The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,1993      Visions of STS Stephen H. Cutcliffe,Carl Mitcham,2012-02-01 Visions of STS brings together the views of ten leading scholars to clarify the nature of Science Technology and Society Studies and point toward future developments The interdisciplinary field of STS maps out the interconnected relationships among science technology and society in order to better understand both the innumerable benefits as well as problematic challenges This book rather than presenting science and technology as autonomous entities analyzes each contextually as societal mediated processes that reflect cultural political and economic values It contains four basic programmatic essays that deal with technological determinism the social constructivist view STS and policy information and the issue of interdisciplinarity Visions of STS also stresses more specialized perspectives of work education and public policy analysis and challenges the way STS itself is pursued Taken together these essays offer an exciting and unusually broad overview of STS      Why teach science, technology and society issues? A rationale for STS education in a compulsory science curriculum at the secondary school level A K. Hamaker,1985      Science Janice V. Pearson,Robert D. LaRue (Jr.),1988 This volume contains 36 lessons designed to be used in secondary social studies classes to introduce the science technology society STS themes and issues While the first 11 lessons focus on general STS themes the other 25 lessons cover specific STS issues that fall under such categories as population growth water resources world hunger food resources air quality war technology energy shortages land use human health disease hazardous substances plant and animal extinction nuclear reactors and mineral resources as well as scientific ethics and scientific inquiry Except for the first three lessons all the lessons contain 1 an introduction that provides a brief overview of the content and the teaching strategies used 2 objectives for student learning 3 subject and grade level recommendations 4 time allotment 5 required materials and preparation 6 step by step procedures 7 suggestions for evaluation 8 ideas for extension and enrichment and 9 additional resources to enhance learning The class activities vary from short easy to use lessons requiring little preparation to others that require more time and are more effective as introductions to STS units A variety of teaching strategies are employed that include case studies role playing debates discussion groups decision making simulations small group work and data analysis Three planning matrices are included to help with the use of the lessons DJC
