The Multinational Corporation and the National Interest Robert Gilpin, 1973      Multinationals and the National Interest United States. Congress. Office of Technology Assessment, 1993      Global Trade and Conflicting National Interests Ralph E. Gomory, William J. Baumol, 2001-01-16 Ralph Gomory and William Baumol adapt classical trade models to the modern world economy In this book Ralph Gomory and William Baumol adapt classical trade models to the modern world economy Trade today is dominated by manufactured goods rapidly moving technology and huge firms that benefit from economies of scale This is very different from the largely agricultural world in which the classical theories originated Gomory and Baumol show that the new and significant conflicts resulting from international trade are inherent in modern economies Today improvement in one country's productive capabilities is often attainable only at the expense of another country's general welfare The authors describe why and when this is so and why in a modern free trade environment a country might have a vital stake in the competitive strength of its industries      National Interest and International Aviation Erwin von den Steinen, 2006-01-01 Many of the problems and opportunities facing society today are determined by issues of mobility Access to people products information and resources has emerged as a priority in the foreign policies of most states Inevitably considerations of national interest have played a central role in the structure and operations of the international aviation system Meanwhile air transport has been a catalyst for the phenomenon of globalization This first in depth exploration of the vital relationship between aviation policy and national interest in today's global economy focuses on those areas of concern where the international community has common ground or where conflicts of interest are most likely to arise Revealing deeply informed perspectives gained from decades of distinguished public service in many areas of aviation policy Erwin von den Steinen reviews the rules that govern the conduct of commercial air services between nations and considers the prospects of aviation in the 21st Century He explains how timely understanding of national interest can provide a context for global and local policy to connect and why the international aviation system is vital for the peaceful and sustainable development of modern states and societies With such insights and powerful practical recommendations von den Steinens analysis will be of enormous value to those concerned with air transport from technical research and design to the highest levels of government as well as to lawyers and academics in international law and relations and a tour of the major issues in international aviation law and policy under the guidance of an authentic homme engageand Ultimately this book is the work of someone who deeply appreciates the aviation industry both at its technical level that of its often frustrating machinations of law and policy and also at the emotional level of a special business that exemplifies freedom and imagination like few others do and Brian F Havel and The Introduction has one of the best free flowing leads to a book detailing the politics of aviation and diplomacy I have come acrossand I commend this book to lawyers diplomats and students of aero politics and lawand I would prescribe this book to my graduate students as compulsory reading for their course in Aero political and legal

Environment and Dr Ruwantissa Abeyratne "Who is Us?"--national Interests in an Age of Global Industry United States. Congress. Joint Economic Committee,1991 The National Security Implications on Multinational Corporations Phillip D. Engle,1973 The basic problem is the identification and assessment of factors pertinent to the multinational corporation MNC which may influence the national security of the US over the next few years Literature search constitutes the principal technique for data and information collection Major factors and trends that identify the explosive growth of the multinational have been examined Modified author abstract National Interest Organizations in the EU Multilevel System Rainer Eising, Daniel Rasch, Patrycja Rozbicka, 2020-05-21 Political scientists have always accorded interest organizations a prominent place in European Union EU policy making because they connect the EU institutions to citizens provide important information to EU policy makers and control resources that impact on the problem solving capacity of EU policies In other words they are vital to both the input legitimacy and the output legitimacy of the EU So far research on interest organizations in EU policy making has concentrated on EU level interest organizations and EU level politics This edited book draws attention to the role national interest organizations play in the EU multilevel system All contributions present state of the art research on that subject in the form of theory driven empirical analyses Chapters 8 and 9 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at http www taylorfrancis com under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license The International Economy and the National Interest Irvin Millman Grossack,1979 Defining the National Interest Peter Trubowitz,1998-02-17 The United States has been marked by a highly politicized and divisive history of foreign policy making Why do the nation s leaders find it so difficult to define the national interest Peter Trubowitz offers a new and compelling conception of American foreign policy and the domestic geopolitical forces that shape and animate it Foreign policy conflict he argues is grounded in America s regional diversity The uneven nature of America s integration into the world economy has made regionalism a potent force shaping fights over the national interest As Trubowitz shows politicians from different parts of the country have consistently sought to equate their region s interests with that of the nation Domestic conflict over how to define the national interest is the result Challenging dominant accounts of American foreign policy making Defining the National Interest exemplifies how interdisciplinary scholarship can yield a deeper understanding of the connections between domestic and international change in an era of globalization Conflict and Cooperation in National Competition for High-Technology Industry Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy, Hamburg Institute for Economic Research, Kiel Institute for World Economics, National Research Council, 1996-10-29 This unique volume contains a powerful set of recommendations on issues at the center of international discussions on investment trade and technology policy They take into account the globalization of industrial activity and the special characteristics of high technology industries while recognizing the continued policy role of national governments The book identifies the rationale for promotional measures for high technology industries delineates

sources of friction among the leading industrial countries and proposes policies to enhance international cooperation and strengthen the multilateral trading regime This volume also examines the factors driving collaboration among otherwise competing firms and national programs highlights the need to develop principles of equitable public and private international cooperation and emphasizes the linkage between investment government procurement and other trade policies and prospects for enhanced international cooperation

Subcommittee on Panama Canal, 1978      Multinationals, Subsidiaries and National Business Systems Pal Thonstad Sandvik, 2015-10-06 Scholarly attention has tended to focus on the owners and management of the multinationals but when the focus is changed to that of subsidiaries, different aspects of business development and international capitalism come to light. Sandvik's study looks at the Falconbridge nickel refinery in Kristiansand, Norway      Biotechnology Operations John M. Centanni, Michael J. Roy, 2016-09-19 This book describes seven areas in the field of biotechnology operations as practiced by biopharmaceutical firms and nonprofit institutions. Revisions focus upon changes that have occurred in several areas over the past six years, with emphasis on regulatory, biomanufacturing, clinical, and technical information, along with processes and guidelines that have added to the discipline. Examples are increased for new technical fields such as cell and tissue engineering. Further illustrations or figures are added to each chapter to emphasize particular points.
