The Use of Speech Nathalie Sarraute,2010 Fiction Translated from the French by Barbara Wright In this classic later work from French novelist Nathalie Sarraute one finds a delectably austere beady eyed book Phrases that give rise to the scenes or episodes are ordinary enough until Sarraute imagines for them a context which turns them from bland civilities into weapons of psychological warfare Friends meet and converse in a cafe or in the street and are all sociability except underneath where the best of friends can be the most savage of opponents Sarraute resorts sardonically to metaphor to indicate what words will not capture the shameful and ineffable animosities that imperil our urbanity The Times Literary Supplement

Tropisms Nathalie Sarraute,2015-11-09 Nathalie Sarraute s stunning debut vignettes of inner movements foreshadowed the rise of the nouveau roman Hailed as a masterpiece by Jean Genet Marguerite Duras and Jean Paul Sartre Tropisms is considered one of the defining texts of the nouveau roman movement Nathalie Sarraute has defined her work as the movements that are hidden under the commonplace harmless instances of our everyday lives Like figures in a grainy photograph Sarraute s characters are blurred and shadowy while her narrative never develops beyond a stressed moment Instead Sarraute brilliantly finds and elaborates subtle details when a relationship changes when we fall slightly deeper into love or when something innocent tilts to the smallest degree toward suspicion Nathalie Sarraute

Nathalie Sarraute, Childhood Nathalie Sarraute,2022-12-22 As one of the leading proponents of the nouveau roman

Nathalie Sarraute is often remembered for her novels including The Golden Fruits which earned her the Prix international de littérature in 1964 But her carefully crafted and evocative memoir Childhood may in fact be Sarraute's most accessible and emotionally open work Written when the author was eighty three years old but dealing with only the first twelve years of her life Childhood is constructed as a dialogue between Sarraute and her memory Sarraute gently interrogates her interlocutor in search of her own intentions more precise accuracy and indeed the truth Her relationships with her mother in Russia and her stepmother in Paris are especially heartbreaking long gone actions are prodded and poked at by Sarraute until they yield some semblance of fact imbuing these maternalistic interactions with new deeper meaning Each vignette is bristling with detail and shows the power of memory through prose by turns funny sad and poetic Capturing the ambience of Paris and Russia in the earliest part of the twentieth century while never giving up the lyrical style of Sarraute's novels this book has much to offer both memoir enthusiasts and fiction lovers

The Planetarium Nathalie Sarraute, 2023-01-31 A young writer has his heart set on his aunt's large apartment With this seemingly simple conceit the characters of The Planetarium are set in orbit and a galaxy of argument resentment and bitterness erupts Telling the story from various points of view Sarraute focuses below the surface on the emotional lives of the characters in a way that surpasses even Virginia Woolf Always deeply engaging The Planetarium reveals the deep disparity between the way we see ourselves and the way others see us

Autobiographical Tightropes Leah D. Hewitt, 1990-01-01 In order to write said Simone de Beauvoir the first essential condition is that reality can no longer be taken for granted She and four other French women writers of the second half of the twentieth century Nathalie Sarraute Marguerite Duras Monique Wittig and Maryse Condé illustrate that producing autobiography is like performing a tightrope act on the slippery line between fact and fiction Autobiographical Tightropes emphasizes the tension in the works of these major writers as they move in and out of experience and literature violating the neat boundaries between genres and confusing the distinctions between remembering and creating Focusing on selected works Leah D Hewitt for the first time anywhere explores the connections among the authors In doing so she shows how contemporary women's autobiography in France links with feminist issues literary tradition and trends and postmodern theories of writing In light of these theories Hewitt offers a new reading of de Beauvoir's memoirs and reveals how her attempt to represent the past faithfully is undone by irony by literary and feminine detours Other analysts of Nathalie Sarraute's writing have dwelt mainly on formal considerations of the New Novel but Hewitt exposes a repressed forbidden feminine aspect in her literary innovations Unlike Sarraute Duras cannot be connected with just one literary movement political stance style or kind of feminism because her writing largely autobiographical is marked by chameleon like transformations The chapters on Wittig and Condé show how within the bounds of feminism lesbians and women of color challenge the individualistic premises of autobiography Hewitt demonstrates that despite vast differences among these five writers all of them reveal in their autobiographical works the self's need of a fictive other
