Desire After Dark Andrew J. Owens, 2021-03-02 Since the 1960s the occult in film and television has responded to and reflected society's crises surrounding gender and sexuality In Desire After Dark Andrew J. Owens explores media where figures such as vampires and witches make use of their supernatural knowledge in order to queer what otherwise appears to be a normative world Beginning with the global sexual revolutions of the 60s and moving decade by decade through Euro sleaze cinema and theatrical hardcore pornography the HIV AIDS crisis the popularity of New Age religions and witchcraft and finally the increasingly explicit sexualization of American cable television Owens contends that occult media has risen to prominence during the past 60 years as a way of exposing and working through cultural crises about queerness Through the use of historiography and textual analyses of media from Bewitched to The Hunger Owens reveals that the various players in occult media have always been well aware that non-normative sexuality constitutes the heart of horror's enduring appeal By investigating vampirism witchcraft and other manifestations of the supernatural in media Desire After Dark confirms how the queer has been integral to the evolution of the horror genre and its persistent popularity as both a subcultural and mainstream media form

Gutter Auteur Rob Craig, 2012-12-01 Grindhouse filmmaker Andy Milligan has been the subject of a revealing biography and boasts a grassroots fan base but his remarkable work has thus far received no serious critical overview Working virtually alone on infinitesimal budgets often using a used 16mm newsreel camera Milligan crafted some of the most unique melodramas of the 1960s and 1970s Often mounted as period pieces using costumes sewn by the filmmaker Milligan's gritty bizarre films come across as inimitable meldings of the avant garde theater of Jean Genet the experimental films of Jack Smith and the random cinema verite of a lunatic with a home movie camera Yet Milligan's films are anything but random ruminating at length on profound sociocultural themes of the day including the emptiness of the sexual revolution Evident throughout all the films are two pet themes a rabid deconstruction of the heterosexual paradigm and a grotesque illumination of the family as breeder of dysfunction

Dressed in Black Lisa MacKinney, 2025-03-18 The first full length history of the Shangri Las one of the most significant and most misunderstood pop groups of the 1960s Sisters Mary and Betty Weiss together with twins Mary Ann and Marguerite Ganser were schoolgirls when they formed the Shangri Las in 1963 and had a meteoric rise to fame with songs like Leader of the Pack and Remember Walking in the Sand Their career was cut short for reasons largely beyond their control derailed by the machinations of Mafia linked record executives and heartbreak and tragedy followed Historian Lisa MacKinney marshals an impressive array of new evidence to tell the Shangri Las story dispelling many myths and long standing mysteries along the way Equally importantly Dressed in Black radically rewrites the accepted narrative of the Shangri Las place in rock history As young women they were permitted little agency within a male dominated industry that viewed teenagers as fodder to be manipulated and exploited by producers songwriters and label owners For decades this has served as an excuse for critics to deny the musical input of the group members to trivialize the Shangri Las as a girl group and to assign their work a lesser rank in the canon of authentic rock and roll MacKinney's great achievement here is to foreground the Shangri Las considerable abilities and musicality and establish the centrality of their performance of their songs to the group's underappreciated artistic achievement This is not to deny the critical role in the group's success of professional songwriters including Ellie Greenwich and Jeff Barry and writer producer George Shadow Morton a pioneering and eccentric figure whose self mythologizing has generated a level of obfuscation that rivals that of the Shangri Las themselves MacKinney's clear sighted account reveals Morton in a completely new light and as part of a complex ecosystem of musical relationships Morton wrote and produced highly emotional material specifically for the Shangri Las because he knew they had the skills to make his mini operas not only believable but enthralling The group members particularly Mary Weiss channeled personal anguish into their extraordinary performances which are central to the songs impact no less so than for such classic singers as Ella Fitzgerald and Elvis Presley who also relied on producers and songwriters for their body of work The Shangri Las impassioned delivery elicited a massive response from their audience of fellow teenagers at the time and has continued to connect profoundly with audiences ever since MacKinney backs up these arguments with in depth analysis of key Shangri Las recordings and makes a powerful case that their achievements warrant a far more prominent place for the Shangri Las in the history of popular music

The Rhetoric of Cool Jeff Rice, 2007-05-11 The Rhetoric of Cool Composition Studies and New Media offers a historical critique of composition studies rebirth narrative using that critique to propose a new rhetoric for new media work Author Jeff Rice returns to critical moments during the rebirth of composition studies when the discipline chose not to emphasize technology cultural studies and visual writing which are now fundamental to composition studies Rice redefines these moments in order to invent a new electronic practice The Rhetoric of Cool addresses the disciplinary claim that composition studies underwent a rebirth in 1963 At that time three writers reviewed technology cultural studies and visual writing outside composition studies and independently used the word cool to describe each position Starting from these three positions Rice focuses on chora appropriation commutation juxtaposition nonlinearity and imagery rhetorical gestures conducive to new media work to construct the rhetoric of cool An innovative work that approaches computers and writing issues from historical critical theoretical and practical perspectives The Rhetoric of Cool challenges current understandings of writing and new media and proposes a rhetorical rather than an instrumental response for teaching writing in new media contexts
