A Theory of Nonviolent Action Stellan Vinthagen, 2015-11-15 In this ground breaking and much needed book Stellan Vinthagen provides the first major systematic attempt to develop a theory of nonviolent action since Gene Sharp s seminal The Politics of Nonviolent Action in 1973 Employing a rich collection of historical and contemporary social movements from various parts of the world as examples from the civil rights movement in America to anti Apartheid protestors in South Africa to Gandhi and his followers in India and addressing core theoretical issues concerning nonviolent action in an innovative penetrating way Vinthagen argues for a repertoire of nonviolence that combines resistance and construction Contrary to earlier research this repertoire consisting of dialogue facilitation normative regulation power breaking and utopian enactment is shown to be both multidimensional and contradictory creating difficult contradictions within nonviolence while simultaneously providing its creative and transformative force An important contribution in the field A Theory of Nonviolent Action is essential for anyone involved with nonviolent action who wants to think about what they are doing

Assets, Livelihoods, and Social Policy Anis A. Dani, Caroline Moser, 2008-05-14 Given the lack of adequate universal social welfare for those unable to find jobs in the salaried formal sector the livelihoods and well being of most poor people depends heavily on their asset base This includes their ability to access and accumulate assets obtain decent returns from these assets and use their asset base to manage risks Assets Livelihoods and Social Policy discusses the diverse strategies adopted by people in different contexts to accumulate assets through migration housing investments natural resources management and informal businesses An asset based social policy can strengthen asset accumulation strategies as well as help the poor overcome the constraints of unfavorable institutional environments To a considerable extent asset accumulation strategies depend on the agency exercised by people themselves through individual or collective action At the same time the status of policies and institutions can enable or hinder these strategies and affect livelihood outcomes In synthesis the case studies lead to the differentiation among three different types of policies policies that affect outcomes by directly influencing access to assets by the poor such as land housing natural resources or credit policies and public investments that change the nature of returns on assets such as investments in rural roads agricultural inputs and market development policies that transform the value of assets held by the poor by virtue of administrative decisions that increase or reduce value such as re classification of land from arable or pasture to protected lands land use regulations affecting resource use or modification in regulations governing labor rights or migration The chapters originally commissioned to re examine major gaps in knowledge and development practice ten years after the Copenhagen Summit on Social Development are authored by leading scholars from economics anthropology sociology geography and development studies This book is part of a new series New Frontiers in Social Policy which examines issues and approaches to extend the boundaries of social policy beyond conventional social services toward policies and institutions that improve equality of opportunity and social justice in developing countries Other titles in the series include Inclusive States Social Policy and Structural Inequalities and Institutional Pathways to Equity Addressing Inequality Traps Flowing Upstream Sara Ahmed, 2005-01-13 Empowering Society International Development Corinna R. Unger, 2018-09-06 International Development A Postwar History offers the first concise historical overview of international development policies and practices in the 20th century Embracing a longue dur e perspective the book describes the emergence of the development field at the intersection of late colonialism the Second World War the onset of decolonization and the Cold War It discusses the role of international organizations colonial administrations national governments and transnational actors in the making of the field and it analyzes how the political intellectual and economic changes over the course of the postwar period affected the understanding of and expectations toward development By drawing on examples of development projects in different parts of the world and in different fields Corinna R Unger shows how the plurality of development experiences shaped the notion of development as we know it today This book is ideal for scholars seeking to understand the history of development assistance and to gain new insight into the international history of the 20th century Livelihood Strategies in Southern India Seema Purushothaman, Rosa Abraham, 2013-12-04 This volume is a compilation of essays that focus on livelihood issues faced by forest communities of the southern Western Ghats region of India Communities living along the fringes of forests are more often than not overlooked in academic and policy discussions However they face considerable pressures being sandwiched between conservation endeavours and the forces of urbanization and commercialization The chapters in this book provide an insight into the kinds of livelihood issues these communities face and the potential means that can be adopted to sustain these livelihoods This volume provides a unique alternative perspective by locating livelihood issues within socio ecological economic narratives of communities living at the intersection of the three southern Indian states of Karnataka Kerala and Tamil Nadu and suggests directions for policies to address these challenges The New Humanitarians in International Practice Zeynep Sezgin, Dennis Dijkzeul, 2015-12-14 As humanitarian needs continue to grow rapidly humanitarian action has become more contested with new actors entering the field to address unmet needs but also challenging long held principles and precepts This volume provides detailed empirical comparisons between emerging and traditional humanitarian actors It sheds light on why and how the emerging actors engage in humanitarian crises and how their activities are carried out and perceived in their transnational organizational environment It develops and applies a conceptual framework that fosters research on humanitarian actors and the humanitarian principles In particular it simultaneously refers to theories of organizational sociology and international relations to identify both the structural and the situational factors that influence the motivations aims and activities of these actors and their different levels of commitment to the traditional humanitarian principles It thus elucidates the role of the humanitarian principles in promoting coherence and coordination in the crowded and diverse world of humanitarian action and discusses whether alternative principles and parallel humanitarian systems are in the making This volume will be of great interest to postgraduate students and scholars in humanitarian studies globalization and transnationalism research organizational sociology international relations development studies and migration and diaspora studies as well as policy makers and practitioners engaged in humanitarian action development cooperation and migration issues

economic advances in many societies during the latter half of the twentieth century poverty remains a global issue of enduring concern Poverty is present in some form in every society in the world and has serious implications for everything from health and well being to identity and behavior Nevertheless the study of poverty has remained disconnected across disciplines The Oxford Handbook of the Social Science of Poverty builds a common scholarly ground in the study of poverty by bringing together an international inter disciplinary group of scholars to provide their perspectives on the issue Contributors engage in discussions about the leading theories and conceptual debates regarding poverty the most salient topics in poverty research and the far reaching consequences of poverty on the individual and societal level The volume incorporates many methodological perspectives including survey research ethnography and mixed methods approaches while the chapters extend beyond the United States to provide a truly global portrait of poverty A thorough examination of contemporary poverty this Handbook is a valuable tool for non profit practitioners policy makers social workers and students and scholars in the fields of public policy sociology political science international development anthropology and economics

Linking the Formal and Informal Economy Basudeb Guha-Khasnobis, Ravi Kanbur, The late Elinor Ostrom, 2006-09-21 The concepts of formal and informal remain central to the theory and practice of development more than half a century after they were introduced into the debate They help structure the way that statistical services collect data on the economies of developing countries the development of theoretical and empirical analysis and most important the formulation and implementation of policy This volume brings together a significant new collection of studies on formality and informality in developing countries The volume is multidisciplinary in nature with contributions from anthropologists economists sociologists and political scientists It contains contributions from among the very best analysts in development studies Between them the chapters argue for moving beyond the formal informal dichotomy Useful as it has proven to be a more nuanced approach is needed in light of conceptual and empirical advances and in light of the policy failures brought about by a characterization of the informal as disorganized The wealth of empirical information in these studies and in the literature more widely can be used to develop guiding principles for intervention that are based on ground level reality Old World Empires Ilhan Niaz, 2014-03-26 This book is a sweeping historical survey of the origins development and nature of state power It demonstrates that Eurasia is home to a dominant tradition of arbitrary rule mediated through military civil and ecclesiastical servants and a marginal tradition of representative and responsible government through autonomous institutions The former tradition finds expression in hierarchically organized and ideologically legitimated continental bureaucratic states while the latter manifests itself in the state of laws In recent times the marginal tradition has gained in popularity and has led to continental bureaucratic states attempting to introduce democratic and constitutional reforms These attempts have rarely altered the actual manner in which power is exercised by the state and its elites given the deeper and historically rooted experience of arbitrary rule Far from being remote the arbitrary culture of power that emerged in many parts of the world continues to shape the fortunes of states To ignore this culture of power and the historical circumstances that have shaped it comes at a high price as indicated by the ongoing democratic recession and erosion of liberal norms within states that are democracies      Handbook of Political Citizenship and Social Movements Hein-Anton van der Heijden,2014-10-31 This Handbook uniquely collates the results of several decades of academic research in these two important fields The expert contributions successively address the different forms of political citizenship and current approaches and recent development      Women and Property in Urban India Bipasha Baruah,2010-11-07 Half the world s population now lives in cities Governments and agencies have made housing the poor a priority but few studies or initiatives focus on women s needs Based on research conducted in Ahmedabad in collaboration with the Self Employed Women s Association SEWA this book maps the constraints and opportunities that low income women throughout the Global South face in securing property which remains overwhelmingly in male hands Their vulnerabilities open a window to assess not only land tenure and property laws but also theoretical approaches to gender and development Although the development community holds out microcredit financing as one potential solution these women s stories reveal its glaring limitations By highlighting the importance of property as a material and symbolic asset in women s empowerment this book carves out new intellectual space in the study of gender and development      FACETS OF CONTEMPORARY HISTORY M. Thilakavathy,R.K. Maya,2019-06-05 This book Facets of Contemporary History is a selection of research papers presented in the International Conference on Contemporary History which was held on 30th and 31st January 2015 This conference was organized by the Department of History Tourism and Travel Management Ethiraj College for Women Chennai It gives us great pleasure to put together a selection of the papers for the public in the form of a book in the interest of research Contemporary History refers to the history of the immediate past or that which can be expected to remain in living memory While there are areas of history which have branched off from contemporary history such as social history and economic history this conference took a very broad look at contemporary events from not just a historical but also a social science perspective This Book contains 6 Sections namely Political History Socio Cultural History Gender Economic History Environment and Tourism We would like to place on record the Management of the college for the moral and financial support extended in the conduct of the Conference and in the production of the book Thanks are due to our respected Chairman of the Trust Board Mr V M Muralidharan for all his support and encouragement Heartfelt thanks are due to Prof Dr Karu Nagarajan Member Secretary TAMIL NADU STATE COUNCIL FOR HIGHER EDUCATION for their generous financial Assistance towards the conduct of the Conference We would be failing in our duty if we do not thank the faculty of the Department of History Tourism and Travel Management for their support and encouragement in the conduct of the Conference
