Birth, Death, and Religious Faith in an English Dissenting Community Albion M. Urdank, 2015-12-17 This study lies at the intersection of three principal areas of social history demography religion and quantitative methods It is a microanalysis of an English population at the level of the Anglican parish during the era of the evangelical revival which includes unusually Protestant dissenters from the Established church in this case Particular Baptists who were moderate Calvinists It goes a step beyond previous studies by giving Anglicans and Dissenters co equal status in a comparative demographic analysis and by demonstrating how religious values informed procreative activity It does so through a combination of advanced statistical methodologies and an innovative treatment of data collection forms as readable texts The study concludes that the likelihood of another birth increased following a religious conversion experience especially among both Anglican and Baptist wives following marriage Mortality too had a less constraining effect on procreative activity which in conformity with the English experience was driven largely by fertility

The Internationalization of Communal Strife (Routledge Revivals) Manus I. Midlarsky, 2014-06-03 First published in 1992 this edited collection argues that conflicts have a growing tendency both to intensify and to lengthen thus increasing the likelihood of external actors being drawn into the on going violence Here leading experts in comparative and international politics examine this tendency of communal conflicts to spill over into the international arena They also look at the conditions under which these processes do not occur and are mediated successfully The authors combine theoretical perspectives with case studies covering examples from the origins of the First World War to state building in Iraq and whether it was a precursor of the Iran Iraq War and the Gulf Crisis They present both a global overview and a focus on the state as the single most important intermediary in the internationalization process A comprehensive and relevant reissue this volume will appeal to students and scholars of International Relations Comparative Politics and Strategic Studies

Bring Down the Walls C. Dagher, 2002-01-04 Lebanon is more than a country it is a message these words of Pope John Paul II illustrate Lebanon's post war endeavor to preserve its age old Christian Muslim coexistence and power sharing formula and to invalidate Samuel Huntington's assumption of a Clash of Civilizations Lebanon's current challenge is also the challenge of a whole region the Middle East where the fate of minorities including Eastern Christians reveals the prospects of democracy pluralism and political participation Carole H Dagher a journalist for Lebanese media as well as an academic presents an insightful account on how Christian and Muslim communities emerged from the sixteen year old Lebanese war what their points of friction and their common grounds are and what the prospects of Lebanon's communal representation system and pluralistic society are She describes the central role played by the Holy See and John Paul II in bridging the gap between Christians and Muslims in Lebanon and analyzes the impact other countries such as Syria Iran and Saudi Arabia have had on the power game and conversely the impact of Christian Muslim interaction on the future of the Arab Israeli peace process Bring Down the Walls draws crucial lessons from the recent history of Christian Muslim relations in Lebanon

Mobilizing Human Resources in the Arab World (RLE Economy of Middle East) R. Paul Shaw, 2015-05-15 R Paul Shaw has travelled widely in the Arab world obtaining data and gathering impressions first hand from national and local planners In this book he identifies population and manpower problems that are likely to become more serious and more difficult to solve if they are neglected at this early stage of Arab development He focuses on five broad areas which are directly or indirectly related to mobilizing human resources and his book will be of special interest to all those who are concerned with such issues as population migration employment inequality the emancipation of women construction and agriculture Dr Shaw proposes policy directives which are sensitive to the problems as they are seen by the Arab governments themselves and sets out practical guidelines which can be used by Arab planners and policy makers An important feature of the book with respect to current literature on Arab development is that it moves away from a preoccupation with growth related investments to a concentration on development related population manpower and employment issues By bringing together such comprehensive empirical and bibliographic information it will also be invaluable as a reference source for some twenty Arab countries First published in 1983
