Mapping Feminist Anthropology in the Twenty-First Century Ellen Lewin, Leni M. Silverstein, 2016-07-07 Feminist anthropology emerged in the 1970s as a much needed corrective to the discipline's androcentric biases Far from being a marginalized subfield it has been at the forefront of developments that have revolutionized not only anthropology but also a host of other disciplines This landmark collection of essays provides a contemporary overview of feminist anthropology's historical and theoretical origins the transformations it has undergone and the vital contributions it continues to make to cutting edge scholarship Mapping Feminist Anthropology in the Twenty First Century brings together a variety of contributors giving a voice to both younger researchers and pioneering scholars who offer insider perspectives on the field's foundational moments Some chapters reveal how the rise of feminist anthropology shaped and was shaped by the emergence of fields like women's studies, black and Latina studies and LGBTQ studies. Others consider how feminist anthropologists are helping to frame the direction of developing disciplines like masculinity studies, affect theory and science and technology studies. Spanning the globe from India to Canada, from Vietnam to Peru, Mapping Feminist Anthropology in the Twenty First Century reveals the important role that feminist anthropologists have played in worldwide campaigns against human rights abuses, domestic violence and environmental degradation. It also celebrates the work they have done closer to home, helping to explode the developed world's preconceptions about sex, gender and sexuality.

Genocide and Gender in the Twentieth Century Amy E. Randall, 2015-10-29 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title 2016 Genocide and Gender in the Twentieth Century brings together a collection of some of the finest Genocide Studies scholars in North America and Europe to examine gendered discourses, practices and experiences of ethnic cleansing and genocide in the 20th century. It includes essays focusing on the genocide in Rwanda, the Armenian genocide in the Ottoman Empire, the Holocaust and ethnic cleansing and genocide in the former Yugoslavia. The book looks at how historically and culturally specific ideas about reproduction, biology and ethnic, national, racial and religious identity contributed to the possibility for and the unfolding of genocidal sexual violence, including mass rape. The book also considers how these ideas, in conjunction with discourses of femininity and masculinity and understandings of female and male identities, contributed to perpetrators' tools and strategies for ethnic cleansing and genocide, as well as victims' experiences of these processes. This is an ideal text for any student looking to further understand the crucial topic of gender in genocide studies.

The SAGE Handbook of Fieldwork Dick Hobbs, Richard Wright, 2006-01-05 This is an excellent collection of papers which celebrates the best of traditional approaches to fieldwork whilst also looking to its future. The Handbook will quickly become essential reading for the novice and experienced fieldworker across many of the social sciences. Chris Pole, University of Leicester. Fieldwork is widely practiced but little written about; yet accounts of the exotic, the mundane, the complex and often dangerous are central to not only sociology and anthropology but also geography, social psychology and criminology. In all these increasingly overlapping fields, experience underlies any comprehensive understanding of social life. The SAGE Handbook of Fieldwork presents the first major overview of this method, introducing the reader to the strengths, weaknesses and real world applications of fieldwork techniques. Its 22 carefully chosen chapters are each based on a substantive field of empirical enquiry, written by an acknowledged expert in the field. The range is impressive, from the traditional to the virtual, concerning subjects as diverse as emotion, sexuality, sport, embodiment, identity, self narrative, fieldwork in organizations, science and technology. Specifically intended for use in undergraduate and postgraduate courses in qualitative research design and methodology in sociology, anthropology, criminology, urban studies, social geography, public health and education, the handbook will also prove beneficial to academic researchers in these and other disciplines.

Mobility, Markets and Indigenous Socialities Cecilie Vindal Ødegaard, 2016-04-15 Exploring how people from Andean communities seek progress and social mobility by moving to the cities Cecilie Ødegaard demonstrates the changing significance of kinship reciprocity and ritual in an urban context Through a focus on people's involvement in land occupations and local associations labour and trade Ødegaard examines the dialectics between popular practices and neoliberal state policies in processes of urbanization The making and un making of notions of the Indigenous communal work and gender is central in this analysis and is discussed against the historical backdrop of the land occupations in Peruvian cities since the 1930s Through its close ethnographic description of everyday life in a new urban neighbourhood this book reveals how social and spatial categories and boundaries are continually negotiated in people's quest for mobility and progress Cecilie degaard argues that conventional meanings of prosperity and progress are significantly altered in interaction with Andean understandings of reciprocity By combining a unique ethnographic account with original theoretical arguments the book provides new insight into the cultural cosmological and political dimensions of mobility progress and market participation The Archaeology of Identities Timothy Insoll, 2007-01-24 The Archaeology of Identities brings together seventeen seminal articles from this exciting new discipline in one indispensable volume for the first time Editor Timothy Insoll expertly selects a cross section of contributions by leading authorities to form a comprehensive and balanced representation of approaches and interests Issues covered include gender and sexuality ethnicity nationalism and caste age ideology disability Chapters are thematically arranged and are contextualized with lucid summaries and an introductory chapter providing an accessible introduction to the varied selection of case studies included and archaeological materials considered from global sources The study of identity is increasingly recognized as a fundamental division of archaeological enquiry and has recently become the focus of a variety of new and challenging developments As such this volume will fast become the definitive sourcebook in archaeology of identities making it essential reading for students lecturers and researchers in the field Gender, Catholicism, and Morality in Brazil M. Mayblin, 2010-03-29 Through the ethnography of a Catholic community in Northeast Brazil Maya Mayblin offers a vivid and provocative rethink of gendered portrayals of Catholic life For the residents of Santa Lucia life is conceptualized as a series of moral tradeoffs between the sinful and productive world against an idealized state of innocence conceived with reference to local Catholic teachings As marriage marks the beginning of a productive life in the world it also marks a phase in which moral personhood comes most actively and poignantly to the fore This book offers lucid observations on how men and women as husbands and wives fathers and mothers negotiate this challenge As well as making an important contribution to the ethnographic literature on morality Christianity and Latin America the book offers a compelling alternative to received portrayals of gender polarity as symbolically all encompassing throughout the Catholic world The Corner of the Living Miguel La Serna, 2012-03-12 Peru's indigenous peoples played a key role in the tortured tale of Shining Path guerrillas from the 1960s through the first decade of the twenty first century The villagers of Chuschi and Huaychao high in the mountains of the department of Ayacucho have an iconic place in this violent history Emphasizing the years leading up to the peak period of violence from 1980 to 2000 when 69 000 people lost their lives Miguel La Serna asks why some Andean peasants chose to embrace Shining Path ideology and others did not Drawing on archival materials and ethnographic field work La Serna argues that historically rooted and locally specific power relations social conflicts and cultural understandings shaped the responses of indigenous peasants to the insurgency In Chuschi the guerrillas found indigenous support for the movement and dreamed of sparking a worldwide Maoist revolution In Huaychao by contrast villagers rose up against Shining Path forces precipitating more violence and feeding an international uproar that took on political significance for Peru during the Cold War The Corner of the Living illuminates both the stark realities of life for the rural poor everywhere and why they may or may not choose to mobilize around a revolutionary cause Promoting Young People's Sexual Health Roger Ingham, Peter Aggleton, 2006-09-27 Valuable contributions on different aspects of sexual and reproductive health among young people are presented in this book with a focus on developing country contexts Key discussions on issues relating to young people and their sexual activities are brought together in one volume exploring how these issues are affected by the wider contexts in which they live The interdisciplinary team of contributors examine the practical and ideological barriers that inhibit progress in the development of educational and service level improvement of young people's sexual health as well as presenting examples of efforts made to overcome such difficulties Promoting Young People's Sexual Health looks to the future proposing ways forward in terms of policy and legislative changes necessary for long term improvements in young people's sexual health To Have and to Hit Dorothy Ayers Counts, Judith K.
