components closing open constraints and balancing competing value premises The author finds that decision makers are unlikely to generate many alternatives since searching for existing solutions elsewhere or inventing new ones is an expensive difficult enterprise Choice is usually a matter of accepting rejecting or modifying a single solution Because time constraints force decisions before problems are well structured errors are frequently made problem components are at best only partially addressed and the chosen solution may not solve the problem at all and even if it does is likely to generate unanticipated side effects that worsen other problem components In its definitive treatment of a critical but hitherto entirely unresearched dimension of the administration of the U S Navy the book provides full details over time concerning the elaboration of officer grades and titles creation of promotion by selection sea duty requirements graded retirement staff line conflicts the establishment of the Reserve and such unusual subjects as tombstone promotions In the process it transcends the specifics of the personnel system to give a broad picture of the Navy s history over the first century and a half of its development
