Regional Archaeology In Eastern Inner Mongolia A Methodological Exploration:

Hongshan Regional Organization in the Upper Daling Valley Christian E. Peterson, Lu Xueming, Robert D.

Drennan, Zhu Da, 2014-05-20 A detailed report on regional local and household scale research on Hongshan societies 4500-3000 BCE in northeastern China Regional demography and community patterns are analyzed for an area of 200 square kilometers surrounding the excavated ceremonial site of Dongshanzui More intensive study of Hongshan residential remains through surface collection magnetometer survey and stratigraphic tests informs the interpretation of the results of regional scale survey Dongshanzui's public architecture along with additional unexcavated ceremonial platforms are shown to be at the heart of a regional scale concentration of Hongshan residential occupation that represents an independent small chiefly polity with no more than 1 000 inhabitants Its neighbors were other similar small polities related to each other through peaceful interaction but without larger scale political integration Complete text in English and Chinese Early Christian

Remains of Inner Mongolia Tjalling H. F. Halbertsma, 2015-07-28 Drawing on recent discoveries this study reconstructs the material culture of the Christian ng t in Inner Mongolia As much of this material no longer survives in the field it provides an insight into the rise and disappearance of a Christian culture in Asia Prehistoric Societies on the Northern

Frontiers of China Gideon Shelach, 2016-04-08 The northern borders of China known as the Northern zone were a key area of interaction between sedentary and nomadic people during the late second and early first millennium BCE During this period the region's unique economy socio political systems local cultures and identities took shape Prehistoric Societies on the Northern Frontiers of China analyses the archaeological record to examine the changes that took place in Northern China in the first millennium Drawing on field work in the Chifeng area of Inner Mongolia the book explores dramatic changes in the construction of identities alongside more gradual changes in subsistence strategies and political organization The book is unique in integrating the archaeological data and historical records of this period with anthropological theory to examine the role of identity construction and the use of symbol in the shaping of East Asian society The Archaeology of Early China Gideon Shelach-Lavi, 2015-01-26 This book covers Chinese archaeology from the first people to the unification of the empire emphasizing cultural variations and interregional contact A Companion to Chinese Archaeology Anne P.

Underhill, 2013-02-26 A Companion to Chinese Archaeology is an unprecedented new resource on the current state of archaeological research in one of the world's oldest civilizations It presents a collection of readings from leading archaeologists in China and elsewhere that provide diverse interpretations about social and economic organization during the Neolithic period and early Bronze Age An unprecedented collection of original contributions from international scholars and collaborative archaeological teams conducting research on the Chinese mainland and Taiwan Makes available for the first time in English the work of leading archaeologists in China Provides a comprehensive view of research in key geographic regions of China Offers diverse methodological and theoretical approaches to understanding China's past beginning with the era of established agricultural villages from c 7000 B C through to the end of the Shang dynastic period in c 1045 B C Economic Action in Theory and Practice Donald C. Wood,2010-08-18 Contains 14 chapters that focus on various aspects of economic organization and behaviour mostly based on empirical fieldwork conducted by the authors themselves This title takes a look at urban food provisioning in Cameroon and an investigation into entrepreneurial activities in the rapidly changing economy of Cairo The Comparative Archaeology of Complex Societies Michael E.

Smith,2011-09-05 Part of a resurgence in the comparative study of ancient societies this book presents a variety of methods and approaches to comparative analysis through the examination of wide ranging case studies Each chapter is a comparative study and the diverse topics and regions covered in the book contribute to the growing understanding of variation and change in ancient complex societies The authors explore themes ranging from urbanization and settlement patterns to the political strategies of kings and chiefs to the economic choices of individuals and households The case studies cover an array of geographical settings from the Andes to Southeast Asia The authors are leading archaeologists whose research on early empires states and chiefdoms is at the cutting edge of scientific archaeology Southeastern Mesoamerica Whitney A.

Goodwin,Erlend Johnson,Alejandro J. Figueroa,2021-03-01 Southeastern Mesoamerica highlights the diversity and dynamism of the Indigenous groups that inhabited and continue to inhabit the borders of Southeastern Mesoamerica an area that includes parts of present day Honduras Guatemala and El Salvador Chapters combine archaeological ethnohistoric and historic data and approaches to better understand the long term sociopolitical and cultural changes that occurred throughout the entirety of human occupation of this area Drawing on archaeological evidence ranging back to the late Pleistocene as well as extensive documentation from the historic period contributors show how Southeastern Mesoamericans created unique identities strategically incorporating cosmopolitan influences from cultures to the north and south with their own long lived traditions These populations developed autochthonous forms of monumental architecture and routes and methods of exchange and had distinct social cultural political and economic traits They also established unique long term human environment relations that were the result of internal creativity and inspiration influenced by local social and natural trajectories Southeastern Mesoamerica calls upon archaeologists anthropologists historians ethnohistorians and others working in Mesoamerica Central America and other cultural boundaries around the world to reexamine the role Indigenous resilience and agency play in these areas and in the cultural developments and interactions that occur within them

Pastoralist Households Jean-Luc Houle,2024-10-01 Mobile pastoralist activities occur at different scales across the landscape including local regional and supra regional scales Most archaeological studies of mobile pastoralist social organization have focused on the latter two scales via the extant monumental and herding landscapes Household levels of analysis figure much less in these studies This volume brings together the work of archaeologists currently engaged in mobile pastoralist household research in different regions of the world to highlight the importance of household studies and the utility of both archaeological and ethnoarchaeological approaches in understanding mobile pastoralist household formation continuity and adaptation to environmental social economic and political change Settlement Patterns in the Chifeng Region Chifeng International Collaborative Archaeological Research Project, 2011 This volume and the accompanying online dataset provide the complete results of a regional settlement study of 1 234 square kilometers in the Inner Mongolia Autonomous Region of northeastern China Results of systematic study of the relationship between surface and subsurface remains are presented based on sites that were surveyed as part of the regional survey and subsequently intensively surface collected and test excavated The volume concludes with a comprehensive synthesis of the regional trajectory of social change from 6000 BCE to 1300 CE offered as a basis for comparison with those of other regions where complex societies developed Multiscalar Approaches to Studying Social Organization and Change in the Isthmo-Colombian Area Scott D. Palumbo, Ana María Boada Rivas, William A. Locascio, Adam C.J. Menzies, 2013-11-04 Chapters offer new understandings of how ranked societies emerged and developed in prehistoric southern Central America and northern South America the Isthmo Colombian Area The emphasis is on integrating the results of studies of social units at a range of different scales from the household to the local community to the region and beyond Complete text in English and Spanish The Cambridge World History: Volume 2, A World with Agriculture, 12,000 BCE-500 CE Graeme Barker, Candice Goucher, 2015-04-16 The development of agriculture has often been described as the most important change in all of human history Volume 2 of the Cambridge World History series explores the origins and impact of agriculture and agricultural communities and also discusses issues associated with pastoralism and hunter fisher gatherer economies To capture the patterns of this key change across the globe the volume uses an expanded timeframe from 12 000 BCE 500 CE beginning with the Neolithic and continuing into later periods Scholars from a range of disciplines including archaeology historical linguistics biology anthropology and history trace common developments in the more complex social structures and cultural forms that agriculture enabled such as sedentary villages and more elaborate foodways and then present a series of regional overviews accompanied by detailed case studies from many different parts of the world including Southwest Asia South Asia China Japan Southeast Asia and the Pacific sub Saharan Africa the Americas and Europe Envisioning Eternal Empire Yuri Pines, 2009-01-01 This ambitious book looks into the reasons for the exceptional durability of the Chinese empire which lasted for more than two millennia 221 B C E 1911 C E Yuri Pines identifies the roots of the empire's longevity in the activities of thinkers of the Warring States period 453 221 B C E who in their search for solutions to an ongoing political crisis developed ideals values and perceptions that would become essential for the future imperial polity In marked distinction to similar empires worldwide the Chinese empire was envisioned and to a certain extent preplanned long before it came into being As a result it was not only a military and administrative construct but also an intellectual one Pines makes the argument that it was precisely its ideological appeal that allowed the survival and regeneration of the empire after repeated periods of turmoil Envisioning Eternal Empire presents a panoptic survey of philosophical and social conflicts in Warring States political culture By examining the extant corpus of preimperial literature including transmitted texts and manuscripts uncovered at archaeological sites Pines locates the common ideas of competing thinkers that underlie their ideological controversies This bold approach allows him to transcend the once fashionable perspective of competing schools of thought and show that beneath the immense pluralism of Warring States thought one may identify common ideological choices that eventually shaped traditional Chinese political culture

Empires and Diversity Gregory E. Areshian, 2013-12-31 For more than four thousand years empires have been geographically the largest polities on Earth shaping in many respects the human past and present in different epochs and on different continents Covering the time span from the second millennium B C E to the sixteenth century C E and geographic areas from China to South America the case studies included in this volume demonstrate the necessity to combine perspectives from the longue duree and global comparativism with the theory of agency and an understanding of specific contexts for human actions Contributions from leading scholars examine salient aspects of the Hittite Assyrian Ancient Egyptian Achaemenid and Sasanian Iranian Zhou to Han Dynasty Chinese Inka and Mughal empires

Memory and Agency in Ancient China Francis Allard, Yan Sun, Kathryn M. Linduff, 2018-12-20 Applies the life history of objects approach to China's prehistoric early dynastic and more recent material culture

Ancient China and its Eurasian Neighbors Kathryn M. Linduff, Yan Sun, Wei Cao, Yuanqing Liu, 2017-11-23 This volume examines the role of objects in the region north of early dynastic state centers at the intersection of Ancient China and Eurasia a large area that stretches from Xinjiang to the China Sea from c 3000 BCE to the mid eighth century BCE This area was a frontier an ambiguous space that lay at the margins of direct political control by the metropolitan states where local and colonial ideas and practices were reconstructed transculturally These identities were often merged and displayed in material culture Types of objects styles and iconography were often hybrids or new to the region as were the tomb assemblages in which they were deposited and found Patrons commissioned objects that marked a symbolic vision of place and person and that could mobilize support legitimize rule and bind people together Through close examination of key artifacts this book untangles the considerable changes in political structure and cultural makeup of ancient Chinese states and their northern neighbors

Settlement, Subsistence, and Social Complexity Richard E. Blanton, 2006-12-31 This volume brings together the work of some of the most prominent archaeologists to document the impact of Jeffrey R Parsons on contemporary archaeological method and theory Parsons is a central figure in the development of settlement pattern archaeology in which the goal is the study of whole social systems at the scale of regions In recent decades regional archaeology has revolutionized how we understand the past contributing new data and theoretical insights on topics such as early urbanism social interactions among cities towns and villages and long term population and agricultural change among many other topics relevant to the study of early civilizations and the evolution of social complexity Over the past 40 years the application of these methods by Parsons and others has profoundly changed how we understand the evolution of pre Hispanic Mesoamerican civilization and now similar methods are being applied in other world areas The book s emphasis is on the contribution of settlement pattern archaeology to research in pre Hispanic Mesoamerica but its authors also point to the value of regional research in South America South Asia and China Topics addressed include early urbanism household and gender agricultural and craft production migration ethnogenesis the evolution of early chiefdoms and the emergence of pre modern world systems

The Routledge Handbook of the Bioarchaeology of Climate and Environmental Change Gwen Robbins Schug,2020-10-27 This handbook examines human responses to climatic and environmental changes in the past and their impacts on disease patterns nutritional status migration and interpersonal violence Bioarchaeology the study of archaeological human skeletons provides direct evidence of the human experience of past climate and environmental changes and serves as an important complement to paleoclimate historical and archaeological approaches to changes we may expect with global warming Comprising 27 chapters from experts across a broad range of time periods and geographical regions this book addresses hypotheses about how climate and environmental changes impact human health and well being factors that promote resilience and circumstances that make migration or interpersonal violence a more likely outcome The volume highlights the potential relevance of bioarchaeological analysis to contemporary challenges by organizing the chapters into a framework outlined by the United Nation s Sustainable Development Goals for 2030 Planning for a warmer world requires knowledge about humans as biological organisms with a deep connection to Earth s ecosystems balanced by an appreciation of how historical and socio cultural circumstances socioeconomic inequality degrees of urbanization community mobility and social institutions play a role in shaping long term outcomes for human communities Containing a wealth of nuanced perspectives about human environmental relations book is key reading for students of environmental archaeology bioarchaeology and the history of disease By providing a longer view of contemporary challenges it may also interest readers in public health public policy and planning

Chinese Society in the Age of Confucius (1000-250 BC) Lothar von Falkenhausen,2006-12-31 Winner of the 2009 Society for American Archaeology Book Award Chinese Society in the Age of Confucius is based on the most up to date archaeological discoveries It introduces new data as well as new ways to think about them modes of analysis that while familiar to archaeological practitioners in the West and in Japan are herein applied to evidence from the Chinese Bronze Age for the first time The treatment of social stratification clan and lineage organisation as well as gender and ethnic differences will be of interest to those involved in the general or comparative analysis of grand themes in the Social Sciences

Archaeometallurgy in Global Perspective Benjamin W. Roberts,Christopher P. Thornton,2014-01-07 The study of ancient metals in their social and cultural contexts has been a topic of considerable interest in archaeology and ancient history for decades partly due to the modern dependence on technology and man made materials The formal study of Archaeometallurgy began in the 1970s 1980s and has seen a recent growth in techniques data and theoretical movements This comprehensive sourcebook on Archaeometallurgy provides an overview of earlier research as well as a review of modern techniques written in an approachable way Covering an extensive range of archaeological time periods and regions this volume will be a valuable resource for those studying archaeology worldwide It provides a clear straightforward look at the available methodologies including Smelting processes Slag analysis Technical Ceramics Archaeology of Mining and Field Survey Ethnoarchaeology Chemical Analysis and Provenance Studies Conservation Studies With chapters focused on most geographic regions of Archaeometallurgical inquiry researchers will find practical applications for metallurgical techniques in any area of their study Ben Roberts is a specialist in the early metallurgy and later prehistoric archaeology of Europe He was the Curator of the European Copper and Bronze Age collections at the British Museum between 2007 and 2012 and is now a Lecturer in Prehistoric Europe in the Department of Archaeology at the Durham University UK Chris Thornton is a specialist in the ancient metallurgy of the Middle East combining anthropological theory with archaeometrical analysis to understand the development and diffusion of metallurgical technologies throughout Eurasia He is currently a Consulting Scholar of the University of Pennsylvania Museum where he received his PhD in 2009 and the Lead Program Officer of research grants at the National Geographic Society
