Should Women Hang:

30 Years Among the Dead Dead Carl Wickland, 2023-12-21 In 30 Years Among the Dead Dead Carl Wickland presents a compelling exploration of psychical research and the realm of spirits drawn from his extensive experience as a psychiatrist. The book intricately weaves anecdotal evidence with rigorous observations drawing upon Wickland's encounters with deceased entities through mediums and his own innovative therapeutic practices. Literary in its approach, Wickland's style is both accessible and scholarly, situating his findings within the broader context of early 20th century spiritualism and mental health discourse which often intersected with supernatural beliefs during that era. Wickland, a pioneering figure in the field of spirit release therapy, was influenced by his encounters with patients suffering from what he termed spirit possession. His professional background as a psychiatrist armed him with a unique perspective allowing him to approach spiritual phenomena with a scientific rigor rarely seen in his contemporaries. His dedication to understanding the intersection of the mental and the metaphysical led him to document his experiences extensively, culminating in this revealing work. Highly recommended for those with an interest in the paranormal, psychical research, and the philosophical implications of life after death, 30 Years Among the Dead serves as both an enlightening account and a unique methodological contribution to the discourse surrounding the spiritual and psychological dimensions of human experience.

Hanging in the Balance Meghan Campbell, 2025-10-30 This book gives the first in-depth assessment of how justification functions when women are claiming their right to equality. How can courts assess whether a proposed limit to women's equality is constitutionally justified? This question is rarely explicitly asked with the assumption that well-established limitation frameworks such as proportionality are able to assess whether limits to women's rights are justified. However, delving into the theory and practice of justification reveals fracture points between the dominant approach to justification and women's rights to equality. One of its distinctive characteristics is the question of whether any analytical entwining or unwinding of equality and justification enhances the protection of women's rights to equality in constitutional democracies. It proposes a novel asymmetric relationship between equality and justification that requires innovative methodological approaches that enrich the task of adjudicating limits to women's equality. This is an intriguing, articulate, and compelling examination of a question with real and applied significance to all those working on human rights and equality.

A Handbook on Hanging Charles Duff, 1999-10-31 A Handbook on Hanging is a Swiftian tribute to that unappreciated mainstay of civilization, the hangman. With barbed insouciance, Charles Duff writes not only of hanging but of electrocution, decapitations, and gassings of innocent men executed and of executions botched, of the bloodlust of mobs and the shabby excuses of the great. This coruscating and in contemporary America very relevant polemic makes clear that whatever else capital punishment may be said to be—justice, vengeance, a deterrent—it is certainly killing.

Hanging Out in the Virtual Pub Lori Kendall, 2002-06-27 Lori Kendall is one of the first to explore the brave new world of social relations as they have evolved on the Internet In this highly readable ethnography she examines how men and women negotiate their gender roles on an online forum she calls BlueSky The result is a first rate analysis of the emerging social phenomenon of Internet mediated communication and a ground breaking study of the social and cultural effects of a medium that allows participants to assume identities of their own choosing Despite the common assumption that the personas these men and women craft for themselves bear little resemblance to reality Kendall discovers that the habits of BlueSky stick surprisingly close to the facts of their actual lives and personalities
