Seven Shades Of Memory Stories Of Old Iran:

Seven Shades of Memory Terence O'Donnell, 2006-09 Terence O'Donnell lived in Iran from 1957-71 operating a farm from 1963-70 before returning to America. Seven Shades of Memory is his first collection of short stories. The stories share the theme of cultural collision either as East meets West or as members of different cultures within Iran tentatively interact. These stories show his prescient understanding of the multifaceted nuances of Persian culture and the Westerners who attempt to navigate through it. In The Tree and The Pool an American Consul's desire for a swimming pool sets off a chain reaction of cross-cultural misunderstanding. The title characters in The Prince and The Backer live next to one another but inhabit separate social strata. One day they are brought together and a subtle friendship blossoms. The Women and The Ladies is a short vignette about two American women tourists whose conversation with a waiter reveals the cultural milieus in which each side lives. The Holy Men of Isfahan brings together Muslims, Jews, and Christians in a conversation sorrowfully underscoring how religion separates despite the best of intentions. A wealthy Norwegian family vacations in an unfashionable part of Iran in The Duck Hunt. In The Stone of Love a man takes his holiday in a hotel on the shores of the Caspian Sea where one evening he has a surreal vision of a unique jewel. Finally Mrs. Cahn is an elderly American philanthropist on a museum tour of Iran. From a bench she takes small pleasures in her surroundings and the local tribespeople who gather around her. Touched by their hospitality and respect, she is able to find peace at last.

Tribeswomen of Iran Julia Huang, 2014-09-19 Since the revolution in 1979, the Islamic Republic of Iran has permitted very few Western scholars to conduct research in the country. Foreign travellers and media persons have limited access, and much Iranian scholarship tends to focus on the realms of politics and government. Here Julia Huang provides a remarkable account of local tribal Iranian life, offering a rare glimpse into the daily rhythms and social richness beyond the capital city of Tehran. The Qashqai are a confederation of nomadic tribes of which the Qermezi Red Ones are one migrating semiannually between winter pastures near the Persian Gulf and summer pastures southwest of the city of Isfahan. Huang has visited and traveled with the Qermezi for extended periods across fourteen years. Drawing on her experiences, participation, and observation, she offers an intimate window onto their life. She focuses on a small group of women spanning four generations who are part of a large extended family and describes their ways of life, their activities and interactions, and their distinctive sociocultural and ecological setting. Like other nomadic peoples around the world, the Qashqai increasingly face pressures that threaten their livelihoods, lifestyles, and culture. Huang shows us how women negotiate compromises between customary tribal values and external influences and sketches their efforts to resist the influences of an Islamizing, modernizing, and centralizing government. With shadows and resonances that rebound across the stories of these women, Huang is able to present multiple perspectives on events and contentious issues. For instance, the politicized issue of women's state-mandated modest dress. Huang also explains how the Turkic-speaking Qashqai relate to the wider Iranian society and the Islamic Republic of Iran.

adapting to a rapidly changing world while retaining tribal values and a distinctive ethnolinguistic identity as one of Iran's national minorities. In describing life at the local level in Iran, Huang depicts a community largely beyond the scope and reach of foreign travellers and the Western media. With rich ethnographic description and analysis, intimate portraits of the private lives and spaces of women and children, and diverse perspectives, this engagingly written account documents a disappearing way of life. Tribeswomen of Iran is essential reading for all those interested in Iran, the Middle East, anthropology, nomadism, and gender.

History of Paper in Iran, 1501-1925 Willem Floor, Amélie Courvat Desvergnés, 2022-10-04. The Chinese invented papermaking, which by the 8th century had reached the Muslim world in Samarkand and Baghdad and Spain by the 11th century. Much later, at the end of the 18th century, modern industrial papermaking was developed by the Europeans. The History of Paper in Iran, 1501 to 1925 sets out for the reader the types of paper made in Iran during the Safavid and Qajar periods and the crucial role imported paper played in the country. The Iranian government attempted to introduce modern European paper production technology first by sending students abroad to learn about this technology and then by purchasing equipment to set up a paper industry. However, during the 19th century, domestic Iranian paper production came under increasing pressure from paper imports, and the government abandoned its efforts to modernize the domestic paper industry. The authors, renowned scholar Willem Floor, in collaboration with Amélie Courvat Desvergnés, a museum conservator of artworks on paper and books, identify and illustrate the watermarks and/or countermarks of the various paper producers and provide examples of the diversity of quality, composition, and nature of the different types of paper used by various strata of the Iranian society. Also provided are detailed import data showing which country exported paper to Iran via which routes, as well as their changing market position over time. Finally, the various end uses of paper, from books and farmans to paintings and diverse packing and utilitarian paper, are examined, and where possible, quantified data are presented. This book will reward scholars and general readers alike.

Nomads in Postrevolutionary Iran Lois Beck, 2014-09-19. Examining the rapid transition in Iran from a modernizing, westernizing, secularizing monarchy (1941-79) to a hard-line conservative clergy-run Islamic republic (1979), this book focuses on the ways this process has impacted the Qashqai, a rural, nomadic, tribally organized Turkish-speaking ethnic minority of a million and a half people who are dispersed across the southern Zagros Mountains. Analysing the relationship between the tribal polity and each of the two regimes, the book goes on to explain the resilience of the people's tribal organizations, kinship networks, and politicized ethnolinguistic identities to demonstrate how these structures and ideologies offered the Qashqai a way to confront the pressures emanating from the two central governments. Existing scholarly works on politics in Iran rarely consider Iranian society outside the capital of Tehran and beyond the reach of the details of national politics. Local-level studies on Iran, accounts of the ways people actually lived, are now rare, especially after the revolution. Based on long-term anthropological research, Nomads in Postrevolutionary Iran provides a unique insight into how national-level issues relate to the local level and will be Ezzatyar,2022-06-01 Exploring the fascinating history behind Iranian Jewish immigration to Israel this book offers a rare and untold history of one of Israel's Middle Eastern Jewish populations Over the 20th century thousands among Iran's Jewish community left their ancestral homes and immigrated to the Jewish State while thousands of others remained in Iran even after the birth of the Islamic Republic of Iran Using firsthand narratives the evolution of Zionist activities and recruitment in Iran over the last century is covered alongside an Iranian Jewish population that unlike other Middle Eastern Jewish communities did not ultimately arrive in the Holy Land as a majority of their community. For those that did arrive or make aliyah the Israeli nation building process had unique ramifications. The integrative process and current status of the Iranian community in Israel is also examined providing an intimate picture of Iranian life in Israel nearly 75 years after Israel's establishment. A natural addition to any collection on Jewish or Israeli history and essential reading for a full understanding of Iran-Israel relations, enthusiasts of Israeli nation building and affairs as well as Iranian history, demographics and politics will find this book invaluable.

Prozak Diaries Orkideh Behrouzan, 2016-10-26. Prozak Diaries is an analysis of emerging psychiatric discourses in post-1980s Iran. It examines a cultural shift in how people interpret and express their feeling states by adopting the language of psychiatry and shows how experiences that were once articulated in the richly layered poetics of the Persian language became by the 1990s part of a clinical discourse on mood and affect. In asking how psychiatric dialect becomes a language of everyday, the book analyzes cultural forms created by this clinical discourse, exploring individual, professional and generational cultures of medicalization in various sites from clinical encounters and psychiatric training to intimate interviews, works of art and media and Persian blogs. Through the lens of psychiatry, the book reveals how historical experiences are negotiated and how generations are formed. Orkideh Behrouzan traces the historical circumstances that prompted the development of psychiatric discourses in Iran and reveals the ways in which they both reflect and actively shape Iranians' cultural sensibilities. A physician and an anthropologist, she combines clinical and anthropological perspectives in order to investigate the gray areas between memory and everyday life between individual symptoms and generational remembering. Prozak Diaries offers an exploration of language as experience. In interpreting clinical and generational narratives, Behrouzan writes not only a history of psychiatry in contemporary Iran but a story of how stories are told.
