Dictionary of American Religious Biography Henry W. Bowden, 1993-04-13 The first edition of this award winning reference published in 1977 contained 425 biographical profiles of the most significant American religious figures This new edition includes profiles for 125 additional people and the earlier biographical sketches have been revised and updated The volume includes religious leaders who died before July 1 1992 Among its pages are entries for reformers philosophers social activists doers and dreamers While many of the people are mainstream white ordained clergymen many more stand outside traditional denominations and reflect the cultural and religious diversity of modern America. The result is a systematic overview of 400 years of American religion from the colonial period to the present day. Each profile begins with a capsule summary of the chief events in that person's life. The biographical essay that follows places the basic facts of the figure's life within the larger context of American religious history. A bibliography of the most significant works by and about the figure concludes each entry. Appendices at the end of the work categorize each individual by religious denomination and by place of birth.

Religious Higher Education in the United States Thomas Hunt, James Carper, 2018-10-11 Originally published in 1996 Religious Higher Education in the United States looks at the issue of higher education and a lack of a clearly articulated purpose an issue particularly challenging to religiously affiliated institutions. This volume attempts to address the problems currently facing denomination affiliated institutions of higher education beginning with an introduction to government aid and the regulation of religious colleges and universities in the US. The greater part of the volume consists of 24 chapters each of which begins with a historical essay followed by annotated bibliographical entries covering primary and secondary sources dating back to 1986 on various denomination connected institutions.

Roly Ruth C.L. Gritsch, 1988 From New Haven to Nineveh and Beyond Benjamin Foster, 2023-09-01 Over the course of three centuries Yale has been actively and seriously engaged in Near Eastern learning in both senses of the term training students in the knowledge and skills needed to understand the languages and civilizations of the region and supporting generations of scholars renowned for their erudition and pathbreaking research. This book traces the history of these endeavors through extensive use of unpublished archival materials including letters diaries and records of institutional decisions. Developments at Yale are set against the wider background of changing American attitudes toward the Near East as well as evolving ideas about the role of the academy and its curriculum in educating undergraduate and graduate students. In the case of the Near East this also involves considering how several of its disciplines made the transition from biblically motivated enterprises to secular fields of study. Yale has notable firsts to her credit the first American professional program in Arabic and Sanskrit the first American learned society and periodical devoted to Oriental subjects the first American research institutes in Jerusalem and Baghdad the first American university to have endowed funds to establish and curate one of the world's largest collections of cuneiform tablets and cylinder seals. Yet at the same time especially over the past half century Yale has found it challenging to deal administratively with a small humanities department whose standards and philosophy of teaching and learning seemed increasingly at odds with trends in the university as a whole. This book places these tensions in the context of Yale's responses to post World War 2 interest in the modern Middle East the rise of government supported area studies and the consequences of American military actions in Iraq and Afghanistan. Numerous illustrations many of them previously unpublished and drawn from a wide range of source material round out the portrait of three centuries of Near Eastern learning at Yale.
