Touring Great Britain Robert Shackleton, 1917 The Moral and Market Economies of Bread Jonas

Albrecht, 2024-06-13 From the 1770s the Vienna bread market was rocked by a series of politico economic and technological changes that questioned the way this everyday foodstuff was sold and produced In this book Jonas Albrecht explores how this reconfiguration of the bread market had wide reaching and significant consequences for a society who relied on this foodstuff to live Before 1860 the production and selling of bread was embedded into a moral economy with distinct regulations But as the grain market expanded and new cereal varieties arrived from the empire's peripheries reformers sought to create a free market through liberalizing reforms The Moral and Market Economies of Bread shows that while terminating market regulation did mobilize and diversify Vienna's bread market in spatial terms it intensified inequality among consumers As opaque prices non transparent market procedures and diverging power relations between producers and consumers led to unrest city officials and bakers struggled to meet the shortcomings of the free market from within This book brings economic social and urban histories together and employs a spatial approach and GIS methods to explore the relationship between market and society and capitalism at large

Whose Dog Are You? Martin Wallen, 2017-09-01 The intriguing question in the title comes from an inscription on the collar of a dog Alexander Pope gave to the Prince of Wales When Pope wrote the famous couplet I am his Highness Dog at Kew Pray tell me Sir whose Dog are You the question was received as an expression of loyalty That was an era before there were dog breeds and not coincidentally before people were generally believed to develop affectionate bonds with dogs This interdisciplinary study focuses on the development of dog breeds in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Beginning with the Foxhound the first modern breed it examines the aesthetic political and technological forces that generate modern human canine relations These forces have colluded over the past two hundred years to impose narrow descriptions of human canine relations and to shape the dogs physically into acceptable and recognizable breeds The largest question in animal studies today how alterity affects human animal relations cannot fully be considered until the two approaches to this question are understood as complements of one another one beginning from aesthetics the other from technology Most of all the book asks if we can engage with dogs in ways that allow them to remain dogs

The Geography of Opportunity Xavier de Souza Briggs, 2006-03-30 A popular version of history trumpets the United States as a diverse nation of immigrants welcome to all The truth however is that local communities have a long history of ambivalence toward new arrivals and minorities Persistent patterns of segregation by race and income still exist in housing and schools along with a growing emphasis on rapid metropolitan development sprawl that encourages upwardly mobile families to abandon older communities and their problems This dual pattern is becoming increasingly important as America grows more diverse than ever and economic inequality increases Two recent trends compel new attention to these issues First the geography of race and class represents a crucial litmus test for the new regionalism the political movement to address the linked fortunes of cities and suburbs Second housing has all but disappeared as a major social policy issue over the past two decades This timely book shows how unequal housing choices and sprawling development create an unequal geography of opportunity It emerges from a project sponsored by the Civil Rights Project at Harvard University in collaboration with the Joint Center for Housing Studies and the Brookings Institution The contributors policy analysts political observers social scientists and urban planners document key patterns their consequences and how we can respond taking a hard look at both successes and failures of the past Place still matters perhaps more than ever High levels of segregation shape education and job opportunity crime and insecurity and long term economic prospects These problems cannot be addressed effectively if society assumes that segregation will take care of itself Contributors include William Apgar Harvard University Judith Bell PolicyLink Angela Glover Blackwell PolicyLink Allegra Calder Harvard Karen Chapple Cal Berkeley Camille Charles Penn Mary Cunningham Urban Institute Casey Dawkins Virginia
