Propaganda and the Cold War John Boardman Whitton,1963 Propaganda and the Cold War John Boardman Whitton,Princeton University,1963 SCOTT Copy 1 From the John Holmes Library Collection Propaganda and the Cold War. A Princeton University Symposium. [By Various Authors.] Edited by John Boardman Whitton John Boardman WHITTON,1963 Britain, America and Anti-Communist Propaganda 1945-53 Andrew Defty,2013-12-02 In the Cold War battle for hearts and minds Britain was the first country to formulate a coordinated global response to communist propaganda In January 1948 the British government launched a new propaganda policy designed to oppose the inroads of communism by taking the offensive against it A small section in the Foreign Office the innocuously titled Information Research Department IRD was established to collate information on communist policy tactics and propaganda and coordinate the discreet dissemination of counter propaganda to opinion formers at home and abroad Radio Diplomacy and Propaganda Gary D. Rawnsley,2016-07-27 Radio Diplomacy and Propaganda investigates the role of international radio broadcasting in diplomacy during the Cold War period and in particular the contribution of the BBC and the Voice of America in the construction and projection of foreign policy together with their role in the dissemination of international propaganda In addition the radio broadcasts which were monitored in Britain and the US are scrutinized to ascertain how they contributed to the formulation of foreign policy objectives and reactionary propaganda War of the Black Heavens Michael Nelson,1997-12-01 International diplomacy and a changing global economy did not bring about the fall of the Iron Curtain Radio did and it was mightier than the sword Based on first hand interviews and documents from the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party Michael Nelson shows that Western radio principally the British Broadcasting Corporation Radio Free Europe Radio Liberty and the Voice of America were unrivaled forces in the fight against communism and the fall of the Iron Curtain The Communists did everything in their power to prevent the infiltration of Western thought into their world resorting to jamming radio signals assassinating staff and bombing stations The Russians for example decided to stop the mass production of short wave radios so that their citizens could not hear Western broadcasts War of the Black Heavens reveals that due to administrative incompetence short wave radio production continued making worthless many of the billions of dollars spent on jamming These radio programs introduced a forbidden exciting culture to millions of eager listeners Pop music talk shows news and information about consumer goods all relayed a message of the good life subtly undermining the values of the communist regimes Western radio actively connected listeners with the cultures of Europe and North America War of the Black Heavens describes an unheralded story of success and adds a new interpretation that helps us understand some of the most momentous political events of this century Cinema and the Cultural Cold War Sangjoon Lee,2020-12-15 Cinema and the Cultural Cold War explores the ways in which postwar Asian cinema was shaped by transnational collaborations and competitions between newly independent and colonial states at the height of Cold

War politics Sangjoon Lee adopts a simultaneously global and regional approach when analyzing the region's film cultures and industries. New economic conditions in the Asian region and shared postwar experiences among the early cinema entrepreneurs were influenced by Cold War politics. US cultural diplomacy and intensified cultural flows during the 1950s and 1960s. By taking a closer look at the cultural realities of this tumultuous period, Lee comprehensively reconstructs Asian film history in light of the international relationships forged, broken, and re-established as the influence of the non-aligned movement grew across the Cold War. Lee elucidates how motion picture executives, creative personnel, policy makers, and intellectuals in East and Southeast Asia aspired to industrialize their Hollywood-inspired system in order to expand the market and raise the competitiveness of their cultural products. They did this by forming the Federation of Motion Picture Producers in Asia, co-hosting the Asian Film Festival, and co-producing films. Cinema and the Cultural Cold War demonstrates that the emergence of the first intensive postwar film producers network in Asia was in large part the offspring of Cold War cultural politics and the product of American hegemony. Film festivals that took place in cities as diverse as Tokyo, Singapore, Hong Kong, and Kuala Lumpur were annual showcases of cinematic talent as well as opportunities for the Central Intelligence Agency to establish and maintain cultural, political, and institutional linkages between the United States and Asia during the Cold War. Cinema and the Cultural Cold War reanimates this almost forgotten history of cinema and the film industry in Asia.

Western Intellectuals and the Soviet Union, 1920-40 Ludmila Stern, 2006-10-17. Despite the appalling record of the Soviet Union on human rights questions, many western intellectuals with otherwise impeccable liberal credentials were strong supporters of the Soviet Union in the interwar period. This book explores how this seemingly impossible situation came about. Focusing in particular on the work of various official and semi-official bodies including Comintern, the International Association of Revolutionary Writers, the All Union Society for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries, and the Foreign Commission of the Soviet Writers Union, this book shows how cultural propaganda was always a high priority for the Soviet Union and how successful this cultural propaganda was in seducing so many Western thinkers. Explaining the History of American Foreign Relations Michael J. Hogan, Thomas G. Paterson, 2004-01-19. Originally published in 1991, Explaining the History of American Foreign Relations has become an indispensable volume not only for teachers and students in international history and political science but also for general readers seeking an introduction to American diplomatic history. This collection of essays highlights a variety of newer, innovative and stimulating conceptual approaches and analytical methods used to study the history of American foreign relations, including bureaucratic dependency and world systems theories, corporatist and national security models, psychology, culture, and ideology. Along with substantially revised essays from the first edition, this volume presents entirely new material on postcolonial theory, borderlands history, modernization theory, gender, race, memory, cultural transfer, and critical theory. The book seeks to define the study of American international history, stimulate research in fresh directions, and encourage cross-disciplinary thinking, especially between diplomatic history and other fields of American history in an increasingly transnational globalizing world

People's Diplomacy of Vietnam Harish C. Mehta, 2019-08-20 This is the first full length book on the concept of People s Diplomacy promoted by the president of North Vietnam Ho Chi Minh at the peak of the Vietnam War from 1965 1972 It holds great appeal for historians international relations scholars diplomats and the general reader interested in Vietnam A form of informal diplomacy people s diplomacy was carried out by ordinary Vietnamese including writers cartoonists workers women students filmmakers medical doctors academics and sportspersons They created an awareness of the American bombardment of innocent Vietnamese civilians and made profound connections with the anti war movements abroad People s diplomacy made it difficult for the United States to prolong the war because the North Vietnamese together with the peace movements abroad exerted popular pressure on the American presidents Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon to end the conflict It was much more effective than the formal North Vietnamese diplomacy in gaining the support of Westerners who were averse to communism It damaged the reputation of the United States by casting North Vietnam as a victim of American imperialism
