National Geographic New Chimpanzees 1995:

Shooting in the Wild Chris Palmer, 2010-05-11 Wildlife and nature films are a hugely popular entertainment genre networks such as Animal Planet and Discovery are stars in the cable television universe viewers flock to IMAX theaters to see jaw dropping footage from the wild and the venerable BBC still scores triumphs with series such as Planet Earth As cinematic technology brings ever more breathtaking images to the screen and as our direct contact with nature diminishes an ever expanding audience craves the indirect experience of wild nature that these films provide But this success has a dark side as Chris Palmer reveals in his authoritative and engrossing report on the wildlife film business A veteran producer and film educator Palmer looks past the headlines about TV host Steve Irwin s death by stingray and filmmaker Timothy Treadwell falling prey to his beloved grizzlies to uncover a more pervasive and troubling trend toward sensationalism extreme risk taking and even abuse in wildlife films He tracks the roots of this trend to the early days of the genre and he profiles a new breed of skilled ethical filmmakers whose work enlightens as well as entertains and who represent the future that Palmer envisions for the industry he loves The First Idea Stanley I Greenspan, Stuart Shanker, 2004-08-03 A radical and brilliantly argued new theory about the fundamental origins of human intelligence culture and society Chimpanzees Rebecca Steffoff, 2004 Discusses the evolution biology life cycle and social and mating and behavior of chimpanzees Wildlife Films Derek Bousé, 2011-11-29 If as many argue movies and television have become Western culture s premier storytelling media so too have they become for most members of society the primary source of encounters with the natural world particularly wild animals The television fare offered nightly by national and cable networks such as PBS and the Discovery Channel provides millions of viewers with their only experience of the wilderness and its inhabitants The very films that so many viewers take as accurate portrayals of wildlife however have evolved primarily as a form of entertainment following the established codes and conventions of narrative exposition The result has been not the representation of nature but its wholesale reconstruction and reconfiguration according to film and television conventions audience expectations and the demands of competition in the media marketplace Wildlife Films traces the genealogy of the nature film from its origins as the animal locomotion studies that mark the very beginnings of motion pictures themselves to the founding of the Animal Planet cable channel that boasts all animals all the time The narrative and thematic elements that unite wildlife films as a genre have their roots not in the documentary film tradition but in the older traditions of oral and written animal fables as reflections of human society Derek Bous contends that classic wildlife films often portray animal protagonists living in families modeled on an ideal of the human nuclear family and working in communities that resemble an ideal of bucolic human society In these stories presented as documentaries animals are motivated by human emotions and conduct relationships according to human customs This imposition of culturally satisfying narrative patterns upon the lives of animals has not only led to the misrepresentation of the natural world it has promoted the notion that our values our moral vision our models of society and family structure derive from nature rather than being cultural formations      Human Morality and Sociality Henrik Hogh-Olesen, Christophe Boesch, Leda Cosmides, 2009-12-09 Human nature is enigmatic Are we cruel selfish creatures or good merciful Samaritans This book takes you on a journey into the complexities of human mind and kind from altruism sharing and large scale cooperation to cheating distrust and warfare What are the building blocks of morality and sociality Featuring contributions from leading researchers such as Christophe Boesch Leda Cosmides and John Tooby Azar Gat Dennis Krebs Ara Norenzayan and Frans B M de Waal this fascinating interdisciplinary reader draws on evolutionary and comparative perspectives and is essential reading for any students interested in the unique characteristics that define humanity and society      Primates John P.
