People And Place The Extraordinary Geography Of Everyday Life:

People and Place Lewis Holloway, Phil Hubbard, 2014-01-14 An innovative introduction to Human Geography exploring different ways of studying the relationships between people and place and putting people at the centre of human geography The book covers behavioural humanistic and cultural traditions showing how these can lead to a nuanced understanding of how we relate to our surroundings on a day to day basis The authors also explore how human geography is currently influenced by postmodern ideas stressing difference and diversity While taking the importance of these different approaches seriously as ways of thinking about the role of place in peoples everyday lives the book also tries to encapsulate what has been so vibrant and exciting about human geography over the last couple of decades By using examples to which students can relate such as how they imagine and represent their home the way they avoid certain spaces how they move through retail spaces where they choose to go to university how they use the Internet how they represent other nations and so on the authors show how geography shapes everyday life in a manner that is seemingly mundane yet profoundly important

A Century of British Geography Ron Johnston, Michael Williams, 2022-09-11 These essays trace the evolution of British geography as an academic discipline during the last hundred years and stress how the study of the world we live in is fundamental to an understanding of its problems and concerns Never before has such an ambitious and wide ranging review been attempted and never before has it been done with so much knowledge and passion The principal themes covered in this volume are those of environment place and space and the applied geography of map making and planning The volume also addresses specific issues such as disease urbanization regional viability and ethics and social problems This lively and accessible work offers many insights into the minds and practices of today s geographers

Introducing Human Geographies Kelly Dombroski, Mark Goodwin, Junxi Qian, Andrew Williams, Paul Cloke, 2024-07-09 Introducing Human Geographies is a travel guide into the academic subject of human geography and the things that it studies The coverage of the new edition has been thoroughly refreshed to reflect and engage with the contemporary nature and direction of human geography This updated and much extended fourth edition includes a diverse range of authors and topics from across the globe with a completely revised set of contributions reflecting contemporary concerns in human geography Presented in four parts with a streamlined structure it includes over 70 contributions written by expert international researchers addressing the central ideas through which human geographers understand and shape their subject It maps out the big foundational ideas that have shaped the discipline past and present explores key research themes being pursued in human geography s various sub disciplines and identifies emerging collaborations between human geography and other disciplines in the areas of technology justice and environment This comprehensive stimulating and cutting edge introduction to the field is richly illustrated throughout with full colour figures maps and photos The book is designed especially for students new to university degree courses in human geography across the world and is an essential reference for undergraduate students on courses related to society place culture and space

Emotional Geographies Liz Bondi, 2016-05-13 Bringing together well established interdisciplinary scholars including geographers Phil Hubbard Chris Philo and Hester Parr and sociologists Jenny Hockey Mike Hepworth and John Urry and a new generation of researchers this volume presents a wide range of innovative studies of fundamentally important questions of emotion Following an overarching introduction three interlinked sections elaborate key intersections between emotions and spatial concepts on which each chapter offers a particular take informed by substantive research At the heart of the collection lies a commitment to convey how emotions always spill over from one domain to another as well as to illuminate the multiplicity of spaces that produce and are produced by emotional life The book demonstrates the richness that an interdisciplinary engagement with the emotionality of socio spatial life generates

Geography and Geographers Ron Johnston, James D. Sidaway, 2015-12-22 Geography and Geographers continues to be the most comprehensive and up to date overview of human geography available It provides a survey of the major debates key thinkers and schools of thought in the English speaking world setting them within the context of economic social cultural political and intellectual changes It is essential reading for all undergraduate geography students It draws on a wide reading of the geographical literature and addresses the ways geography and its history are understood and the debates among geographers regarding what the discipline should study and how This extensively updated seventh edition offers a thoroughly contemporary perspective on human geography for new and more experienced students alike

Negotiating Identities. Language and Migration in Global London Cangbai Wang, Terry Lamb, 2024-01-16 This book explores the transnational practices of migrant groups in global London illustrating the complex relations between migrants and the city in the context of globalisation The chapters offer a starting point to examine migrants and the city from a comparative perspective by bringing together case studies of diverse migrant communities They use languaging as the central concept in the development of an interdisciplinary framework that creates an opportunity to talk across disciplines to engage with key issues crisscrossing migration cities and language The book promotes language based or language sensitive research drawing on the plurilingual repertoires and the language and translanguaging practices of migrant communities as the tool for data collection and ethnographic fieldwork This approach generates fresh insights into the complex issues of diasporic identities belonging and place making which have broad implications for migration studies in post Brexit Britain and beyond

How To Think About Cities Deborah G. Martin, Joseph Pierce, 2022-11-29 Cities are raucous cacophonous and complex Many dimensions of life play out and conflict across cities intricate landscapes be they political cultural economic or social Urban policy makers and analysts often attempt to cut through the noise of urban disagreement by emphasizing a dominant lens for understanding the key central logic of the city How To Think About Cities sees this tendency to selective vision as misleading and ultimately unjust cities are many things at once to different people and communities This book describes the various ways of seeing the functions and landscapes of the city as place frames and the constant process of negotiating which place frames best explain the city as place making Martin and Pierce call for an explicitly hybrid perspective that shifts between many different frames for making sense of cities This approach highlights how any given stance opens up some lines of inquiry and understanding while closing off others Thinking of cities as sites of contested perspectives promotes a synthetic approach to urban analysis that emphasizes difference and political possibility This mosaic view of the city will be a welcome read for those within urban studies geography and social sciences exploring the many faces of urban life

Theory on the Edge N. Giffney, M.

Shildrick,2013-06-13 Theory on the Edge brings together some of the foremost specialists working at the interdisciplinary interface between Irish Studies feminist theory queer theory and gender and sexuality studies in order to trace the contemporary development of feminist thinking and activism in Ireland Geographies of Transport and Mobility Stewart Barr,Jan Prillwitz,Tim Ryley,Gareth Shaw,2017-10-04 Geographies of Transport and Mobility aims to provide a comprehensive and evidenced account of the intellectual and pragmatic challenges for personal mobility in the twenty first century In doing so it argues that geographers have a key role to play in shaping academic and policy debates on how personal mobility can become more sustainable The book is structured in three parts Part I explores how personal mobility has evolved since the mid nineteenth century plotting the intricate relationship between new forms of mobile technology urban planning and design and social practices Part II examines how researchers study transport and mobility and outlines the different intellectual trajectories of transport geography and geographies of mobilities Part III then outlines and discusses the discourse of sustainable mobility that has emerged in recent years the ways in which social economic and environmental sustainability can be promoted through different strategies focusing on behavioural change and urban design Geographies of Transport and Mobility provides a unique perspective on personal mobility by demonstrating how the way we travel has developed through complex economic and social processes It argues that this historical context is critical for considering how mobility in the twenty first century can be more sustainable not just environmentally but also economically and socially As such it argues for a renewed focus on sustainable place making as a way to radically shift mobility practices Geographies of Transport and Mobility is designed to appeal to advanced level undergraduate students and researchers in the fields of geography anthropology psychology sociology and transport studies The Future of Events & Festivals Ian Yeoman,Martin Robertson,Una McMahon - Beattie,Elisa Backer,Karen A. Smith,2014-08-13 The growth of events and festivals has been significant over the last decade and a wide range of skills are essential to ensure those events are successful This requirement has been instrumental in stimulating the creation of more tertiary education opportunities to develop events management knowledge As the discipline develops knowledge requires direction in order to understand the changing advances in society This is the first book to take a futures approach to understanding event management A systematic and pattern based understanding is used to determine the likelihood of future events and trends Using blue skies scenarios to provide a vision of the future of events not only capturing how the events industry is changing but also important issues that will affect events now as well as the future Chapters include analysis of sustainability security impacts of social media design at both mega event and community level and review a good range of different types of events from varying geographical regions A final section captures the contributions of each chapter through the formation of a conceptual map for a future research agenda Written by leading academics in the field this ground breaking book will be a valuable reference point for educators researchers and industry professionals The Routledge Research Companion to Planning and

Culture Greg Young, 2016-03-23 It has become increasingly evident that effective planning for sustainable communities environments and economies pivots on the ability of planners to see the possibilities for culture in comprehensive social historical and environmental terms and to more fully engage with the cultural practices processes and theorisation that comprise a social formation More broadly an approach to planning theory and practice that is itself formed through a close engagement with culture is required This Research Companion brings together leading experts from around the world to map the contours of the relationship between planning and culture and to present these inextricably linked concepts and issues together in one place By examining significant trends in varying national and international contexts the contributors scrutinise the theories and practices of both planning and culture and explore not only their interface but significant divergences and tensions In doing so this collection provides the first comprehensive overview and analysis of planning and culture interdisciplinary and international in scope It is comprised of six parts organised around the themes of global and historical contexts key dimensions of planning and cultural theory and practice and cultural and planning dynamics Each section includes a final chapter that provides a case study lens which pulls the themes of the section together with reference to a significant planning issue or initiative

Race, Racism and the Geography Curriculum John Morgan, David Lambert, 2023-03-23 Changes in the nature of knowledge production plus rapid social and cultural change have meant that the curriculum question what is to be taught and by extension whose knowledge has been hotly contested The question of what to teach has become more and more controversial This book asks what is an appropriate curriculum response to the acute renewed interest in issues of race and racism How does a school subject like geography respond The struggle over the school curriculum has frequently been portrayed as being between educational traditionalists and progressives This book suggests a way out of this impasse Drawing upon and extending insights from social realism it explores what a Future 3 geography curriculum might look like one that recognizes the importance of the academic discipline as a source of curriculum making but at the same time avoids geographical knowledge becoming set in stone The book focuses very sharply on issues of race and racism enabling teachers to engage in curriculum making in geography that is racially literate The Foreword is written by Julian Agyeman a former geography teacher in the UK and now Professor of Urban and Environmental Policy and Planning at Tufts University USA Geographical Perspectives on Sustainable Rural Change, 2010 This book focuses on three multi faceted aspects of rural sustainability farms and farming the remaking of rural communities and rural spaces and policy and action in rural development The research is focused on three global regions North America the United Kingdom and Ireland and Australia back cover Energy Poverty in Eastern Europe Stefan Buzar, 2016-12-05 One of the consequences of the post socialist transformation of Eastern and Central Europe and the Former Soviet Union is the emergence of energy poverty a condition where households are living in inadequately heated homes This book provides the first full length examination of the causes consequences and patterns of energy poverty in former Communist countries Based on empirical evidence that spans different spatial contexts and scales and compares these with other parts of the world the book links household level deprivation with broader organizational and political dynamics The book also analyzes the lived experiences of scarcity and marginalization with the aid of two in depth country studies Furthermore it identifies the socio demographic factors that distinguish energy poor families from the rest of the population while stressing the need for a comprehensive range of policy tools to address energy poverty As the issue of energy supply from the former Soviet Union is likely to become one of the most important economic and political problems across the whole of Europe within the next couple of decades the book argues that there is a direct link between the energy crises experienced by the region and the social aspects of energy use in households
