Writing Vietnam, Writing Life Tobey C. Herzog, 2009-05 Phillip Caputo Larry Heinemann Tim O'Brien and Robert Olen Butler four young midwestern Americans coming of age during the 1960s who faced a difficult personal decision whether or not to fight in Vietnam. Each chose to participate. After coming home, these four veterans became prizewinning authors, telling the war stories and life stories of soldiers and civilians. The four extended conversations included in Writing Vietnam, Writing Life feature revealing personal stories alongside candid assessments of each author's distinct roles as son, soldier, writer, and teacher of creative writing. As Tobey Herzog's thoughtful interviews reveal, these soldier authors have diverse upbringings, values, interests, writing careers, life experiences, and literary voices. They hold wide-ranging views on, among other things, fatherhood, war, the military, religion, the creative process, the current state of the world, and the nature of both physical and moral courage. For each author, the conversation and richly annotated chronology provide an overview of the writer's life, the intersection of memory and imagination in his writing, and the path of his literary career. Together, these four life stories also offer mini tableaux of the fascinating and troubling time of the 1960s and 1970s in America. Above all, the conversations reveal that each author is linked forever to the Vietnam War, the country of Vietnam, and its people.

Conversations with American Novelists Kay Bonetti, 1997 Readers of fine novels cherish the opportunity to hear their favorite novelists speak directly without commentary or interpretation about how their lives and concerns drive their fiction writing. For twenty years, The Missouri Review has brought these readers some of the most compelling and thought-provoking literary interviews in print. In this collection of fifteen in-depth interviews with contemporary novelists, the authors discuss the style and themes of their work, their writing habits, their cultural and social backgrounds, and larger aesthetic issues with refreshing insight about themselves and their art. Originally conducted for the American Audio Prose Library, the interviews were then edited for publication in The Missouri Review. Here they are reproduced with an introduction and with a brief biographical and bibliographical headnote for each writer. These candid interviews with some of our favorite novelists are sure to delight all readers.
