Competitiveness Strategy in Developing Countries Ganeshan Wignaraja, 2003-10-04 Globalization and structural adjustment offer many opportunities for export orientated industrialization in developing economies As a group competitiveness in the developing countries has improved but while East Asian economies have had rapid export growth and technological upgrades South Asian and African economies have lagged behind Old structures institutions behavioural patterns and public policies are ill adapted to deal with the challenges posed by technological change and economic liberalization Consequently there is an urgent need for change in government and private sector attitudes and strategies This volume seeks to generalise the lessons across developing country and enterprise cases and sheds light on which trade and industrial strategies and instruments work best and which do not work in relation to manufacturing competitiveness

Rural Industrialisation T. M. Dak, 1989 Viewed mainly as the growth of manufacturing sector as opposed to agriculture and the increased use of inanimate sources of power in the production of goods and services rural industrialization offers the greatest scope for absorbing the existing and growing labour force outside the field of agriculture However rural industrial scene continues to be characterised by the concentration of labour force in agriculture predominance of traditional crafts low levels of technology hereditary mode of production poor productivity and returns and low labour efficiency and utilisation Besides glorification of traditional crafts and self employment caste industry nexus and above all policy bias in favour of agriculture as against industry and large and medium capital intensive industries as against small village and cottage industries also worked as strong impediments to the development of rural crafts Drawing from the nationwide experiences this book examines the problems of the growth and modernisation of rural industries from socio economic perspectives and probes into the organisational and technology system underlying their production structure with all its implications and ramifications. The reversal of the policy favouring large modern industry sector and the spread of tiny small industries throughout the country with full package of organisational, technical, financial and marketing support in adequate measure have been strongly advocated. In addition, the integration of the development of rural industries with the overall programme of industrialisation was emphasized.

Trade and Investment in Africa Benedict Okey Oramah, Oyeyemi Kale, 2025-12-23
This edited volume provides coverage of international trade and investment in Africa. Trade and investment are crucial to promoting economic growth and development and have important policy implications for governments and other stakeholders in economies of the global South. The book offers an extensive examination of critical issues in trade and investment encompassing a wide range of areas such as trade policy and development, international trade, investment and economic growth, finance, payment systems and trade development as well as contemporary issues in international trade. It focuses on emerging cutting edge research on the broad areas of trade and investment, contributes significantly to contemporary literature and informs policy design in these areas. This distinctive topical and accessible work is intended for a wide range of readers interested in international trade and investment including policymakers, practitioners, academics, researchers and students at all levels studying international trade, economics and finance. Overall, it serves as a valuable resource for anyone seeking to deepen their knowledge and understanding of international trade, investment and economic development in today's complex and rapidly changing global economy.

Developmental Integration and Industrialisation in Southern Africa Siphumelele Duma, 2023-05-18
Since the beginning of decolonisation in Africa, regional integration has become one of the most potent defining characteristics of the continent's quest for industrialisation and sustainable development. It was understood that the individual continental economies could not achieve the requisite level of industrial development to meet their respective development objectives due to the colonial policy of balkanisation which divided the continent into small economically unviable units. In 1992, the Southern African Development Community (SADC) adopted developmental integration as an approach to regional integration to engender industrialisation and address the region's development challenges This book offers a critical assessment and examination of this approach as to how it has influenced the industrialisation process in Southern Africa If so why has it failed to accelerate the region's industrialisation and structural transformation process It contributes significantly to cross cutting development debates on the African continent particularly in southern Africa More importantly in understanding the nexus between developmental integration and industrialisation

African Industrial Development and European Union Co-operation Francis Matambalya, 2014-08-27 Of the 54 African states only South Africa is categorised by the United Nations Industrial Development Organization UNIDO amongst industrialised countries The economic activities in Africa are still dominated by the production and trade of agricultural and mineral commodities This situation is in spite of the longstanding Africa European Union EU co operation which intends among other things to support Africa's industrialisation endeavours Imperatively a long road to substantive levels of industrialisation still lies ahead of most African countries This raises the question as to what role the international community could and should play in the twenty first century to provide the support needed to expedite Africa's industrial transformation This book argues that to supplement the initiatives of each African country international partnerships of both a North South and South South nature will serve better purposes if they are leveraged to develop productive capacities in African economies In order to enable the African countries to leverage their traditional partnership with the EU for industrialisation a paradigm shift is obligatory A feasible model should emulate the Japanese led flying geese model and the Chinese led bamboo capitalism model
