Regulatory Challenge:

Contemporary Challenges in Regulating Global Crises M. Findlay, 2013-02-21 Mark Findlay's treatment of regulatory sociability charts the anticipated and even inevitable transition to mutual interest which is the essence of taking communities from shared risk to shared fate. In the context of today's global crises he explains that for the sake of sustainability human diversity can bond in different ways to achieve fate. Nanotoxicology in Humans and the Environment Jamie R.

Lead, Shareen H. Doak, Martin J.D. Clift, 2021-12-13 The book covers the area of Nanotoxicology but primarily from the point of view of nanotoxicology at the interface with other disciplines including human toxicology, environmental toxicology, characterization, dose and transformations, regulation, public and elite group perceptions and interactions with innovation. Nanotoxicology in Humans and the Environment is written for researchers in nanotoxicology in academia, industry, government and research students. Given the rapid development, the maturing of the discipline and its importance in current regulation and industry development (eg REACH, TSCA) the book is very timely. Global Governance and the Quest for Justice - Volume IV Roger Brownsword, 2005-01-10 This book, one in the four volume set Global Governance and the Quest for Justice, focuses on human rights in the context of globalisation together with the principle of respect for human rights and human dignity viewed as one of the foundational commitments of a legitimate scheme of global governance. The first part of the book deals with the ways in which globalisation impacts on established commitments to respect human rights. When human rights are set against or alongside potentially competing priorities such as security or economy, how well do they fare? Does it make any difference whether human rights commitments are expressed in dedicated free-standing instruments or incorporated as side constraints or collaterally in larger multi-functional instruments? In this light, does it make sense to view a trade-centred community such as the EU as a prospective regional model for human rights? The second part of the book debates the coherence of a global order committed to respect for human rights and human dignity as one of its founding principles. If globalisation aspires to export and spread respect for human rights, the thrust of the papers in this volume is that it could do better: that legitimate global governance demands that it does a great deal better and that lawyers face a considerable challenge in developing a coherent jurisprudence of fundamental values as the basis for a just global order.

Innovation and the State Cristie Ford,2017-12-07 From social media to mortgage backed securities innovation carries both risk and opportunity Groups of people win and lose when innovation changes the ground rules Looking beyond formal politics this new book by Cristie Ford argues that we need to recognize innovation and financial innovation in particular as a central challenge for regulation Regulation is at the leading edge of politics and policy in ways that we have not yet fully grasped Seemingly innocuous regulatory design choices have clear and profound practical ramifications for many of our most cherished social commitments Innovation is a complex phenomenon that needs to be understood not only in technical terms but also in human ones Using financial regulation as her primary example Ford argues for a fresh approach to regulation which recognizes innovation for the regulatory challenge that it is and which binds our cherished social values and our regulatory tools ever more tightly together

Advances in Phage Therapy: Present Challenges and Future Perspectives Andrzej Gorski,Petar Knezevic,Naomi Sulinger Hoyle,Shigenobu Matsuzaki,2021-08-02 This Research Topic is dedicated to Prof Elisabeth Kutter on the occasion of her 80th birthday Dr

Kutter's career as a phage scientist has extended nearly 60 years. She has been a pioneer as a woman in science. She started to work with phage at the University of Rochester, New York, working with Dr. Wiberg on radioisotopes, making excellent progress in the field, progress which was even cited in Luria's 1969 Nobel Prize talk. Betty first encountered phage therapy during a visit to Georgia in 1990, which was part of a longer stay in the former Soviet Union under a US-USSR research exchange program. Dr. Kutter was one of the first Americans to advocate for phage therapy in the post-antibiotic era. Betty started hosting the Evergreen International Phage meetings in Olympia, Washington, from 1975 onward, which helped to develop a strong phage community with participation increasing over the years to 350 at the 23rd biannual last year. Betty continues to be an active member in the phage community, sharing her experience and working with all of us toward her ultimate goal of making phage therapy available worldwide, thus reducing the burden caused by antibiotic-resistant bacterial infections.
