Creating Better Futures James A. Ogilvy, 2002-04-11 As a founder and managing director of Global Business Network James Ogilvy helped develop the technique of scenario planning which has become an integral part of strategic thinking in both business and government Now Ogilvy shows how we can use this cutting edge method for social change in our own neighborhoods In Creating Better Futures Ogilvy presents a profound new vision of how the world is changing and how it can be changed for the better Ogilvy argues that self defined communities rather than individuals or governments have become the primary agents for social change Towns professional associations and interest groups of all kinds help shape the future in all the ways that matter most from schools and hospitals to urban development The key to improvement is scenario planning a process that draws on groups of people both lay and expert to draft narratives that spell out possible futures some to avoid some inspiring hope Scenario planning has revolutionized both public and private planning leading to everything from the diverse product lines that have revived the auto industry to a timely decision by the state of Colorado to avoid pouring millions into an oil shale industry that never materialized But never before has anyone proposed that it be taken up by society as a whole Drawing on years of experience in both academia and the private sector where he developed both a keen sense of how businesses work best and an abiding passion for changing the world James Ogilvy provides the tools we need to create better communities better health better education better lives

Future Lawrence R.

Samuel, 2009-12-03 The history of our attitudes toward the possibilities of tomorrow A fascinating trek through American future visions from the 1920s to the present Lori C Walters Ph D University of Central Florida The future is not a fixed idea but a highly variable one that reflects the values of those who are imagining it By studying the ways that visionaries imagined the future particularly that of America in the past century much can be learned about the cultural dynamics of the times In this social history Lawrence R Samuel examines the future visions of intellectuals artists scientists businesspeople and others to tell a chronological story about the history of the future in the past century He defines six separate eras of future narratives from 1920 to the present day and argues that the milestones reached during these years especially related to air and space travel atomic and nuclear weapons the women s and civil rights movements and the advent of biological and genetic engineering sparked the possibilities of tomorrow in the public s imagination and helped make the twentieth century the first century to be significantly more about the future than the past The idea of the future grew both in volume and importance as it rode the technological wave into the new millennium and the author tracks the process by which most people to some degree have now become futurists as the need to anticipate tomorrow accelerates Evolutionary Competence M. Montuori, 2023-07-31 Creating Strategic Vision , 1987 Make Your Own Job Erik Baker, 2025-01-14 Make Your Own Job charts the transformation of the American work ethic in the twentieth century It is no longer enough to be reliable now workers must lead with creative vision Erik Baker argues that the entrepreneurial ethic has been a Band Aid for a society in which ever mounting precarity discredits the old ethics of effort and persistence Abundance of Life Harry R.
