War Office, 1911      Archives in Russia: A Directory and Bibliographic Guide to Holdings in Moscow and St. Petersburg Patricia Kennedy Grimsted, Patricia Kennedy Grimstead, 2016-04-01 This is a comprehensive directory and bibliographic guide to Russian archives and manuscript repositories in the capital cities of Moscow and St Petersburg It is an essential resource for any researcher interested in Russian sources for topics in diplomatic military and church history art dance film literature science ethnography and geography The first part lists general bibliographies of relevant reference literature directories bibliographic works and specialized subject related sources In the following sections of the directory archival listings are grouped in institutional categories Coverage includes federal ministerial agency presidential local university Academy of Sciences organizational library and museum holdings Individual entries include the name of the repository in Russian and English basic information on location staffing institutional history holdings access and finding aids More comprehensive and up to date than the 1997 Russian Version this edition includes Web site information dozens of additional repositories several hundred more bibliographical entries coverage of reorganization issues four indexes and a glossary      Tony Harrison Edith Hall, 2021-01-14 This is the first book length study of the classicism of Tony Harrison one of the most important contemporary poets in England and the world It argues that his unique and politically radical classicism is inextricable from his core notion that poetry should be a public property in which communal problems are shared and crystallised and that the poet has a responsibility to speak in a public voice about collective and political concerns Enriched by Edith Hall's longstanding friendship with Harrison and involvement with his most recent drama inspired by Euripides Iphigenia in Tauris it also asserts that his greatest innovations in both form and style have been direct results of his intense engagements with individual works of ancient literature and his belief that the ancient Greek poetic imagination was inherently radical Tony Harrison's large body of work for which he has won several major and international prizes and which features on the UK National Curriculum ranges widely across long and short poems plays translations and film poems Having studied Classics at Grammar School and University and having translated ancient poets from Aeschylus to Martial and Palladas Harrison has been immersed in the myths history literary forms and authorial voices of Mediterranean antiquity for his entire working life and his classical interests are reflected in every poetic genre he has essayed from epigrams and sonnets to original stage plays translations of Greek drama and Racine to his experimental and harrowing film poems where he has pioneered the welding of tightly cut video materials to tightly phrased verse forms This volume explores the full breadth of his oeuvre offering an insightful new perspective on a writer who has played an important part in shaping our contemporary literary landscape The Black introduced to Russia in 1839 was nothing short of a sensation Its rapid proliferation challenged the other arts including painting and literature as well as the very integrity of the self If Leo Tolstoy and Fyodor Dostoevsky greeted the camera with skepticism in the nineteenth century numerous twentieth century authors welcomed it with a warm embrace As Katherine M H Reischl shows in Photographic Literacy authors as varied as Leonid Andreev Ilya Ehrenburg and Alexander Solzhenitsyn picked up the camera and reshaped not only their writing practices but also the sphere of literacy itself For these authors a single photograph or a photograph as illustration is never an endpoint their authorial practices continually transform and animate the frozen moment But just as authors used images to shape the reception of their work and selves Russian photographers including Sergei Prokudin Gorsky and Alexander Rodchenko used text to shape the reception of their visual work From the diary to print the literary word imbues that photographic moment with a personal life story and frames and reframes it in the writing of history In this primer on photographic literacy Reischl argues for the central place that photography has played in the formation of the Russian literary imagination over the course of roughly seventy years From image to text and back again she traces the visual consciousness of modern Russian literature as captured through the lens of the Russian author photographer Illustrated London News ,1912 Tolstoy George Rapall Noyes,1918 The First

Age of Industrial Globalization Maartje Abbenhuis,Gordon Morrell,2019-10-17 This book offers an accessible and lively survey of the global history of the age of industrialization and globalization that arose in the wake of the Napoleonic Wars and collapsed in the maelstrom of the First World War Through a combination of industrialization technological innovation and imperial expansion the industrializing powers of the world helped to create inter connected global space that left few regions untouched In ten concise chapters this book relays the major shifts in global power economics and society outlining the interconnections of global industrial imperial and economic change for local and regional experiences identities and politics It finishes with an expos on the catastrophic impact of the First World War on this global system The First Age of Industrial Globalization weaves together the histories of industrialization world economy imperialism international law diplomacy and war which historians usually treat as separate developments and integrates them to offer a new analysis of an era of fundamental historical change It shows that the revolutionary changes in politics society and international affairs experienced in the 19th century were inter connected developments It is essential reading for any student of modern global history

Putin Takes Crimea 2014 Mark Galeotti, 2023-09-28 An authoritative analysis of how Putin s Russia conquered the Crimea in 2014 using grey zone warfare techniques blending operations by anonymous special forces with cyber sabotage and propaganda Russia s annexation of Crimea in 2014 was almost bloodless fought as much through propaganda cyberattacks and subversion as by force of arms but it is crucial for our understanding of both modern warfare and recent Russian history Ironically this slick triumph eventually led to the full scale invasion of Ukraine the largest and costliest conventional war in Europe since 1945 This is a fascinating account of the Crimea conquest from a supremely qualified expert on modern Russian forces Illustrated throughout it explores how Russia developed its new model of hybrid or grey zone warfare and planned and deployed it against Crimea from the choreographed appearance of spontaneous protesters through to the deployment of unbadged Russian elite forces In this book Mark Galeotti explores the lessons that Russia Ukraine and the West took from it correctly and mistakenly and how this apparently textbook operation sowed the seeds that would erupt so catastrophically in 2022

Picturing War in France, 1792-1856 Katie Hornstein, 2018-02-06 From the walls of the Salon to the pages of weekly newspapers war imagery was immensely popular in postrevolutionary France This fascinating book studies representations of contemporary conflict in the first half of the 19th century and explores how these pictures provided citizens with an imaginative stake in wars being waged in their name As she traces the evolution of images of war from a visual form that had previously been intended for mostly elite audiences to one that was enjoyed by a much broader public over the course of the 19th century Katie Hornstein carefully considers the influence of emergent technologies and popular media such as lithography photography and panoramas on both artistic style and public taste With close readings and handsome reproductions in various media from monumental battle paintings to popular prints Picturing War in France 1792 1856 draws on contemporary art criticism war reporting and the burgeoning illustrated press to reveal the crucial role such images played in shaping modern understandings of conflict

photography Daniel Foliard, 2022-11-15 The late nineteenth century saw a rapid increase in colonial conflicts throughout the French and British empires. It was also the period in which the camera began to be widely available. Colonial authorities were quick to recognise the power of this new technology which they used to humiliate defeated opponents and to project an image of supremacy across the world. Drawing on a wealth of visual materials from soldiers' personal albums to the collections of press agencies and government archives, this book offers a new account of how conflict photography developed in the decades leading up to the First World War. It explores the various ways in which the camera was used to impose order on subject populations in Africa and Asia and to generate propaganda for the public in Europe where a visual economy of violence was rapidly taking shape. At the same time it reveals how photographs could escape the intentions of their creators offering a means for colonial subjects to push back against oppression.

Memory, Conflict and New Media Ellen

Rutten, Julie Fedor, Vera Zvereva, 2013-04-12 This book examines the online memory wars in post-Soviet states where political conflicts take the shape of heated debates about the recent past and especially World War II and Soviet socialism. To this day former socialist states face the challenge of constructing national identities producing national memories and relating to the Soviet legacy. Their pasts are principally intertwined; changing readings of history in one country generate fierce reactions in others. In this transnational memory war, digital media form a pivotal discursive space, one that provides speakers with radically new commemorative tools. Uniting contributions by leading scholars in the field, Memory Conflict and New Media is the first book-length publication to analyse how new media serve as a site of political and national identity building in post-socialist states. The book also examines how the construction of online identity is irreversibly affected by thinking about the past in this geopolitical domain. By highlighting post-socialist memory's digital mediations and digital memory's transcultural scope, the volume succeeds in a twofold aim: to deepen and refine both post-socialist memory theory and digital memory studies. This book will be of much interest to students of media studies, post-Soviet studies, Eastern European Politics, memory studies and International Relations in general.

The People's Wars Mark Hewitson, 2017 The second of three volumes

The Crimean War Clive Ponting, 2011-02-15 The Crimean War is full of resonance: not least the Charge of the Light Brigade, the Siege of Sevastopol and Florence Nightingale at Scutari with her lamp. In this fascinating book Clive Ponting separates the myths from the reality and tells the true story of the heroism of the ordinary soldiers, often through eye-witness accounts of the men who fought and those who survived the terrible winter of 1854-55. To contemporaries it was The Great War with Russia, fought not only in the Black Sea and the Crimea but in the Baltic, the Arctic, the Pacific and the Caucasus. Ironically Britain's allies were France, her traditional enemy, ably commanded from home by Napoleon III himself, and the Muslim Ottoman Empire, widely seen as an infidel, corrupt power.

It was the first of the modern wars using rifles artillery trench systems steam battleships telegraph and railways yet the British soldiers wore their old highly coloured uniforms and took part in their last cavalry charge in Europe There were over 650 000 casualties Britain was unable fully to deploy her greatest strength her Navy while her Army was led by incompetent aristocrats The views of ordinary soldiers about Raglan Cardigan and Lucan make painful reading     Understanding Photojournalism Jennifer Good,Paul Lowe,2020-09-23 Understanding Photojournalism explores the interface between theory and practice at the heart of photojournalism mapping out the critical questions that photojournalists and picture editors consider in their daily practice and placing these in context Outlining the history and theory of photojournalism this textbook explains its historical and contemporary development who creates selects and circulates images and the ethics aesthetics and politics of the practice Carefully chosen international case studies represent a cross section of key photographers practices and periods within photojournalism enabling students to understand the central questions and critical concepts Illustrated with a range of photographs and case material including interviews with contemporary photojournalists this book is essential reading for students taking university and college courses on photography within a wide range of disciplines and includes an annotated guide to further reading and a glossary of terms to further expand your studies     The Amateur Photographer ,1914 The popular illustrated journal for all photographers devoted to the interests of photography and kindred arts and sciences     A Global Chronology of Conflict Spencer C.
