the writing of four great American writers of place Barry Lopez Peter Matthiessen Terry Tempest Williams and James Galvin In their work and its relationship with their home places Tredinnick an Australian writer searches for answers to such questions such as whether it is possible for a writer to make an authentic witness of a place how one captures the landscape as it truly is and how one joins the place in witness so that its lyric becomes one's own and enters into one's own work He asks what it might mean to enact an ecological imagination of the world and whether it might be possible to see the work and the writer as part of the place itself The work is a meditation on the nature of landscape and its power to shape the lives and syntax of men and women It is animated by the author's encounters with Lopez Matthiessen Williams and Galvin by critical readings of their work and by the author's engagement with the landscapes that have shaped these writers and their writing the Cascades Long Island the Colorado Plateau and the high prairies of the Rocky Mountains Tredinnick seeks the spring of nature writing deep in the nature of a place itself carried in a writer's wild self inside and resonated over and over again at the desk until it is a work in which the place itself sings The South by Its Photographers ,1996 Photographic images by forty eight of the South's best photographers Billy Watson's Croker Sack Franklin Burroughs,1998-02-01 In South Carolina a croker sack is any big cloth sack When opened it sometimes reveals more than expected as do these deceptively simple narratives about fishing trips flora and fauna and memories of the past Observing a snapping turtle recounting the old age and death of a hunting dog or talking with neighbors who shot a moose and hung it in their garage Franklin Burroughs reflects on how human and natural histories interconnect His writing is clear and still as a pond and his distinctive and evocative voice resonates through the details South Carolina's Lowcountry Anthony Chibbaro,1999-09 Known for its unique beauty and complex history South Carolina's Lowcountry is one of the South's and the country's most fascinating regions A wonderful blend of picturesque coastlines expansive marshes mysterious swamps and verdant landscapes the Lowcountry has played a vital role in our nation's history from its importance as a port in colonial times to its strategic location during the American Revolution to its most famous landmark Fort Sumter the incendiary starting point of the Confederacy's struggle for secession In this volume you will explore this region as never before through a rare collection of stereoscopic images Also called stereoviews these twin images were made by an early photographic technique which allowed the viewer to experience a vibrant and intriguing three dimensional effect South Carolina's Lowcountry has reproduced one side of each stereoscopic pair in order to facilitate an easier reading and viewing experience which will allow you to take a visual journey through the defenses of Forts Sumter and Moultrie to see both Confederate and Union soldiers posing in their camps by cannon and upon ironclads to walk through the rubble of a war torn Charleston and then observe the dramatic changes of the cityscapes in both the Holy City and Beaufort by the turn of the century to stroll down a plantation's traditional avenue of live oaks under the peaceful sway of Spanish moss and to meet a variety of Lowcountry inhabitants at their homes and at work
