Claiming Diaspora Su Zheng, 2011-10-25 Framed by a century and a half of racialized Chinese American musical experiences Claiming Diaspora explores the thriving contemporary musical culture of Asian Chinese America Ranging from traditional operas to modern instrumental music from ethnic media networks to popular music from Asian American jazz to the work of recent avant garde composers author Su Zheng reveals the rich and diverse musical activities among Chinese Americans and tells of the struggles of Chinese Americans to gain a foothold in the American cultural terrain She not only tells their stories but also examines the dynamics of the diasporic connections of this musical culture revealing how Chinese American musical activities both reflect and contribute to local national and transnational cultural politics and challenging us to take a fresh look at the increasingly plural and complex nature of American cultural identity

School of Music Programs University of Michigan. School of Music, 2001      The Muse that Sings Ann McCutchan, 2003 The Muse That Sings is a unique behind the scenes look at both twentieth century music and the nuts and bolts of creative work Here twenty five of America's leading composers from Adams to Zorn from Bolcom to Vierk talk candidly about their craft their motivations their difficulties and how they how proceed from musical idea to finished composition While focusing on the process and the stories behind specific works the composers also touch on topics that will interest anyone involved in creative work They discuss teachers and mentors the task of revision relationships with performers and the ongoing struggle for a balance between freedom and discipline They reveal sources of inspiration artistic goals and the often unexpected ways their musical ideas develop Some describe personal tonal systems others discuss the impact of computers and other electronic tools on their work still others reflect philosophically on the inner impulses and outer influences that continue to drive them While serious music has a reputation for being difficult and inaccessible The Muse That Sings provides a powerful antidote The composers in this book speak clearly and thoughtfully in response to key questions of concern to all readers interested in contemporary music Each interview has been edited to stand alone as a concise meditation on muse and technique and the book includes selected discographies as well as brief biographical
