength and determination They continued to live in harmony with nature cherishing the land that they had fought so hard to protect Despite the challenges that they had faced the Mammoths remained optimistic about the future They knew that there would always be challenges and obstacles to overcome but they felt confident in their ability to face them with bravery and resilience The Mammoths were used to spending their days playing and having fun in the forest They would roam around grazing on the lush greenery splashing in the streams and playing games with each other They enjoyed the simple pleasures of life and never worried about the future But one day something unusual happened The sky which was always blue and clear began to change It started with a faint haze which gradually grew thicker and darker The Mammoths who were playing a game of tag paused to look up at the sky They saw a huge ominous cloud moving towards them covering the sun and casting a deep shadow over the forest The Mammoths were confused and frightened They had never seen anything like this before and didn't know what to make of it They looked at each other wondering if they should run or hide but they could not move The sky continued to darken and the cloud grew closer and larger The Mammoths could hear strange rumbling sounds coming from the cloud and they felt the ground shaking beneath their feet Suddenly the cloud burst open and a fierce storm descended upon the forest The wind howled the rain poured down in sheets and lightning flashed across the sky The Mammoths huddled together trying to find shelter from the storm but there was none

Middle School Journal ,1980      The Publishers Weekly ,1994      The Mammoth Who Loved to Paint AQEEL AHMED,2024-04-13

The Mammoth Who Loved to Paint Summary The Mammoth Who Loved to Paint a cute children's book is about a young mammoth named Marvin who feels alone in a world that values toughness and power more than anything else Marvin like the other mammoths in his group finds that he is very good at painting This makes him happy and makes him stand out At the start of the story Marvin's big clumsy feet break some bright berries in the forest He is drawn to a rock with a bright stain from berries that have been crushed He makes his first painting by spreading the colors with his tail For Marvin this is both an exciting and scary time of discovery because he thinks his friends might not be as excited about art as he is When

Marvin meets Ellie a fellow giant who hides her love of music he keeps exploring his gift behind closed doors They become close friends because they help each other out and like the same things Because of their friendship which gets stronger over time Marvin finally gets up the nerve to show his art to the cattle The story ends with the Full Moon Gathering a party where the whole community comes together Marvin chooses to show the herd his art after Ellie tells him to do so He paints a big bright picture at the party while Ellie plays a nice song that goes well with his work The herd is shocked at first but after being moved by Marvin s painting s beauty and emotion they start to show their support and thanks for each other right away The story ends when Marvin s gift is accepted and enjoyed by the group Marvin and Ellie did a great job and were brave The old giant tells them that sharing and appreciating their unique gifts makes them very strong Other mammoths are inspired by Marvin to show off their own hidden skills which improves the cultural life of the group The Mammoth Who Loved to Paint is a story about friendship making friends and finding out who you are It teaches young readers how important it is to be yourself have a range of interests and follow your dreams Marvin s journey from being alone and scared to being accepted and involved in his community is a powerful reminder that everyone has something special to offer no matter how strange they may seem Chapter 1 Marvin s Discovery of Color Marvin was different from the other young mammoths in his group Littler and nicer he seemed to be more interested in everything around him Marvin got lost from his group one bright and sunny morning because he was curious and liked to try new things Birds singing and leaves rustling were the only sounds you could hear in the woods He looked around some more and found a bush that stood out from the rest It was covered in bright red berries that looked so good As an interested mammoth Marvin had to touch the strange nuts He reached out and gave one a soft touch with his trunk He was shocked when it blew up and bright red juice flew everywhere it touched The juice had made a pretty colorful line on the gray rock next to the plant Marvin was stunned by the beautiful show of colors It looks like he found a valuable secret inside the common red fruit in there After making this wonderful find Marvin had to touch more berries This time he swept his big soft tail through the plants The red on the rock turned blue yellow and green as more berries popped under light pressure When the colors got close together they mixed to make new colors like orange purple and blue He swung his tail back and forth painting the nature scene with each stroke Marvin was amazed Marvin learned how much he liked the colors when he used the berries to paint They were very different from the duller colors of the mammoth group and the normal browns and grays of the forest His heart was drawn to the bright colors that sparkled in the sun Marvin thought Marvin was interested so he kept trying new things He squished a lot of berries together to make new colors He found that some of the berries turned into a happy bright orange while others turned into a deep rich purple Marvin was thrilled every time he found a new color Marvin got lost in the berries and forgot how much time had passed As the sun moved across the sky it brought out the beauty of his rock art The colors sparkled in the warm afternoon sun and Marvin was so happy that he had turned some ordinary berries from the trees into something so beautiful

Marvin thought this was a turning point He had a hidden love for painting and colors that came easily to him like how he naturally swung his trunk and blew trumpets There was however a hint of uneasiness How did those around it see it Instead of being creative and coming up with new ideas they valued being big and strong Even though Marvin knew his new love was special it brought him a lot of happiness He was scared but Marvin decided he couldn t give up drawing which he had recently become very interested in He couldn t have ignored the colors or how much happiness they gave him He made up his mind to come back to this spot with the bright berries and keep painting whenever he could get away from the crowd When Marvin went back to see his family that day he felt good inside and his steps were easy He began to understand a very important truth about himself as he discovered the joys of color and art He learned that it was okay to be different and that being interested and willing to try new things can sometimes lead to amazing finds Even though Marvin was small he had a big heart and an even bigger love for painting He had a lot of good days ahead of him after this trip Each color he made was a step toward accepting himself and each flick of his tail across the stones in the forest was a step toward living out his unique fate Chapter 2 The First Wisp Marvin was a big creative young man who was always coming up with new ideas Having fun with berries in the woods had made him love colors and he couldn t wait to try something even better He found a big flat rock that looked like it would be great for his first piece of art Marvin went up to the rock with interest and purpose and the berries were still dripping down his tail As Marvin stood in front of the rock he dug his tail into a new spot of broken berries Then he started painting very slowly and without much care With such ease his tail moved across the rock s surface leaving behind beautiful color streaks With each stroke he drew wavy lines that moved across the rock like bright rivers Bright blue streaks and bright yellow made a green that looked like it sparkled in the sun As the color changed from red to purple Marvin thought of the flowers that bloomed for a short time in the spring A small bird had flown down to check things out but Marvin was drawing and didn t see it The bright colors on the rock caught the bird s eye and it moved quickly toward it It got closer when it saw a mammoth using its tail as a brush With a curious chirp the bird turned its head to the side to look at Marvin s picture It asked What are you doing Marvin stopped and his tail was an array of colors He turned around and saw a small bird watching him Marvin excited to have an audience said I m painting I found these berries and saw that they could make beautiful colors so I decided to use them to make something special The bird hopped closer its little beak opening a little in surprise
