central question is about the brothers reformist attitudes Were they based on the pronouncements of political leaders Were they the result of trends in Shanghai publishing Or did they derive from Wang Qingdi s disappointment in her companionate marriage as manifested in her poems By placing one family at the center of this study Ellen Widmer illuminates the diachronic bridge between the late Qing and the period just before it the synchronic interplay of genres during the brothers lifetimes and the interaction of Shanghai publishing with regions outside Shanghai A Sad Life Story Kemal

Sobe,2024-04-10 Childhood even though it is difficult is actually the best period of a person A person realizes the value of his childhood in later years when he comes under the burden of life However I couldn t stay a child I had to face the pain and difficulties of life As I got older my fear of the future increased and the people around me decreased As I saw the bitter side of life and people s relationships based solely on materiality I began to deeply question why people live and what they aim for in life Did people live to love or to dominate each other When I saw that there was all kinds of material competition between people I began to think that people had put their love for humanity aside Like every child when I was young that is young enough to be considered a child I was not very emotional However as I got older as I took part in life as life took away more and more from me I became more emotional and the human factor began to become more important to me The Short

Tolstoy's Family Prototypes in "War and Peace" Brett Cooke,2020-11-24 What were the consequences of Tolstoy s unusual reliance on members of his family as source material for War and Peace Did affection for close relatives influence depictions of these real prototypes in his fictional characters Tolstoy used these models to consider his origins to ponder alternative family histories and to critique himself Comparison of the novel and its fascinating drafts with the writer s family history reveals increasing preferential treatment of those with greater relatedness to him kin altruism i e nepotism This pattern helps explain many of Tolstoy s choices amongst plot variants he considered as well as some of the curious devices he utilizes to get readers to share his biases such as coincidences notions of fate and aversion to incest Relative Races Brigitte Fielder,2020-09-21 In Relative Races Brigitte Fielder presents an alternative theory of how race is ascribed Contrary to notions of genealogies by which race is transmitted from parents to children the examples Fielder discusses from nineteenth century literature history and popular culture show how race can follow other directions Desdemona becomes less than fully white when she is smudged with Othello's blackface a white woman becomes Native American when she is adopted by a Seneca family and a mixed race baby casts doubt on the whiteness of his mother Fielder shows that the genealogies of race are especially visible in the racialization of white women whose whiteness often depends on their ability to reproduce white family and white supremacy Using black feminist and queer theories Fielder presents readings of personal narratives novels plays stories poems and images to illustrate how interracial kinship follows non heteronormative non biological and non patrilineal models of inheritance in nineteenth century literary culture The Sensation Novel and the Victorian Family Magazine D. Wynne, 2001-07-11 Victorian sensation novels with their compulsive plots of crime transgression and mystery were bestsellers Deborah Wynne analyses the fascinating relationships between sensation novels and the magazines in which they were serialized Drawing upon the work of Wilkie Collins Mary Braddon Charles Dickens Ellen Wood and Charles Reade and such popular family journals as All The Year Round The Cornhill and Once a Week the author highlights how novels and magazines worked together to engage in the major cultural and social debates of the period

Family Constellations in Contemporary Ibero-American and Slavic Literatures Anna Artwińska,Ángela Calderón,Jobst Welge,2024-10-07 This volume examines Ibero American as well as Slavic literatures of the 21st century and studies how historical imaginaries in family narratives are functionalized for both individual and collective and post national identities The analysis proceeds along three conceptual axes What these narratives have in common is that they construct specific constellations of the historical imagination and of family whereby family is here conceived not so much as an organic micro unity but rather as changing multiple relations between individual members godparents first and second degree relatives non blood related family members present and absent members adopted children etc Furthermore these novels are often grounded in trans generational memories They are written by members of a generation that as a rule did not directly experience these historical events It is also significant that these narratives are no longer conceived as representing national identities but paradigmatically speak for a collective that defines itself in regional ethnic religious or ideological terms It seems therefore that these narratives of family constellations are in need of more flexible typological rubrics and interpretive frameworks Intended as a sustained comparative study of these family narratives this volume is a contribution in understanding how historical caesura experiences and their literary representation work on the self understanding of the present
