Frankel, 2007-04-11 From the New York Times bestselling author of Nice Girls Don't Get the Corner Office a guide for women to find their innate leadership skills and use a leadership approach to be more confident and comfortable in all areas of their lives The workplace is changing From the boardrooms to non profit organizations to the military the typical male management style is now obsolete There is a new generation of employees who reject hierarchical leadership and respond to the behaviors and characteristics that women traditionally exhibit In other words the time for women to take charge is now In See Jane Lead Dr Frankel provides a blueprint for women who want to tap their natural leadership abilities and manage with greater ease and confidence in the business world on the soccer field at home and beyond With the same sharp insight that she demonstrated in Nice Girls Don't Get Rich and Nice Girls Don't Get the Corner Office Dr Frankel shows women how they can overcome sabotaging childhood behaviors that hold them back while offering practical advice and real life examples of strong female leaders who have succeeded in male dominated fields beyond their wildest dreams The Handbook of Communication Skills Owen Hargie, 2018-07-16 The Handbook of Communication Skills is recognised as one of the core texts in the field of communication offering a state of the art overview of this rapidly evolving field of study This comprehensively revised and updated fourth edition arrives at a time when the realm of interpersonal communication has attracted immense attention. Recent research showing the potency of communication skills for success in many walks of life has stimulated considerable interest in this area both from academic researchers and from practitioners whose day to day work is so dependent on effective social skills. Covering topics such as non verbal behaviour, listening, negotiation and persuasion, the book situates communication in a range of different contexts from interacting in groups to the counselling interview. Based on the core tenet that interpersonal communication can be conceptualised as a form of skilled activity and including new chapters on cognitive behavioural therapy and coaching and mentoring, this new edition also places communication in context with advances in digital technology. The Handbook of Communication Skills represents the most significant single contribution to the literature in this domain. Providing a rich mine of information for the neophyte and practising professional, it is perfect for use in a variety of contexts from theoretical mainstream communication modules on degree programmes to vocational courses in health, business and education. With contributions from an internationally renowned range of scholars, this is the definitive text for students, researchers and professionals alike.

The Innovation Paradox Tony Davila, Marc Epstein, 2014-06-30 For more than twenty years major innovations, the kind that transform industries and even societies, seem to have come almost exclusively from startups despite massive efforts and millions of dollars spent by established companies. Tony Davila and Marc Epstein, authors of the bestselling Making Innovation Work, say the problem is that the very processes and structures responsible for established companies enduring success prevent them from developing breakthroughs. This is the innovation paradox. Most established companies succeed through incremental innovation, taking a product they're known for and adding a feature here, cutting a cost there. Major breakthroughs are hard to achieve when everything about the way your organization is built and run is designed to reward making what already works work a little better. But incremental innovation can coexist with breakthrough thinking. Using examples from both scrappy startups and long term innovators such as IBM, 3M, Apple and Google, Davila and Epstein explain how corporate culture, leadership style, strategy, incentives and management systems can be structured to encourage breakthroughs. Then they bring it all together in a new model called the Startup Corporation, which combines the philosophy of the startup with the experience, resources and network of an established company. Breakthrough innovation no longer has to be the nearly exclusive province of the new kids on the block With Davila and Epstein s assistance any company can develop paradigm shifting products and services and maximize the ROI on its R D
